CUNO CABINET FACING CRISIS OF EXISTENCE

Berlin Feels Government Is About to Tumble Into Oblivion

Berlin, June 19.—Between the increased terrorism of the French in the Ruhr on the one hand and the complete collapse of the mark, the Cuno government is approaching the crisis of its life.

While a reichstag committee was considering the drop of the mark to 30,000 to the dollar last April the bourse was quoting the mark at about 150,000 to the dollar.

Should Great Britain, as it is feared, remain passive towards France, or even back up the latter in the slightest degree in her demand for the dropping of passive resistance by Germany the Cuno cabinet is almost certain to tumble. In this case the government would be confronted with capitulation, or a radical government.

Germany's hope, that was pinned on Great Britain, has sunk almost to zero. Premier Baldwin's Oxford appeal to the United States is interpreted here as something like the "back against the wall" statement of 1918, and is taken as an indication that England alone is helpless against France. It is also taken to indicate that unless the United States joins England, the latter will be unable to prevent chaos in Europe.

It is reported that the British government, through the German ambassador at London, has notified Berlin that it believes that if Germany orders a cessation of passive resistance France will evacuate the Ruhr.

It is understood that France has indicated its willingness, if Germany will drop its passive resistance, to consent to an "invisible occupation" through a commission of control, under protection of a skeleton military organization.

The British cabinet meeting tomorrow is expected to consider the reply of Premier Poincare to the British questionnaire in connection with reparations. The British foreign office expresses hope of an eleventh-hour agreement.

PREUS IS NOMINATED FOR SENATE SEAT

St. Paul, Minn., June 19.—Governor J. A. Preus early today was conceded to have won the Republican nomination for the seat in the U. S. Senate made vacant by the death of Senator Knute Nelson. Oscar Hallum, former justice of the State Supreme Court, was his chief opponent.

Magnus Johnson, was believed to have captured the Farmer-Labor party nomination over Dr. L. A. Fritsche.

State Senator James A. Carley was practically unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

FIRST ZINNIA BLOOM REPORTED IN CITY

Mrs. Guerney McCoy, of Hill Street, is the owner of the first flowering zinnias of the season. Two blossoms were found in her yard, Saturday and are the earliest reported.

O. C. Custer, 854 North King Street, reports a zinnia in bloom this season, the plant flowering Sunday, June 17. The flower is of the Zebra variety.

Mr. Custer is inviting anyone interested in the flowers to visit his garden.

Mrs. Lulu Eavey, of South Detroit Street, reported to the Garden Club that she has a zinnia that is almost in full bloom and will be entirely open by Wednesday. The bloom which is a light pink, is the forerunner of a quantity of blossoms which Mrs. Eavey will have in her back yard in a short time as other zinnia plants are almost in bloom. The seeds were planted early in the spring and have been thriving splendidly.

REACH PORT WITH LIQUOR SEALED

New York, June 19.—Two more liners, the Lafayette from Havre and the Cameronia from Glasgow, came into port with their liquors sealed. They are believed to have been the last of the liners that sailed early enoungh to have the privilege of sealing their rum; all following vessels will have to park their liquors somewhere beyond the three mile limit. All boats that sailed before midnight June 9, had the sealing right.

LOCAL DOCTORS WILL BE GUESTS

Members of the Greene County Medical Association and their families will be guests of the Clark County Medical Association, at a picnic, at Clifton, Wednesday afternoon.

The members will meet at 12 o'clock, and motor to the Cliffs, where they will spend the afternoon.

JUDGE RENDERS JUDGMENT OF SOLOMON

Mrs Julia Warzna. — Leona Felicia Warzna

Judge Joseph David, in Municipal Court, in Chicago, was forced to render the judgment of Solomon when he awarded to Mrs. Julia Warzna the custody of 5-year-old Leona Felicia Warzna and pronounced her the real mother of the child. Mrs. Nicholas Lenz, who also claimed the child, collapsed. Mrs. Pribylski claimed the child was born to her in Poland in 1918. Mrs. Lenz asserted the child was born to her in Chicago as the result of a Caesarian operation the same year. Judge David asserted there had been much perjury in the case.

FAMOUS STEAMSHIP' LEVIATHAN. BEGINS TRIAL TRIP TUESDAY

Reconditioned After Notable War Experience, Giant Vessel Starts Momentous Excursion Carrying 600 Passengers Into Southern Waters

Boston, June 19—Straining at her anchor in Boston harbor, the famous steamship Leviathan, described as the "most stupendous and beautiful thing afloat," awaited the command of Captain Hartley today to begin her momentous trial trip. The sailing hour was set for two o'clock this afternoon. The cruise will be in southern waters and will last for five or six days, returning to New York on June 24.

Reconditioned after her notable war experience at a cost of $8,000,000 the former German liner Vaterland, is carrying 600 government officials, members of Congress, marine engineers and newspapermen on a trial trip that is expected to prove this floating palace is in shape to begin her career in the trans-Atlantic trade as the queen of the American merchant marine.

While critics of the trial trip have described it as a "million dollar joy ride." Albert D. Lasker, retiring chairman of the United States Shipping Board, declared that only $13,000 would be expended on the trip in addition to $109,000 stipulated in the reconditioning contract for making such a trip to demonstrate the fitness of the ship, for regular passenger service. The trial trip has been a storm center of attack by the Democratic national committee which described it a "wasteful expenditure of the taxpayers' money." On the other hand the so-called "watchdog of the treasury" Rep. Martin B. Madden of Illinois, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, warmly approved the trip.

"A trial trip is necessary to determine the ship's fitness to carry passengers in regular transatlantic service," declared Madden, who was among the first of the notables to board the vessel.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Democrat of Florida, said he was making the trip to gather information to present to Congress next December.

Built in Hamburg, the Vaterland was commissioned in 1914 as the largest passenger vessel afloat. She had made only three voyages across the Atlantic under the German flag when she was interned in August, 1914 in New York. When the United States entered the war in 1917 the government seized the vessel and used her as a troop ship. The vessel was rechristened Leviathan and during her service as a transport she carried 110,591 soldiers to France, breaking the world's troop transportation record.

With the end of the war Congress decided the Leviathan should be reconditioned and put into the American passenger service. The work was done at Newport News, Va. and thousands of workmen were employed in refitting the boat.

The Leviathan will begin her regular passenger service between New York, Cherbourg and Southampton on July 14.

ODD FELLOWS OPEN SESSION TUESDAY IN MIDDLETOWN, O.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle Welcomes the Visitors

Middletown, O., June 19.—The ninety first session of the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., of Ohio, opened here Monday with a reception followed by a minstrel entertainment at the Gordon Theatre, delegates of the lodge and ladies of the Rebekah assembly having previously registered at headquarters at the Hotel Manchester.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle welcomed the visitors, presenting them with a large gold key to the city, at the same time expressing confidence in turning the city over to an organization founded upon the ideals of Odd Fellowism, friendship, truth and love.

In behalf of the 79th district, Hope Lodge and adjacent territory, Municipal Judge W. H. Todhunter, himself one of the oldest Odd Fellows in the city, spoke, during his welcome urging the delegates to hasten the hour when there would be no such organization as the Rebekahs, but men and women united under the one standard of Odd Fellowship.

For the delegates, Loren E. Sauers, grand master of Ohio, gave the response, while Mrs. Virginia Peele president of the Ohio Rebekah assembly, accepted most gracefully the welcome extended through Mrs. Alvin Wehr of the Middletown assembly.

Following the reception the convention enjoyed a minstrel performance staged by local talent, most of the performers members of the I. O. O. F. Lodge.

The program will continue inclusive of Friday, business sessions to occupy the morning hours, while numerous entertainment features have been announced for the afternoon and evening.

KOPF QUITS BASEBALL

Cincinnati, June 19.—Larry Kopf, Boston National shortstop, arrived in Cincinnati and announced that he had quit the Braves and would retire from baseball. He said he notified the Boston management two weeks ago that he intended to retire from baseball permanently to devote his time to his oil and gasoline station here.

COUPLE CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

Cincinnati, June 19.—Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson, Route 2, of Batavia, O., son-in-law and daughter of Lines Pangburn, Civil war veteran, held at Dayton, O., on charges of having conspired to loot the National Soldiers' Home there are under charges before Thomas M. Gregory, U. S. Commissioner.

They are alleged by federal officials to have received and concealed blankets, sheets, pillow cases, clothing and medicine, which Pangburn is charged with having stolen and sent by parcel post from the Home, where he is a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson pleaded not guilty when arraigned last night. They were held under $1,000 bond each for hearing June 22.

STRUCK BY TRUCK

Columbus, June 19.—Daniel McNeill, 43, formerly of Cincinnati, was killed when struck by a truck while he was at work on the new storage dam here.

BILLION DOLLAR SAVING MADE BY GOVERNMENT

Harding Announces Example Set By United States for the World

Washington, June 19.—A billion dollar saving of government revenues during the current fiscal year ending June 30, was announced by President Harding and Director of the Budget Lord, at a meeting of the business organization of the government.

An anticipated deficit of $837,000,000 faced a year ago in ordinary governmental expenditures has been turned into a $200,000,000 surplus of receipts over expenditures. There has been an actual reduction of approximately $256,000,000 in the expenditures of the departments and independent establishments.

Appropriations for the year 1924, are $734,000,000 which is $234,000,000 less than appropriated for 1923 and $7,825,000 less than asked for in the budget submitted to congress last December.

A revised estimate of ordinary receipts for 1924 is $3,638,000,000. Expenditures, including $507,000,000 for public debt reduction, are estimated at $3,668,000,000, indicating a deficit of $30,000,000. President Harding today declared that this deficit not only must be wiped out, but the coming year must close with a substantial balance on the other side of the ledger.

For the fiscal year 1925, on which budget estimates soon will be compiled, the president calls for a reduction of estimates of $126,000,000 under the 1924 appropriations. He set $1,700,000,000 as the maximum of expenditures exclusive of reduction of an interest on the public debt and requirements of the postoffice department. The postoffice department had a deficit of $64,000,000 in 1922, which has been reduced this year to approximately $31,000,000 and for 1924 it is estimated will not exceed $1,000,000.

In the practice of this economy in governmental administration the United States is setting an example for the world, the president declared, saying: "In the sober reflections of the people whom we serve, the honest and zealous endeavor to reduce the cost of government, which has an intimate relationship with the cost of living, is sure to win abiding favor. We are doing more than serving ourselves, more than helping our own people. We are proving to the world that the way to recover from war excesses is to halt the outflow and build anew with exacting watchfulness in all public outlay."

PLAN ELIMINATION OF UNDESIRABLES

Washington, June 19.—A proposal for the elimination of undesirables from the tide of new American citizenship, through the compulsory "enrollment" of all aliens, will be carried to the American people for approval this fall by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, he told International News Service today.

The secretary proposes a system of registration by which every alien in the country would be added to the roll until they become citizens. Davis will explain his plan on a nationwide tour either late this summer or early in the fall. On the trip he will visit every state and speak in every large city from coast to coast.

FORMER OFFICER WILL GET TERM

Tiffin, June 19.—Police officials today said they would commit to the Toledo workhouse, Charles Bare, former Seneca County, sheriff and at present constable in a justice's court here, who pleaded guilty before Mayor Unger to a bootlegging charge.

Bare was fined $500 which he said he could not pay.

The affidavit aaginst Bare was filed by George Schmidutz, who resigned from the Tiffin police force under charges of drunkenness while on duty. Bare sold the liquor to Schmidutz while the latter was in uniform, he said.

BROKERS ARE SENT TO JAIL BY COURT

New York, June 19.—Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee, partners in the brokerage firm of E. M. Fuller and Company, who pleaded guilty of conducting a "bucket shop" after failing for $5,000,000 were today sentenced by Judge Nott in general sessions court to serve not less than one year and three months nor more than four years in Sing Sing prison.

Executive Defends His Tribute to Dog

Governor Baxter.

Governor Percival P. Baxter, of Maine, "started something" when he ordered the American flag over the Capitol, at Portland, lowered to half-mast when his Irish setter, "Garry," died. State and local patriotic organiaztions have attacked the Executive for his action.

TO APPRAISE REAL ESTATE OF COUNTY PRIOR TO SALE

Auditors of Greene, Clark, Madison and Champaign Counties will meet Friday to appraise the real estate and personal property of the district tuberculosis hospital at Springfield.

The meeting and appraisal will be the first step in the dissolution of the institution as a four-county proposition and the calling of the meeting is assurance that all counties outside of Clark countty have agreed to sell their share in the institution to Clark County. Greene County Commissioners voted to sell this county's share several weeks ago.

The proposed sale is the outgrowth of an investigation of the hospital property which indicated it was in need of many improvements and repairs. Commissioners of the outside counties expressed themselves as unwilling to spend further money on the institution in the belief they are not getting sufficient value for the money already spent for upkeep.

Eagles Lodges in the four counties attempted to create sentiment in favor of separate bond issues in each county to finance the institution and make the improvements possible. Instead Greene and Champaign Counties considered the occasion timely to withdraw from the four-county proposition. Madison County Commissioners withheld a decision until they learned the sentiment of the people and a resolution recently enacted expressed their willingness to come into the sale agreement.

The property will be appraised Friday and on the basis of this appraisal Clark County will purchase the interests of the three other counties in the institution. These counties will then have to care for their tubercular patients in some other manner or by paying for their upkeep at the district institution.

GIRL LEAPS INTO RIVER, IS RESCUED

Cincinnati, June 19—Physicians and nurses at Speers Hospital, Dayton, Ky., today tried to draw from Miss Alberta Berry the motive that impelled her to leap into the Ohio river last evening, but the girl who is 22 years old merely moans: "I don't know! I don't know!"

Miss Berry mounted the rail of the Central bridge, besitated for a moment then stepped off plunging feet first toward the Ohio. Before she had reached the water a cannoe was headed toward her manned by Thomas Hoskins, Sr. deputy game warden, who rescued her.

FIRM FILES SCHEDULE

Cincinnati, June 19—Liabilities of $1,705,259.61 and assets of $704,949.53 were listed late yesterday in a schedule filed by Beazell and Chatfield, bankrupt brokerage house. Of the assets listed almost $530,000 took the form of promissory notes. William H. Chatfield, then a state senator, was the Republican nominee for the lieutenant governorship in 1922.

SHOCK CAUSES DEATH

Cleveland, June 19—Kenneth Bailey, 45, of Akron, is dead today his death resulting last night from shock when a Cleveland-Akron limited on which he was a passenger collided with a truck in Broadway. Bailey was a former employee of Brookside Zoo, being the keeper of "Minnie" the elephant purchased with the pennies of Cleveland school children.

The driver of the truck, Gus Wodke, was cut and bruised.

FIFTY THOUSAND ARE HOMELESS AS VOLCANO ERUPTION CONTINUES

Italian City Appears Doomed—Deep Trenches Dug About Linguaglossa To Divert River of Flowing Lava.

Catania, Italy, June 19—Flow of lava from Mount Etna has begun to diminish slightly, it was reported from Linguaglossa at noon.

London, June 19—Activity of Mount Etna again increased this afternoon, said a news agency dispatch received from Rome at 2 o'clock. The lava has reached railroads a few hundred yards from Linguaglossa.

Rome, June 19—With 50,000 persons homeless from the violent eruption of Mount Etna, and the flow of molten lava continuing the ancient volcano Mount Vesuvius, which destroyed Pompeii on the bay of Naples began showing increased activity today.

The town of Giarre at the base of Mount Etna, with a population of 17,000 now appears to be doomed unless saved by a miracle.

Deep trenches have been dug around the town of Linguaglossa to divert the river of flowing lava. This town was reported destroyed yesterday but the report proved untrue.

The outpouring lava from the flaming throat of Mount Etna is advancing at the rate of 25 yards an hour, annihilating vineyards and hamlets in its path.

King Victor Emanuel and the minister of public works in the Mussolini cabinet have left for Sicily to assist in relief work. Troops are on the scene assisting the people to evacuate the danger zone.

Earth rumblings and loud explosions accompany the eruption of Etna. Owing to the slow movement of the lava there have been no fatalities (according to information from Messina at noon) but the chief fears now arise from the possibility of earthquake.

Etna is a raging furnace. As the red hot lava streams slowly from the vast creator huge volumes of black smoke and cinders belch skyward obscuring the sun. The noise is like a bombardment of artillery.

Tragic scenes mark the countryside about the burning mountain. After the lava flow, which threatened to overwhelm Linguaglossa, had been diverted to a nearby valley, the people gathered in the public square offering up prayers to the town's patron saint—St. Egisio.

Despite the apparent safety of Linguaglossa the authorities warned the people to depart and most of them did so. The few that remained reinforced by hundreds of refugees from the nearby countryside, held religious services in the public square amidst clouds of dust and cinders from the volcano.

While the homless were put at 50,000 early in the day, some reportts this afternoon said the number might rise to 100,000 before night.

Constant appeals for help are coming out of the stricken zone. Fascisti military police were rushed into the threatened area to help the people escape and to aid them in driving out their livestock.

All the Sicilian roads, deep with dust beneath the hot summer sun, are choked with caravans. Families have become separated. Little children were lost from their mothers. Flocks of horses, cows and goats were led along by stragglers. The old and infirm were carried in carts.

Near the base of the volcano semi-darkness prevailed owing to the clouds of smoke which clouded the sun. Crowds of fleeing men and women wandered from the roads and lost themselves in the fields.

It is impossible to estimate the financial loss, but it will run into millions of dollars.

Messina, which was destroyed by earthquake 14 years ago, is filling upwith fugitives. The local organization of fascisti is cooperating the government in providing food and shelter.

FLEET OF SEAPLANES TO FIGHT RUM SMUGGLERS OFF THE COAST

Government's Step In War On Liquor Announced Officially Tuesday—Plan to be Put Into Operation Soon After July 1.

Washington, June 19.—Mobilization of a big fleet of seaplanes to battle rum smugglers off the Atlantic coast will be the government's step in the war on rum, it was learned officially today.

The President and his cabinet, it is known, favor such an expedient as less expensive and perhaps more effective than other means which have been suggested in recent parleys over the smuggling problem.

The plan may be put into practical operation soon after the new fiscal year begins July 1. At that time commissioner Roy A. Haynes, head of the government's rum fighting forces, will have a large lump sum appropriation upon which to draw for "emergency purposes." If this is not sufficient officials are in favor of dong everything needed to equip a powerful air fleet and let congress later make up any deficiency incurred.

Balked at use of the United States navy and disappointed over the inability of the coast guard to cope with the smugglers, Prohibition officials said the air fleet scheme was the "best bet." It was at first considered as a means of dealing only with the situation in New York and New Jersey waters. But as the merits of the scheme were further weighed, it was considered most feasible of any suggestions yet made to drive liquor smugglers off their bases all along the entire Atlantic coast line.

ATTEND REVIVAL

Members of the Eleazer Church and Sunday School, attended the all-day meeting at the "Gypsy Smith" tent at Kingman, Sunday. The party included Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Early, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Middleton, Mr and Mrs. Dennis Padgett and family; Mr. and Mrs. Harper Hartsook and family; Mr. and Mrs. Emery Oglesbee and nephew Allen South; Mr and Mrs. Charles Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Middleton, and family; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Colvin and family; Mr. and Mrs. Sem Ireland; Mrs. Samantha Oglesbee, Mrs. Emma Striker and Mrs. Sadie Weaver.

PROBING DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Akron, O., June 19.—Police are investigating theories of murder and suicide following the deaths of Mrs. Julia Hammond, colored, and Arthur Hammond, colored, here. Mrs. Hammond had been shot six times with a revolver. Hammond was found, the top of his head blown off, from a shotgun discharge. John Abercrombie, 41, a brother of the dead woman, is being held for investigation.

AMUNDSEN ABANDONS FLIGHT

Christiania, June 19.—The proposed flight of 2,000 miles across the North Pole from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, has been abandoned by Captain Raold Amundsen, it was announced by the Norwegian minister of defense. In a dispatch to his brother, Amundsen said his trial flights had proved unsatisfactory and that he would not attempt the non-stop trip across the polar basin as he had planned.

SUBDUED BY TEAR BOMB

Cleveland, June 19.—Use of a tear bomb brought about the capture of a man giving his name as Steve Borsuk, who fortified himself in his home on the west side with a double-barreled shotgun and stood off a squad of police and three firemen after he had terrorized the neighborhood by threatening to make use of the gun. Borsuk was taken to probate court for mental examination.

CLOTHIERS ROBBED

Toledo, June 19.—Cracksmen blew two safes and looted a third in the R. R. Baker company clothing store here and escaped with $15,000 in cash and $10,000 in liberty bonds. Hundreds of men's suits were piled about the safes to deaden the sound of the blasts.

BOXING PROMOTER GOES TO JAIL

Cleveland, June 19.—Charles Marotta, proprietor of the Marotta Athletic club and promoter of boxing matches here, was sentenced to nine months in the workhouse and fined $1,000 when he pleaded guilty to an indictment charging conspiracy to violate national prohibition laws.

TWO BOYS DROWN

Cleveland, June 19.—Carson Emery French, 16, of East Cleveland and Joseph Zaller, 18, lost their lives by drowning while swimming in Fisher's pond, South Euclid. Robert Bowman, aged 10, was rescued and revived by artificial respiration.

BUSINESS NOTICE

Xenia Chapter No. 36, R. A. M. Stated Convocation Thursday, June 21, 1923, 7.30 o'clock p. m. Visitors welcome. By order of L. H. Whiteman, H P. 6-19

OVER $1,400 FOR RECREATIONAL WORK RAISED IN XENIA

E. M. Woodward, chairman of the temporary organization of the Xenia Community Recreation Association was made permanent president when officers and board members were named and a financial report showing that nearly $1,500 had been subscribed for playground work here was made at the meeting in the McKinley School Auditorium Monday night.

Many of the temporary officers and board members of the original organization, who had been carrying the work on so far, were re-named on the premanent organization. Serving with Mr. Woodward as president, will be Mrs. P. H. Flynn, vice president T. H. Zell, secretary and C. E. Arbogust, treasurer.

These officers with Miss Rose Berry, Mrs. Lois Olcott and the Rev. W. H. Tilford compose the executive board of the permanent organization. The 25 people who will compose the board of directors are: Mrs. Louis Allison, C. E. Arbogust, Mrs A. G. Harrison Baker, J. R. Beacham, Miss Rose Berry, E. S. Davidson, Mrs. P. H. Flynn, S. O. Hale, Miss Carrie Hypes, C. K. Horen, Harry Jay, Dr. A. B. Kester, Miss Harriet McCarty, S. M. McKay, V. G. Martin, L. M. Nisbet, Mrs. Lois Olcott, J. W. Santmyer, Miss Margaret E. Steele, Mrs. J. J. Stout, E. S. Taliaferro, the Rev. W. H. Tilford, Mrs. M L. Wolf, E. M. Woodward and T. H. Zell.

Permanent committee chairmen were named, and these chairmen will confer with President Woodward in selecting the members of their committees. The chairmen named are as follows: Drama. Mrs. Lois Olcott; Finance, C. E. Arbogust; Music, Dr. A B. Kester and Program, the Rev. W. H. Tilford.

In connection with turning over the temporary organization into a permanent recreation association, with the purpose of providing playgrouns, supervised play and adult entertainment and parks for Xenia, Mr. Woodward presented the following report of the activities of the temporary organization:

"With the main object:—playgrounds for children in all sections of the city always before us, we have been planning along lines of opportunities for a happy use of the spare time of grown-us.

"Our hardest job so far has been the necessity to overcome indifference and build up a working organization. This has put the work behind on the program fully two weeks.

"It has been necessary to secure play sites, build diamonds, ianos, orchestras, leaders, conveyances, train playground leaders, secure finances and carry on a program of activities as follows: the formation of an organization with a temporary board and committees; the holding of a mass meeting and community sing; the giving of community sing on the Court House square the last two Saturday nights with an estimated attendance of over a thousand. Two sings have also been held on the Willow Tree Playground.

"We have started an industrial base ball league. Plans have been formed for a junior and senior tennis league. We have already opened the Willow Tree playground, the Orient Hill playground and secured the use of the old Work House property, plans for the development of which are being rapidly perfected. Mr. Santmyer has courteously donated the use of his property for another playground and it is hoped within the next few weeks that all the children of Xenia may have playground opportunities on which playgrounds are trained sympathetic supervisors.

"The work in the East End is well worth your careful consideration. Their plans and program paralleling that of the white people. Organizing and working independent of any help of the white people financially and with no personal assistance except that of Mrs. James Wilson and Mr. Young.

The report of the Rev. W. H. Tilford chairman of the program committee, was similar to that of Mr. Woodward, telling of the programs carried out so far. H. E. Kiernan of the drama committee gave a brief report of the work of that committee in the absence of Mrs. Lois Olcott, chairman.

C. E. Arbogust, chairman of the finance committee and treasurer of the Association, presented the financial report, showing that so far $1,421 has been collected to carry on the program for playgrounds. The donors were announced as follows:

Mrs. A. G. Harrison Baker, $600; The R. A. Kelly Company$ 200; Miss Emma C. King, $100; The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, $50; Miss Sarah B. Hagar, $50; George E. Hudson, $25; J. J. Stout $25; Citizens National Bank $25; Peoples Building and Savings Company, $25; Home Building and Savings Company, $25; H. L. Binder, $25; Dr. B. R. McClellan. $25; Mrs. P. H. Flynn, $25; R. S. OVER $1,400 FOR RECREATIONAL WORK RAISED IN XENIA

E. M. Woodward, chairman of the temporary organization of the Xenia Community Recreation Association was made permanent president when officers and board members were named and a financial report showing that nearly $1,500 had been subscribed for playground work here was made at the meeting in the McKinley School Auditorium Monday night.

Many of the temporary officers and board members of the original organization, who had been carrying the work on so far, were renamed on the premanent organization. Serving with Mr. Woodward as president, will be Mrs. P. H. Flynn, vice president T. H. Zell, secretary and C. E. Arbogust, treasurer.

These officers with Miss Rose Berry, Mrs. Lois Olcott and the Rev. W. H. Tilford compose the executive board of the permanent organization. The 25 people who will compose the board of directors are: Mrs. Louis Allison, C. E Arbogust, Mrs A. G. Harrison Baker, J. R. Beacham, Miss Rose Berry, E. S. Davidson, Mrs. P. H. Flynn, S. O. Hale, Miss Carrie Hypes, C. K. Horen, Harry Jay, Dr. A. B. Kester, Miss Harriet McCarty, S. M. McKay, V. G. Martin, L. M. Nisbet, Mrs. Lois Olcott, J. W. Santmyer, Miss Margaret E. Steele, Mrs. J. J. Stout, E. S. Taliaferro, the Rev. W. H. Tilford, Mrs. M L. Wolf, E. M. Woodward and T. H. Zell.

Permanent committee chairmen were named, and these chairmen will confer with President Woodward in selecting the members of their committees. The chairmen named are as follows: Drama. Mrs. Lois Olcott; Finance, C. E. Arbogust; Music, Dr. A B. Kester and Program, the Rev. W. H. Tilford.

In connection with turning over the temporary organization into a permanent recreation association, with the purpose of providing playgrouns, supervised play and adult entertainment and parks for Xenia, Mr. Woodward presented the following report of the activities of the temporary organization:

"With the main object:—playgrounds for children in all sections of the city always before us, we have been planning along lines of opportunities for a happy use of the spare time of grown-us.

"Our hardest job so far has been the necessity to overcome indifference and build up a working organization. This has put the work behind on the program fully two weeks.

"It has been necessary to secure play sites, build diamonds, ianos, orchestras, leaders, conveyances, train playground leaders, secure finances and carry on a program of activities as follows: the formation of an organization with a temporary board and committees; the holding of a mass meeting and community sing: the giving of community sing on the Court House square the last two Saturday nights with an estimated attendance of over a thousand. Two sings have also been held on the Willow Tree Playground.

"We have started an industrial base ball league. Plans have been formed for a junior and senior tennis league. We have already opened the Willow Tree playground, the Orient Hill playground and secured the use of the old Work House property, plans for the development of which are being rapidly perfected. Mr. Santmyer has courteously donated the use of his property for another playground and it is hoped within the next few weeks that all the children of Xenia may have playground opportunities on which playgrounds are trained sympathetic supervisors.

"The work in the East End is well worth your careful consideration. Their plans and program paralleling that of the white people. Organizing and working independent of any help of the white people financially and with no personal assistance except that of Mrs. James Wilson and Mr. Young.

The report of the Rev. W. H. Tilford chairman of the program committee, was similar to that of Mr. Woodward, telling of the programs carried out so far. H. E. Kiernan of the drama committee gave a brief report of the work of that committee in the absence of Mrs. Lois Olcott, chairman.

C. E. Arbogust, chairman of the finance committee and treasurer of the Association, presented the financial report, showing that so far $1,421 has been collected to carry on the program for playgrounds. The donors were announced as follows:

Mrs. A. G. Harrison Baker, $600; The R. A. Kelly Company$ 200; Miss Emma C. King, $100; The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, $50; Miss Sarah B. Hagar, $50; George E. Hudson, $25; J. J. LEARN U. S. ANTHEM, IS HARDING'S PLEA.

Failure of the vast majority of Americans to know the words of the "Star Spangled Banner," and the spectacle of a crowd resorting to mumbling when the national anthem is being sung, were deplored by President Harding. The President's opinion of those who have not the time or inclination to memorize Key's famous lines was expressed in a Flag Day speech opening a conference of the Americanization Commission of the American Legion, called to draft a code of regulations for the proper use of the American ensign in decorations.

The President said:

"While you are adopting a code whereby the citizenship of America may show due reverence to the flag. I would like you to go a step farther and insist upon Americans being able to sing the "Star Spangled Banner."

"I have noted audiences singing—I should say trying to sing—the American national air, but, outside of about 2 per cent, they are only mumbling or pretending to sing. I would like to have the spirit of America show itself in song. I hope you will insist upon some suitable provision to that end in your code."

"I can understand how the flag means considerably more to the service men of the republic than it does to the ordinary citizen," the President said, "but I cannot understand why the soldier or the sailor or the service man in national defense owes any more to the flag than anybody else in the United States of America, and so everything we do to bring the flag into proper consideration by the citizens of the republic is entirely commendable and deserves to be cordially indorsed.

"I do not suppose there is any law to punish the President should he not stand at salute when the colors pass, but I would not be happy in my official capacity if I did not do it. I know I am going to feel the same when I salute the colors in an unofficial capacity, and I would like to say that every salutation makes my consecration to the country and the flag a little more secure.

"I have seen the flag raised abroad and I have wondered where I like it best. It is a beautiful picture in patriotic procession and pageant. It is an inspiration when it is unfurled over the American school house as a guarantee of the liberties and opportunities of the youth of America. It is a wonderful picture over American official quarters abroad to the American who is hungering to see something of home and to feel his attachment somewhat emphasized. It has been a beautiful picture as the emblem of brotherhood and sympathy when it has been unfurled from the flagstaff of relief ships which have carried American bounty as an expression of our generosity to the suffering peoples of the world.

"But somehow I have concluded recently that about the dearest picture of the flag—we shall not see it long—is when it is presented or carried by the veterans of the Civil War. You know had it not been for them there would not be forty-eight stars glittering in the field of blue. I like to say, therefore, that somehow the flag appeals to me more strongly when it is presented by those who made this now invincible union a possibility."

EMPLOYMENT GAIN ALL OVER COUNTRY.

Continued gains in employment over the United States is shown in statistics compiled by the Department of Labor, which reported that in many of the major industries the demand for both common and skilled labor is far greater than the supply. A survey of conditions in May disclosed that fewer men were out of employment than at any previous time in the last twelve months. Employment gained in the cities and industries reported by 0.39 per cent over April.

Pronounced shortage of farm labor exists in every section of the country, with resulting curtailment of activities, it being impossible for farmers to obtain sufficient labor to harvest seasonal crops. Unprecedented migration of Negro labor from the South has added to the hardship of the Southern farmer.

A tremendous demand is reported for labor in the steel industry. Steel companies, the report said, are increasing the number of their employes rapidly, and activities in the metal and mining regions continue to expand, partitcularly in sections of Colorado, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho and Montana.

In Oregon, Washington and Idaho employment is increasing in logging operations, with the demand outstripping the supply. Coal mining, however, showed a slight falling off owing to seasonal curtailments.

Building construction is progressing all over the country on an exceptionally large scale, with a consequent labor shortage in many of the larger cities.

A BID FOR WEALTH.

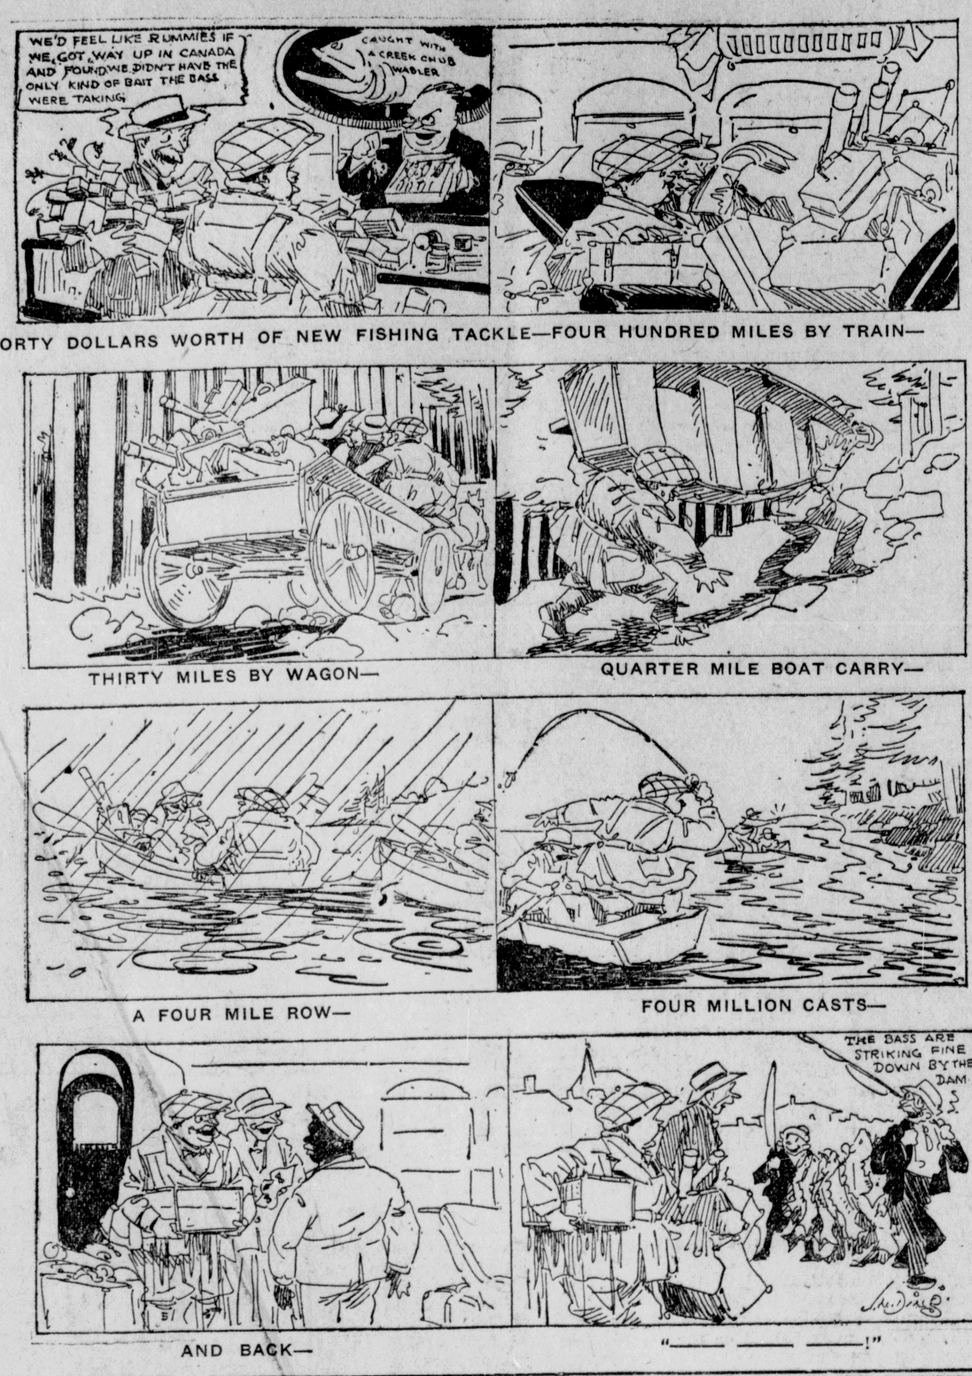

The act of the Florida Legislature in submitting a constitutional amendment prohibiting the assessment of an inheritance or income tax is creating a great deal of comment, and the press of the country is generally agreed that it will concentrate the wealth of the country in Florida.

The Wall Street Journal was one of the first papers to comment at length on the subject, and predicts that all the millionaires will establish their residence in Florida, and warns us, "Unless Florida is careful of its constitutional amendments it will soon find itself crowded and overwhelmed."

Capital has been driven out of many localities by excessive taxation, law-makers forgetting that if not too highly taxed itself capital goes to the creation of taxable property, thus adding to the wealth of the state. The Press-Herald of Portland, Maine, sees the matter from the proper viewpoint and expresses regret that Main has practically driven capital from the state. This paper says:

The way Florida's legislature sees it the more rich people it can induce to come to that state as citizens or residents the faster the taxable property will increase. It is anticipated that all of the rich people who are attracted to Florida by its promise not to place a tax on incomes will erect costly homes there; will invest their money in Florida enterprises and make the state absolutely independent of outside capital.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Charles G.—M. F.—To prevent the skin from tanning, cover it with a light coating of cream, dusted over with powder, and wear a hat during the time of exposure to direct rays of the sun. Witch hazel or plain cold water will relieve the burning sensation after exposure to the sun.

Tanning is Nature's protection, so too much bleaching of the skin is not advisable during the summer season.

Asimple bleach, such as an application of buttermilk or lemon juice serves to good purpose.

Belle Meade—Mrs. A.—Ice Rubs close the pores and tone the skin, so they should be used after you have cleansed the skin either through creams or hot water. A spring tonic is will clear your complexion of its sallowness, or you may accomplish the same result by eating a salad once each day made from dandelion leaves.

May T.—Your account of the way you made the cream shows that you did not follow the directions in the formula. All liquids are mixed together, which includes the benzoin. The rose water is needed in forming the cream.

Patient—If you use a bath brush on your neck and upper arms, it will clear the skin of the deposits which you call "goose flesh." Turkish baths will relieve such a condition very soon.

Anxious Mother—As hair grows from the roots, frequent cutting could not "stunt its growth," in fact it aids as the scalp has less work to do in order to keep the hair in condition. Your little girls will be benefitted in every way if you continue to keep their hair bobbed, while they are growing up.

Mrs. B. L. D.—The "green soap" mentioned in the formula for treating enlarged pores is one that the druggists make from potash. It is used only in chronic cases of acne and then only when the skin is not very sensitive as it is irritating. Some of this irritation may be averted however, if the skin is bathed with toilet water following the use of the soap. Witch hazel will help close the pores if used regularly. Since your skin is so sensitive use only fine soaps as castile and close the pores with a simple lotion or an ice rub or the witch hazel as suggested.

A. M.—Helene—Dotty G. S.—A. M.—To reduce portions of the body where a general reduction is not desired, exercise the parts that have become abnormal. It is for the hips and thighs, take the rotary movements, describing a circle as nearly as possible with the upper part of the body from the waistline swing to the right as far as possible and repeat by swinging toward the left.

For the calves of the leg, stand in your bare feet and then rise on the toes, hold an instant and lower again to rest. Repeat ten times.

For the arms and shoulders, roll arms around in circles, or do any of the other dumb bell mvements. For the very stout neck, roll head around the shoulders just in circles as described above for the waistline movements.

RECOVERED FROM STOMACH TROUBLE

"Had stomach trouble three years and finally was in bed eight weeks with terrible cramps," writes A. L. Lyons, Dayton, Ohio. "The doctors did not help me and I could hold nothing on my stomach. Tried Foley Cathartic Tablets and now am a well man. Can eat anything." Sour stomach, headache, bad breath, biliousness and other digestive disorders quickly overcome with Foley Cathartic Tablets. Do not gripe, pain or nauseate. Sayre & Hemphill.

MISSIS—The word "dago," invariably applied to Italians, was originally applied to people of Spanish parentage born in Louisiana. Sailors use "dago" indiscriminately when speaking of Italians, Spaniards, Portuguesem and, quite often, Frenchmen. The word is supposed to be derived from "hidalgo" a title bestowed upon a Spaniard of minor nobility.

DEXGER—Yes, rabbits are claimed to have exceptional eyesight. This, coupled with extraordinary hearing, enables them almost to be able to see behind them as well as in front.

WHEN THINGS ARE DARKEST

Few of us ever approach superlative bravery.

To give an example of one who did: After the betrayers of Jesus had led Him out into the outskirts of the city where they were to crucify Him, their cruelty knew no bounds. They spat upon Him because he wouldn't answer their impudent questions. They laughed at Him as He fell white and bleeding, from the exertion of carrying His own cross. They even took His clothes from Him and gambled among themselves to find out who should have them.

Then they lifted Him up roughly and nailed Him to the cross that He had carried so uncomplainingly.

And this was the only thing that He had to say in answer: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

That was superlative bravery.

It doesn't take any courage to say unkind things—to hurt people's feelings. Anyone can do that. But it takes rare courage to answer such unthinking with love and understanding.

It takes a great deal of very fine courage and bravery to live this life. I have little patience with those who look upon their existence here as something trivial and without consequence.

It is impossible to take out of life what you fail to put into it.

Certainly there can be no delightful reaction to beauty unless there is feeling for it in your heart in the first place. Life is very rough, very strange, at times. There are days when we look out from our window and cannot see the sun—nothing but darkness. And there are nights when we look up into the blue sky, wanting our favorite star—and every star is covered up with a black blanket.

When things look darkest, determine to be the bravest!

One single word means One Quality Only

SILVERTOWN is the one word that means "cord tire" to the world. No need to add "cord" or "tire." SILVERTOWN means both. But now it is also the one word that means "One Quality Only." For SILVERTOWN is the product of a one-quality policy. We center thought, skill, and care on it, and make it the perfection of cord tires.

RURAL MAIL BOXES ARE BEING PAINTED

Answering the appeal of Postmaster General New made two months ago through Ohio Postmasters, the majority of Greene County farmers are painting their mail boxes, rural mail carriers out of the Xenia office declare.

"Rural mail boxes grace or disgrace the country roads, depending upon their state of preservation," the Postmaster General said in his appeal. "Paint covers a multitude of sins and although a rusty mail box or a rheumatic post is not necessarily a sin, it is certainly not a thing of beauty.

Since the order, many farmers have complied and it is expected that the painting program will be further encouraged by the department. White is the color particularly recommended because it is becoming in any natural surroundings and the painting is in line with the present policy of eliminating unsightly things along the roads. Farmers are urged to wield the brush on the post or supports as well as on the box.

According to the instructions of Postmaster General New the name of the head of each family should be printed or stenciled on each box in letters at least one inch high. Painting of the mail boxes and the Department's order requiring that mail boxes be located on the right side of the roads has been a great factor in the elimination of traffic accidents on the highways and in facilitating the carrier's duties according to local officials.

STOP BACKACHE, KIDNEY TROUBLE

Backache, Rheumuatic Pains, dull headache tired feeling, too frequent urination, discolored or strong odor are symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. "I was always having a backache which caused me great suffering," writes Mrs. Feber, Medford, Mass. "Could not sleep and at times I could not stand straight. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and found relief." Stop backache, kidney and bladder troubles with Foley Kidney Pills. Sayre & Hemphill. adv

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. G. W. HALL, 539 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

as the wick to a candle

Everyone knows that the wick of a candle must go clear through to the bottom, or else part of the candle will remain unburned. A complete chain of boiling points is the wick in good gasoline that burns up all the fuel and allows it to give maximum power.

To perform efficiently and economically, gasoline must have a low initial boiling point. This makes it vaporize readily—start the motor quickly. It must also have a connecting series of gradually rising boiling points to provide smooth, fast acceleration. And it must have the proper body of higher boiling points to give the heat that means full power and big mileage.

Red Crown Gasoline has just such a complete chain of boiling points and you can always get it anywhere in Ohio, at any one of the 450 Standard Service Stations or from any Red Crown dealer.

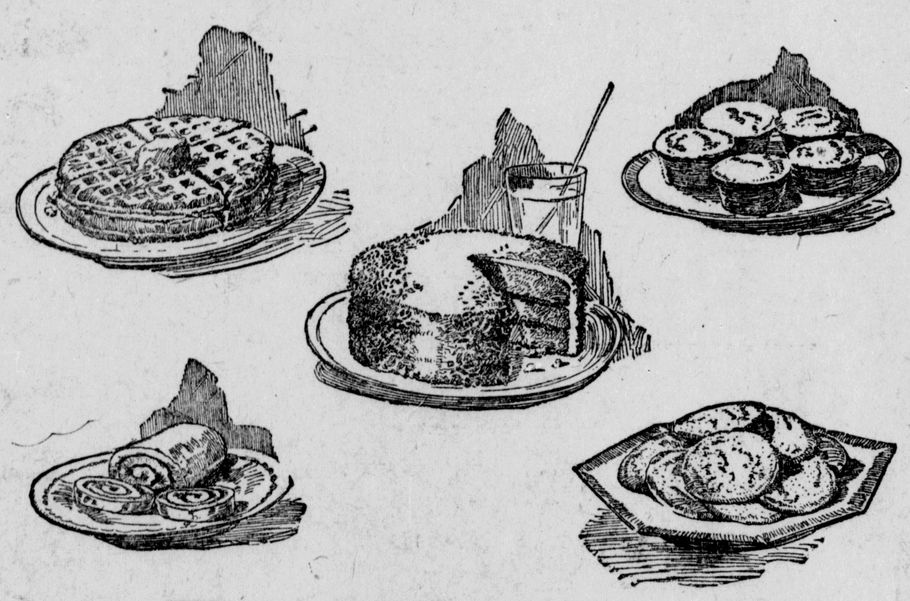

5 Grades Polarine Motor Oils

Polarine Motor Oils are supplied in five grades to insure correct lubrication of every type of motor. Polarine Transmission Lubricants and Greases provide perfect lubrication of all transmission units. And the Polarine Chart of Recommendations is a quick, sure guide to the proper grade for every part of your car.

See the Polarine chart at any Standard Service Stations—or at any store or garage where you find the Polarine sign.

SPECIAL-SIX TOURING $1275

Wherever motor cars are discussed, and that's nearly everywhere, somebody is sure to remark—"That Studebaker Special-Six is a regular automobile."

The Studebaker Special-Six has been on the market for four years. Each year has seen added to it such refinements and improvements as time has made possible. Today there are more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand in every-day service and we don't believe there's a dissatisfied owner.

The name was selected because comparative tests against all kinds of cars made this car stand out as something special and apart from the ordinary run of automobiles. It requires special merit to warrant calling any car a special—and if the value isn't special the car quickly fades away.

Count the "Special-Sizes" that have appeared since the arrival of the Studebaker Special-Six. That's the proof of the value of the original Special-Six.

FORD'S STATEMENT BEING DISCUSSED

Washington, June 19.—Henry Ford's announcement that he is not a candidate for the presidency was not taken seriously here by either Republicans or Democrats.

The open season for such statements is on and will continue until the pre-convention campaigns get under way next spring, the politicians say. Mr. Ford is quoted as having said:

"I have no desire to be president of the United States. I am too much occupied with my own affairs to become the next president, and I do not intend to run. All this talk you hear about my name being associated with the presidency is newspaper talk. There is nothing in it."

Trained politicians discount the Ford statement as having but little bearing on the situation. They say the Ford boom has been erected around an issue—not a personality.

Ford also paid his respects to the Ku Klux Klan. "I have never had any collusion with the klan," he said. "I have never belonged to any secret organization and never intend to. I think the Ku Klux Klan is very un-American. If I joined any organization it would be one that would not require me to wear a mask."

Ford declared the railroads are being managed poorly and that business conditions in America at the present time were never better.

GERMANY ACCUSES FRANCE IN NOTE

Washington, June 19.—Acts of the French in the Ruhr valley "render illusory all efforts of the German government to tranquilize the population," it is charged in a note of protest presented to the state department by German Ambassador Wiedfeldt. "The responsibility for any consequences rests alone with the French government," the note concludes.

The note parallels similar protests presented to European governments other than those of France and Belgium, the two nations participating in the seizure of the Ruhr area. It recites the "steps taken by the German government in the spirit of sincere desire to come to the negotiations on the offer of May 2 and of June 1," and points out that these offers "have not prevented the French government from continuing the reign of terror against the population in the most stringent forms."

FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Columbus, June 19.—Ohio Teachers' Reading circle, which recommends and distributes books to Ohio teachers and pupils, has just completed 40 years of service. The circle purchases books in quantities and sells them to teachers at lower prices and annually selects a number of books to be read by teachers of the state.

TENDLER WINS

Philadelphia, June 19.—Lew Tendler, 137, of this city, leading lightweight contender, gave Pal Moran of New Orleans, 133, one of the worst trimmings of his career here. Tendler was the leader in every one of the eight rounds. Moran's ability to take punishment alone let him stay the full limit.

LOCAL STUDENT IS GIVEN SCHOLARSHIP

Horace Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Smith, 519 North Galloway Street, received distinctive honors, when he was one of five selected from all over the United States to receive a four year scholarship to Swarthmore University, Swarthmore, Pa.

The scholarship amounts to $500 a year for four years and is one of the largest undergraduate scholarships given in the country. Young Smith is a graduate of Central High School with the 1923 class and was interested in the scholarship offer through Principal Harper C. Pendry, who attended Swarthmore.

The awards were made on a basis of general qualifications and the Xenia boy won on the strength of his academic record in school, his participation in general school activities, his ability as an athlete and his general reputation in the community. He has not only mantained a high scholastic standard in high school but was considered one of the best physically developed boys in the school. He was a member of the championship winning football teams in 1921 and 1922 and was a first team basketball player in his senior year and participated in class athletis. He also interested himself in other school activities and was considered one of the most popular students at Central High. He will enter Swartmore next fall.

EDUCATION BOARDS MUST SUBMIT TO STATE INDEBTEDNESS

Blanks on which all boards of education in the county must submit to the Auditor of State a statement of all outstanding indebtedness in the district as of July 1, 1923, will be mailed out to boards by County Auditor R. O. Wead, as soon as they are received frm Columbus, according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools.

The forms showing outstanding indebtedness will have to be filled out in compliance with House Bill No. 599, passed by the last General Assembly to become effective July 26 and requires compliance on or before July 15. As the law does not become effective until after the time it specifies for compliance, there is a question as to whether compliance can be enforced.

From the reports received the Auditor of State is required to certify to each board the amount of its net floating indebtedness, whereupon each board having a net indebtedness of more than $400 is required to issue bonds or notes in the total sum of said indebtedness.

Purpose of House Bill No. 599 and House Bill No. 20 is to provide sufficient revenues from current taxes for the operation of the schools and require that expenditures be held within the money provided by taxation.

The bills provide that every school district must issue bonds for its net floating indebtedness. School boards must issue bonds or notes to take care of this floating indebtedness this year and after this year no money can be borrowed against the August settlement to pay expenses of the schools in June and prior thereto. The provision means that each district will start off new without current debts and is required in the future to operate upon the tax money received in August and February without any additional borrowing

House Bill No. 20 repeals the Smith Law limitations and imposes a new system of limitations. By it all interior limitations are removed and a new limitation of 17 mills within municipal limits imposed; sinking fund and interest levies which are now outside the 15 mill limit by vote or otherwise remain outside the new limits; sinking fund and interest levies on bonds issued after January 1, 1923 are entirely outside the limitations; sinking fund and interest levies which are not outside the ten mill limit but inside the 15 mill limit are inside the new 14 to 17 mill limit but not included in five mill minimum and may be voted outside by vote of the people at any November election; extra levies outside all limitations may be voted at any November election in any amount for not more than four years. Extra levies already voted remain in effect outside the new limitations. Extra levies of taxes must be approved by 50 per cent of those voting at a November election. The issue of bonds with the extra tax levy necessary to pay the interest and principal of the same must be approved, by 60 per cent of those voting on the proposition at a November election; a special tax charter may be submitted increasing for ten years the outside limitations in any taxing district; the levy for the Boards'share of the Teachers' Retirement allowance has not been modified.

The bill abolishes the distinction between tuition and contingent funds and simply requires that a complete budget be submitted to the Budget Commission. Every school district is entitled, both inside and outside of muncipal limits to five mills for current expenses and this amount cannot be cut down by the Budget Commission. The law applies to the year 1923 and budgets should be sumitted as soon as the forms are received.

WOMEN GOLFERS START MEET

Columbus June 19—Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, present holder of the Ohio women's golf championship title, is to compete in the state championship tournament for women today. She made the lowest score in the qualifying rounds yesterday, an 85.

Medal scores by qualifiers include Miss Clara Krauter, Youngstown, 100; Mrs. J. E. Rodgers, Dayton, 101; Mrs C. H. Simms, Dayton, 113; Mrs R. H. Grant, Dayton, 117; Mrs. Ralph Davis, Newark, 121; Mrs. H. E Carley, Dayton, 116; Mrs. H W. Brown, Zanesville, 115; Mrs. W. D. Schultz, Zanesville, 112; Miss Eleanor Hill, East Liverpool, 122; Miss Mollie Hamill, Newark, 105; Miss Sybil Burton, Zanesville, 118; Mrs. R. D. Bunn, Dayton, 119; Mrs. D. J. Knoderar, Dayton, 143; Mrs. Walter B. Hill, East Liverpool, 131; Mrs. A. H. Nevious, Dayton, 133; Mrs. W. B. Runyan, Dayton, 115 and Mrs. Edward Grimm, Dayton, 144.

The first rounds of match play are on today, with the contestants divided into four flights, according to their qualifying scores. The tournament is being held at the Columbus Country Club, four miles east of here.

VETERAN FLY LOSES TITLE

New York, June 18.—Jimmy Wilde, dethroned flyweight champion of the world, was preparing today to sail for his home in England while Pancho Villa, his brown-skinned conqueror from the Philippines, was receiving congratulations on his decisive victory last night at the Polo Grounds.

"It was the first time any man in my own class ever knocked me out," Wilde said today with a rueful smile. "Maybe that means I'm getting old. I don't know. He beat me fairly. I could not hurt him and every time he hit me I felt it. Villa is a great little fighter and will make a worthy champion."

Mrs. Wilde, who watched her husband's game battle for six rounds but who left just before the knockout, was philosophical.

"He had to lose some time," she said.

Wilde was knocked out in the seventh round.

As a contest it was one sided. At no time did Wilde have a chance. The vaunted cleverness, the mighty hitting ability upon which the reputation of Wilde has been based, was missng. All the veteran had was superlative gameness which made him carry on despite seven rounds of the most merciless trouncing ever given a champion.

His downfall was tragic. He had absolutely no chance of winning after the second round, his seconds refusing to throw in the towel.

The end came with a startling suddenness Wilde had been beaten to a pulp when the seventh round started. A deep cut in his right cheek from a left hander by Villa smeared his face with blood. His both eyes were closed and he was pawing away by instinct attempting to find his opponent when suddenly pitched forward on his face unconscious. His seconds carried him to his corner where they worked desperately to bring him to. Villa, carried away by his wonderful victory, rushed over to the Welshman's corner and kissed him.

Medway Collegians Are Next

The Xenia Bayliffs after having been, swamped by the Cincinnati Movers Sunday will attempt to make a comeback this week end at Washington Park, when their opponents will be the Medway Collegians.

The Collegians are a speedy bunch and just recently handed the Chero-Colas of Dayton a setback. It will be remembered by local fans that it was the popmakers that defeated the Bayliffs in one of the best games that has yet been staged here. The Medway bunch has not dropped a game so far this season and news from their camp is that they intend adding the locals to their long list of victims.

Manager Roy Bayliff requests that every player be at Washington Park Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock as there will be an important meeting and practice. Bayliff has not decided what lineup he will use this game.

KELLYS LEADING LEAGUE

Standings computed for the second week of the Industrial League schedule shows that the Kelly Cords representing The R. A. Kelly Company are still leading the race with two games won and none lost. The Penn. R. R. Team also has a perfect percentage with one game won and none lost, the second game not having been finished.

The Hooven and Allison Bluehearts dropped back in the percentage after losing to the Kellys and are now tied with the Xenia Shoes with one game won and one lost each. The H. and A. Commercials and the H. and A. Binders are in the cellar neither having won a game. The standing:

CHURCHES TO RAISE MEMORIAL FUND FOR LATE PASTOR

The work of raising funds for a memorial to the late Dr. William A. Wiant, at Peking University, Peking, China, will be started by the Methodist Churches of the Springfield district whoch are behind the project, this week.

Dr. Wiant, who was superintendent of the Methodist churches in the Springfield district, for a number of years, died recently at his home in Springfield.

Dr. G. W. Osmun, pastor of the High Street Methodist Church, Springfield, will serve as chairman of the committee in charge of raising funds for the memorial.

Other members of the committee in charge of the project are Dr. Hough Houston, who succeeded Dr. Wiant, and K. A. Wee, of New York City, who was a fellow student o the Rev. Mr. Wiant at Ohio Wesleyan University.

The plan to erect a suitable memorial to Dr. Wiant, is a part of the building program at the Peking University, and was suggested when Dr. William Hung of the history department of the university, spoke at the Central Methodist church in Springfield recently.

The university is now situated on inadequate temporary buildings in Peking, and is compelled to refuse scores of students annually through lack of space to accomodate them. The Wiant Memorial will be erected on the new site of the university.

The Rev. Bliss Wiant, son of the Rev. Mr. Wiant will go to Peking next fall to accept a position at the Peking university as instructor in music. The university is now seeking $1,000,000 of which more than $400,000 nas been rasied. to carry out its building program on the new site outside the city of Peking.

Women In Welfare Service

SERVICE WITH FIGHTING MEN - Article Four.

American women at home and abroad contributed incalculably to welfare work. Beginning with activities at home very soon they were in Europe and then at the front. Mr. Vincent Astor was in charge of the first canteen for soldiers, in Brest, as early as July, 1917. Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris that month. At left is one of the home activities—"Y" workers aiding the departing soldiers; Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Above is Mrs. Vincent Astor, standing in center, with back to canteen wall. At right, a woman motion picture operator.

They Bestow Measureless Good Wherever Groups of Men Are Gathered Away from Home Influence

LEGEND and history furnish endless stories of the active assistance of women to fighting men in time of war. But history turns her face away and hesitates to record the acts of women camp followers of other days. Let us pass them by with the comment that they were as grave a danger to any fighting force as were the soldiers under the enemy's banner.

It was not until the Crimean war that Florence Nightingale, in spite of the officers, instituted in the British army a relief and welfare work for soldiers which resulted in a permanent organization. The medical service had broken down. The death rate in certain barracks in England was twice that in the surrounding civil population. The "Angel of the Crimea" landed in Scutari in November, 1854, with a corps of 38 nurses and in spite of opposition cleaned house. We think of her as a nurse but she did other things. She opened reading and writing rooms, arranged for soldiers remittances home, overcame the influence of camp followers. The title of her report, "Notes Affecting the Health, Efficiency and Hospital Administration of the British Army," shows her to have been not only the forerunner of the Red Cross nurse but of the woman welfare worker as well.

WOMEN NEEDED IN WELFARE WORK

Long before the United States entered the war, her leaders had been from France and England of the work done by women to assist the soldier, directly and indirectly. They impressed by the reports coming not only acted as volunteer nurses and ambulance drivers but women of high and low degree went into ordnance factories, thus freeing men for the combatant forces and for back of the lines; they baked bread, worked in quartermaster's stores, acted as couriers, electrical operators and clerical workers, and took part in all forms of activities except the actual fighting.

When in the United States the men began to move toward the cantonments it at once became evident that American women, who could serve otherwise would not be content with war time activities at home, with handing out good cheer to men on troop trains or with nursing, important as these were. They were not going to permit their men to go from home to camp and thence to a foreign land without taking with them every possible home environment.

Any attempt to extend home influences and home comforts to soldiers in camp and field not only must be supported by the woman at home but necessitated her co-operation in the planning and directing of the undertaking and her presence and participation in its actual execution. When individual women began to seek admission into these undertakings the new problems of welfare work with the American army, there was some hesitance but the ultimate result was proof that a complete welfare program required women, not as substitutes for men, but as active participants.

Mrs. Vincent Astor offered her services to the Y. M. C. A. and, arriving in France in July, 1917, was put in charge of the first canteen for sailors at Brest. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris in July.

Conferences between British and American leaders who knew of the work of women in the huts in England resulted in a cable to New York: "Unanimous opinion that qualified women for canteen work are necessary." These women had to be strong, sensible, with a knowledge of life, good "mixers," loyal to military and Association rule, thorough sympathy with the Association's social and religious aims and having an interest in spiritual things. The general plan was that the women should work at the ports, with the Service of Supply, and in the training areas.

What did the women do in France? The first recruits were intended as canteen workers, but canteen service came to cover the multitude of activities, which any woman of mature judgment would undertake for any group of young men away from home. First of all they brought to homesick men in a foreign land, doing a grinding arduous work, a touch of real home atmosphere. They sang, sewed on buttons, danced with the men, read aloud, played the piano, led religious services, but in all things they represented to the soldiers the women at home.

But it must be recognized that the work of the women was often most laborious and exhausting. With many a division, the serving of hot drinks and sandwiches to troops entraining or detraining, was largely performed by them. Forty-eight hours without intermission, on a railroad station platform, in heavy rain, preparing and passing out hot chocolate, was an experience many women knew.

Hospitals and dressing stations, when the wounded were pouring in, found women working at top speed for hours at a stretch, assisting surgeons, bathing and cleasing patients, preparing food and drinks, ministering to every need within their power. Even the chauffeur's job was theirs at times.

In the advance zone the women workers experienced the hardships of the troops, serving in towns where nightly bombing or shelling made it necessary for all hands to go out into the fields to sleep. They were billeted in unheated rooms, and at times had to forage for their food.

The women from America were ably supported in England, France and Italy by the women of the American colonies in all these countries. A most significant development of the war was the proof that the right kind of woman may live in military camps not only without harm to herself but with measureless benefit to the men. The soldiers gave the uttermost respect and perfect loyalty and comradeship. It was a new thing in welfare work and the result was good. Now and then, the old time hard-boiled professional soldier may attempt a sneer at coddling recruits, but if war must be the women of America will see to it that their soldiers are given every incentive toward decent living.

This experience has been gained for future service with soldiers and sailors. Its application to civil and industrial life is obvious. The right kind of women can render a service of measureless good wherever groups of men are gathered away from home influence.

Volunteer Workers To Help Transform Dump Into Park

The unsightly dump on Dayton Avenue, that for so long has disfigured that busy approach to the city, is to be entirely wiped off the map Friday and an attractive, folwer decorated playground is to take its place, according to plans just perfected by the Xenia Garden Club and the Community Recreation Association. If plans go through as announced the old dump is to pass out to the strains of lively music and with Xenia's leading citizens serving as pall bearers for the rubbish that has made the place for so long an eyesore to the twon.

According to the plans of the committee members of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and all other men in the city who will donate their services will don overalls and wide-brimmed straw hats and march in a body to the dump where they will spend the afternoon removing and covering the rubbish and transforming the place into a beauty spot. The men will meet at the Kelly Cordage Company at one o'clock and will march to the dump with a band at the head of the column of volunteer workers. A band and an orchestra will furnish music throughout the afternoon.

The women of the Garden Club will be on hands with sandwiches and cold lemonade which will be served to the workers by courtes of the Garden Club.

Construction companies, and persons having teams, are asked to donate the use of them for the afternoon. Two car loads of dirt have been donated and teams and drags will be needed to get the ground cleared and levelled off. The committee also asks the use of tracters for the afternoon. The city sanitary force was busy Tuesday burning all loose rubbish and getting the spot in readiness for the work Friday.

After the work is completed the Garden Club will plant a hedge of shrubbry entirely around the plot which will be used as a playground. The program is meeting with enthusiastic response and it is believed there will be a large number of interested citizens on hand Friday afternoon to help in this project for making Xenia more sanitary and beautiful.

A picture will be taken of the volunteer squad before it leaves the Kelly Cordage Company. Every man in the city who can give some time to the work Friday afternoon is urged to do so and to help rid Xenia of its unsanitary and unsightly places.

EDUCATION BOARDS MUST SUBMIT TO STATE INDEBTEDNESS

Blanks on which all boards of education in the county must submit to the Auditor of State a statement of all outstanding indebtedness in the district as of July 1, 1923, will be mailed out to boards by County Auditor R. O. Wead, as soon as they are received frm Columbus, according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools.

The forms showing outstanding indebtedness will have to be filled out in compliance with House Bill No. 599, passed by the last General Assembly to become effective July 26 and requires compliance on or before July 15. As the law does not become effective until after the time it specifies for compliance, there is a question as to whether compliance can be enforced.

From the reports received the Auditor of State is required to certify to each board the amount of its net floating indebtedness, whereupon each board having a net indebtedness of more than $400 is required to issue bonds or notes in the total sum of said indebtedness.

Purpose of House Bill No. 599 and House Bill No. 20 is to provide sufficient revenues from current taxes for the operation of the schools and require that expenditures be held within the money provided by taxation.

The bills provide that every school district must issue bonds for its net floating indebtedness. School boards must issue bonds or notes to take care of this floating indebtedness this year and after this year no money can be borrowed against the August settlement to pay expenses of the schools in June and prior thereto. The provision means that each district will start off new without current debts and is required in the future to operate upon the tax money received in August and February without any additional borrowing.

House Bill No. 20 repeals the Smith Law limitations and imposes a new system of limitations. By it all interior limitations are removed and a new limitation of 17 mills within municipal limits imposed; sinking fund and interest levies which are now outside the 15 mill limit by vote or otherwise remain outside the new limits; sinking fund and interest levies on bonds issued after January 1, 1923 are entirely outside the limitations; sinking fund and interest levies which are not outside the ten mill limit but inside the 15 mill limit are inside the new 14 to 17 mill limit but not included in five mill minimum and may be voted outside by vote of the people at any November election; extra levies outside all limitations may be voted at any November election in any amount for not more than four years. Extra levies already voted remain in effect outside the new limitations. Extra levies of taxes must be approved by 50 per cent of those voting at a November election. The issue of bonds with the extra tax levy necessary to pay the interest and principal of the same must be approved, by 60 per cent of those voting on the proposition at a November election; a special tax charter may be submitted increasing for ten years the outside limitations in any taxing district; the levy for the Boards'share of the Teachers' Retirement allowance has not been modified.

The bill abolishes the distinction between tuition and contingent funds and simply requires that a complete budget be submitted to the Budget Commission. Every school district is entitled, both inside and outside of muncipal limits to five mills for current expenses and this amount cannot be cut down by the Budget Commission. The law applies to the year 1923 and budgets should be sumitted as soon as the forms are received.

WOMEN GOLFERS START MEET

Columbus June 19—Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, present holder of the Ohio women's golf championship title, is to compete in the state championship tournament for women today. She made the lowest score in the qualifying rounds yesterday, an 85.

Medal scores by qualifiers include Miss Clara Krauter, Youngstown, 100; Mrs. J. E. Rodgers, Dayton, 101; Mrs C. H. Simms, Dayton, 113; Mrs R. H. Grant, Dayton, 117; Mrs. Ralph Davis, Newark, 121; Mrs. H. E Carley, Dayton, 116; Mrs. H W. Brown, Zanesville, 115; Mrs. W. D. Schultz, Zanesville, 112; Miss Eleanor Hill, East Liverpool, 122; Miss Mollie Hamill, Newark, 105; Miss Sybil Burton, Zanesville, 118; Mrs. R. D. Bunn, Dayton, 119; Mrs. D. J. Knoderar, Dayton, 143; Mrs. Walter B. Hill, East Liverpool, 131; Mrs. A. H. Nevious, Dayton, 133; Mrs. W. B. Runyan, Dayton, 115 and Mrs. Edward Grimm, Dayton, 144.

The first rounds of match play are on today, with the contestants divided into four flights, according to their qualifying scores. The tournament is being held at the Columbus Country Club, four miles east of here.

VETERAN FLY LOSES TITLE

New York, June 19.—Jimmy Wilde, dethroned flyweight champion of the world, was preparing today to sail for his home in England while Pancho Villa, his brown-skinned conqueror from the Philippines, was receiving congratulations on his decisive victory last night at the Polo Grounds.

"It was the first time any man in my own class ever knocked me out," Wilde said today with a rueful smile. "Maybe that means I'm getting old. I don't know. He beat me fairly. I could not hurt him and every time he hit me I felt it. Villa is a great little fighter and will make a worthy champion."

Mrs. Wilde, who watched her husband's game battle for six rounds but who left just before the knockout, was philosophical.

"He had to lose some time," she said.

Wilde was knocked out in the seventh round.

As a contest it was one sided. At no time did Wilde have a chance. The vaunted cleverness, the mighty hitting ability upon which the reputation of Wilde has been based, was missng. All the veteran had was superlative gameness which made him carry on despite seven rounds of the most merciless trouncing ever given a champion.

His downfall was tragic. He had absolutely no chance of winning after the second round, his seconds refusing to throw in the towel.

The end came with a startling suddenness Wilde had been beaten to a pulp when the seventh round started. A deep cut in his right cheek from a left hander by Villa smeared his face with blood. His both eyes were closed and he was pawing away by instinct attempting to find his opponent when suddenly pitched forward on his face unconscious. His seconds carried him to his corner where they worked desperately to bring him to. Villa, carried away by his wonderful victory, rushed over to the Welshman's corner and kissed him.

Medway Collegians Are Next

The Xenia Bayliffs after having been, swamped by the Cincinnati Movers Sunday will attempt to make a comeback this week end at Washington Park, when their opponents will be the Medway Collegians.

The Collegians are a speedy bunch and just recently handed the Chero-Colas of Dayton a setback. It will be remembered by local fans that it was the popmakers that defeated the Bayliffs in one of the best games that has yet been staged here. The Medway bunch has not dropped a game so far this season and news from their camp is that they intend adding the locals to their long list of victims.

Manager Roy Bayliff requests that every player be at Washington Park Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock as there will be an important meeting and practice. Bayliff has not decided what lineup he will use this game.

KELLYS LEADING LEAGUE

Standings computed for the second week of the Industrial League schedule shows that the Kelly Cords representing The R. A. Kelly Company are still leading the race with two games won and none lost. The Penn. R. R. Team also has a perfect percentage with one game won and none lost, the second game not having been finished.

The Hooven and Allison Bluehearts dropped back in the percentage after losing to the Kellys and are now tied with the Xenia Shoes with one game won and one lost each. The H. and A. Commercials and the H. and A. Binders are in the cellar neither having won a game. The standing:

CHURCHES TO RAISE MEMORIAL FUND FOR LATE PASTOR

The work of raising funds for a memorial to the late Dr. William A. Wiant, at Peking University, Peking, China, will be started by the Methodist Churches of the Springfield district whoch are behind the project, this week.

Dr. Wiant, who was superintendent of the Methodist churches in the Springfield district, for a number of years, died recently at his home in Springfield.

Dr. G. W. Osmun, pastor of the High Street Methodist Church, Springfield, will serve as chairman of the committee in charge of raising funds for the memorial.

Other members of the committee in charge of the project are Dr. Hough Houston, who succeeded Dr. Wiant, and K. A. Wee, of New York City, who was a fellow student o the Rev. Mr. Wiant at Ohio Wesleyan University.

The plan to erect a suitable memorial to Dr. Wiant, is a part of the building program at the Peking University, and was suggested when Dr. William Hung of the history department of the university, spoke at the Central Methodist church in Springfield recently.

The university is now situated on inadequate temporary buildings in Peking, and is compelled to refuse scores of students annually through lack of space to accomodate them. The Wiant Memorial will be erected on the new site of the university.

The Rev. Bliss Wiant, son of the Rev. Mr. Wiant will go to Peking next fall to accept a position at the Peking university as instructor in music. The university is now seeking $1,000,000 of which more than $400,000 has been rasied. to carry out its building program on the new site outside the city of Peking.

Women In Welfare Service

SERVICE WITH FIGHTING MEN—Article Four.

American women at home and abroad contributed incalculably to welfare work. Beginning with activities at home very soon they were in Europe and then at the front. Mrs. Vincent Astor was in charge of the first canteen for soldiers, in Brest, as early as July, 1917. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris that month. At left is one of the home activities—"Y" workers aiding the departing soldiers; Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Above is Mrs. Vincent Astor, standing in center, with back to canteen wall. At right, a woman motion picture operator.

LEGEND and history furnish endless stories of the active assistance of women to fighting men in time of war. But history turns her face away and hesitates to record the acts of women camp followers of other days. Let us pass them by with the comment that they were as grave a danger to any fighting force as were the soldiers under the enemy's banner.

It was not until the Crimean war that Florence Nightingale, in spite of the officers, instituted in the British army a relief and welfare work for soldiers which resulted in a permanent organization. The medical service had broken down. The death rate in certain barracks in England was twice that in the surrounding civil population. The "Angel of the Crimea" landed in Scutari in November, 1854, with a corps of 38 nurses and in spite of opposition cleaned house. We think of her as a nurse but she did other things. She opened reading and writing rooms, arranged for soldiers remittances home, overcame the influence of camp followers. The title of her report, "Notes Affecting the Health, Efficiency and Hospital Administration of the British Army," shows her to have been not only the forerunner of the Red Cross nurse but of the woman welfare worker as well.

WOMEN NEEDED IN WELFARE WORK

Long before the United States entered the war, her leaders had been impressed by the reports coming from France and England of the work done by women to assist the soldier, directly and indirectly. They not only acted as volunteer nurses and ambulance drivers but women of high and low degree went into ordnance factories, thus freeing men for the combatant forces and for back of the lines; they baked bread, worked in quartermaster's stores, acted as couriers, electrical operators and clerical workers, and took part in all forms of activities except the actual fighting.

When in the United States the men began to move toward the cantonments it at once became evident that American women, who could serve otherwise would not be content with war time activities at home, with handing out good cheer to men on troop trains or with nursing, important as these were. They were not going to permit their men to go from home to camp and thence to a foreign land without taking with them every possible home environment.

Any attempt to extend home influences and home comforts to soldiers in camp and field not only must be supported by the woman at home but necessitated her co-operation in the planning and directing of the undertaking and her presence and participation in its actual execution. When individual women began to seek admission into these undertakings the new problems of welfare work with the American army, there was some hesitance but the ultimate result was proof that a complete welfare program required women, not as substitutes for men, but as active participants.

Mrs. Vincent Astor offered her services to the Y. M. C. A. and, arriving in France in July, 1917, was put in charge of the first canteen for sailors at Brest. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris in July.

Conferences between British and American leaders who knew of the work of women in the huts in England resulted in a cable to New York: "Unanimous opinion that qualified women for canteen work are necessary." These women had to be strong, sensible, with a knowledge of life, good "mixers," loyal to military and Association rule, in thorough sympathy with the Association's social and religious aims and having an interest in spiritual things. The general plan was that the women should work at the ports, with the Service of Supply, and in the training areas.

What did the women do in France? The first recruits were intended as canteen workers, but canteen service came to cover the multitude of activities, which any woman of mature judgment would undertake for any group of young men away from home. First of all they brought to homesick men in a foreign land, doing a grinding, arduous work, a touch of real home atmosphere. They sang, sewed on buttons, danced with the men, read aloud, played the piano, led religious services, but in all things they represented to the soldiers the women at home.

But it must be recognized that the work of the women was often most laborious and exhausting. With many a division, the serving of hot drinks and sandwiches to troops entraining or detraining, was largely performed by them. Forty-eight hours without intermission, on a railroad station platform, in heavy rain, preparing and passing out hot chocolate, was an experience many women knew.

Hospitals and dressing stations, when the wounded were pouring in, found women working at top speed for hours at a stretch, assisting surgeons, bathing and cleasing patients, preparing food and drinks, ministering to every need within their power. Even the chauffeur's job was theirs at times.

In the advance zone the women workers experienced the hardships of the troops, serving in towns where nightly bombing or shelling made it necessary for all hands to go out into the fields to sleep. They were billeted in unheated rooms, and at times had to forage for their food.

The women from America were ably supported in England, France and Italy by the women of the American colonies in all these countries. A most significant development of the war was the proof that the right kind of woman may live in military camps not only without harm to herself but with measureless benefit to the men. The soldiers gave the uttermost respect and perfect loyalty and comradeship. It was a new thing in welfare work and the result was good. Now and then, the old time hard-boiled professional soldier may attempt a sneer at coddling recruits, but if war must be the women of America will see to it that their soldiers are given every incentive toward decent living.

This experience has been gained for future service with soldiers and sailors. Its application to civil and industrial life is obvious. The right kind of women can render a service of measureless good wherever groups of men are gathered away from home influence.

Volunteer Workers To Help Transform Dump Into Park

The unsightly dump on Dayton Avenue, that for so long has disfigured that busy approach to the city, is to be entirely wiped off the map Friday and an attractive, folwer decorated playground is to take its place, according to plans just perfected by the Xenia Garden Club and the Community Recreation Association. If plans go through as announced the old dump is to pass out to the strains of lively music and with Xenia's leading citizens serving as pall bearers for the rubbish that has made the place for so long an eyesore to the twon.

According to the plans of the committee members of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and all other men in the city who will donate their services, will don overalls and wide-brimmed straw hats and march in a body to the dump where they will spend the afternoon removing and covering the rubbish and transforming the place into a beauty spot. The men will meet at the Kelly Cordage Company at one o'clock and will march to the dump with a band at the head of the column of volunteer workers. A band and an orchestra will furnish music throughout the afternoon.

The women of the Garden Club will be on hands with sandwiches and cold lemonade which will be served to the workers by courtes of the Garden Club.

Construction companies, and persons having teams, are asked to donate the use of them for the afternoon. Two car loads of dirt have been donated and teams and drags will be needed to get the ground cleared and levelled off. The committee also asks the use of tractors for the afternoon. The city sanitary force was busy Tuesday burning all loose rubbish and getting the spot in readiness for the work Friday.

After the work is completed the Garden Club will plant a hedge of shrubbry entirely around the plot which will be used as a playground. The program is meeting with enthusiastic response and it is believed there will be a large number of interested citizens on hand Friday afternoon to help in this project for making Xenia more sanitary and beautiful.

A picture will be taken of the volunteer squad before it leaves the Kelly Cordage Company. Every man in the city who can give some time to the work Friday afternoon is urged to do so and to help rid Xenia of its unsanitary and unsightly places.

A Trip of a Thousand Thrills

Electrification of St. Gothard Railway Abolishes Smoke Nuisance, Gives Fullest Vision of Scenic Beauties and Makes Longest Tunnels a Delight.

NOTHING new under the sun? The grandeur and majesty of the Alps are as old as the Alps themselves, but the opportunity to see that grandeur and majesty in peace and the fullest of vision is new—for not until the Lucerne-Chiasso section of the world famous St. Gothard line was electrified could the smoke nuisance be abolished and freedom of sight granted. The electrification is for a distance of 137½ miles. This gigantic project has just been completed. It ranks among the engineering marvels of the world.

Two huge power stations, one at Amsteg, near the northern entrance to the St. Gothard tunnel, and the other at Piotta, about five miles beyond the southern entrance, supply energy. Amsteg is used during the summer, when the Reuss supplies the water, Piotta, is available in winter. This latter plant utilizes the accumulated water of Lake Ritom, 6,000 feet above sea level and about 2,950 feet above Piotta. The natural depth of the lake has been increased by a 23 foot dam and the conduit draws off the water 100 feet below the dam crest. The available storage capacity is estimated at about 900,000,000 cubic feet.

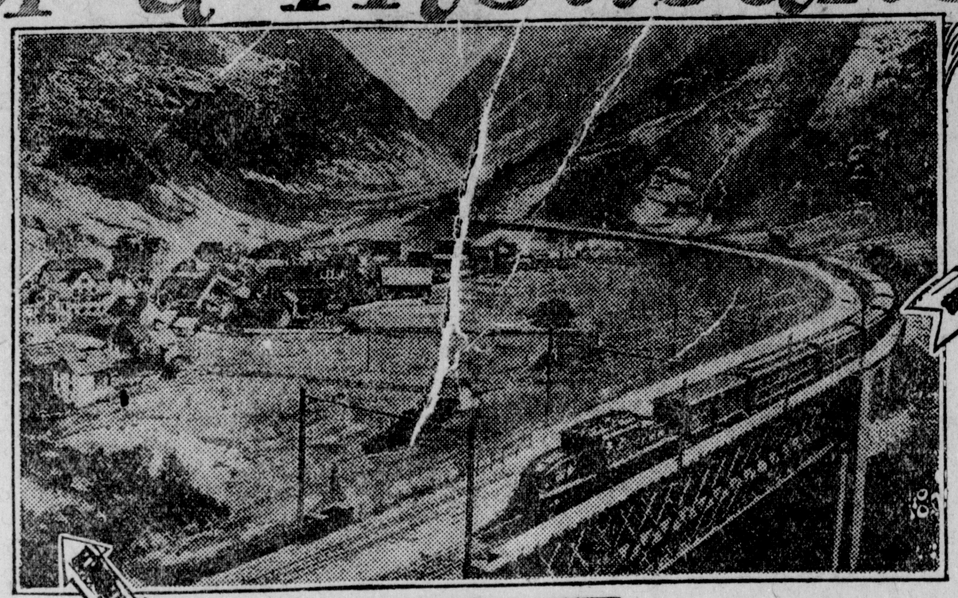

History of St. Gothard Line.

Railroads were introduced in Switzerland in 1844 with the construction of the Basel-St. Ludwig line, connecting with the Alsace. By 1860 there were 621 miles of normal gauge lines in use and in 1869 the Federal authorities decided for a railway through the St. Gothard, which involved the boring of what was then the longest tunnel in the world, slightly more than 9¼ miles.

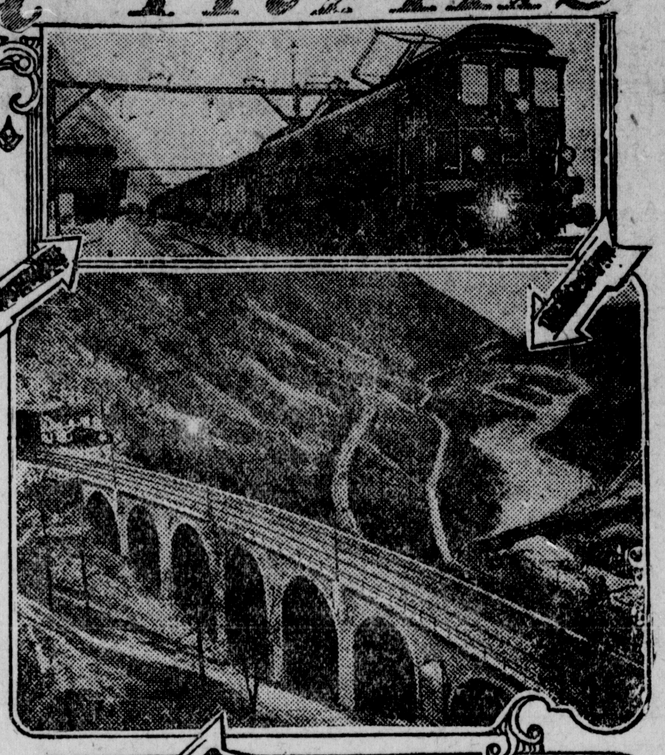

Work on this gigantic undertaking, which cost $23,800,000 was begun in 1872 and ten years later the line was formally inaugurated. The line was generally recognized as an epoch-making achievement and it immediately took its place as one of the great arteries of European steam traffic.

With the passing of years and the ever increasing demands, the necessity was realized of transforming the system to electric traction.

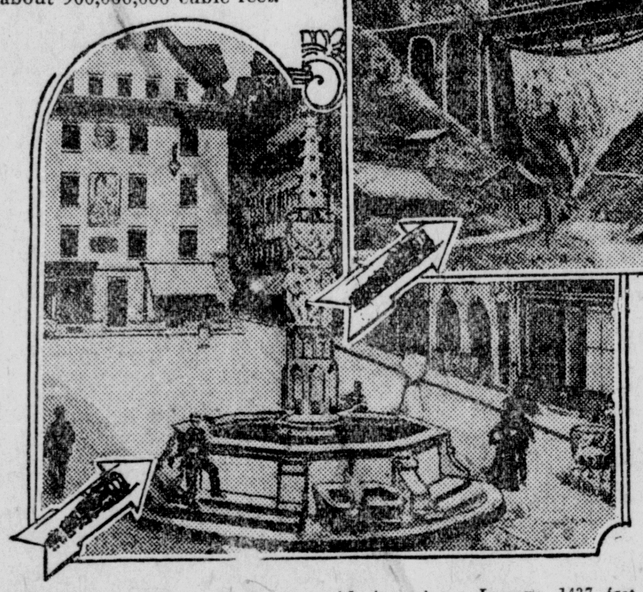

Final plans for electrification was passed in August, 1913, a year before the outbreak of the great war, which calamity made Switzerland realize her dependence upon the neighboring countries for coal. Calculations showed that the little Alpine Republic could dispose of over 3,000,000 horsepower of water power and records indicated that about 600,000 tons of coal were required per annum by the railways. It was, therefore, evident that this vast outlay for fuel, and the inconvenience and uncertainty of its procurement, could be eliminated by development of only a fraction of the natural hydraulic resources of her mountains.

At Wassen, 2250 feet above sea level, the tracks wind around a mountain three times giving passengers amazing views.

The historic Weinmarkt Square with fountain at Lucerne, 1437 feet above sea level.

In spite of the war the Swiss resolved to carry out the now more than twice as expensive electrification scheme. As the Swiss franc maintained during all these years of fluctuating money markets the same high level—like the American dollar—Switzerland decided to approach the bankers in the United States for a loan of $25,000,000, which was floated by a consortium.

In the autumn of 1920 the main section of the line, between Erstfeld and Bellinzona, which includes the great tunnel, was operated by electricity; the entire line between Lucerne and Chiasso, on the Swiss-Italian frontier, is now open and complete electrification of Lucerne-Zug-Zurich line is expected shortly.

The chief feature of electrification for passengers and sight-seers is that the smoke nuisance is ended. The task of maintaining and repairing the line in the tunnels has also been lightened for the workmen. As soon as electrification of that section was completed, the 9¼ miles long St. Gothard tunnel underwent a thorough cleaning and scraping; its former black coat of soot is thus no more and travel through this tunnel and the numerous smaller tunnels along this line, where windows had formerly to be hermetically closed, has become a diversion.

A Road of Scenic Wonders.

Today, with its spotless electrical equipment, the St. Gothard railway, which is the most picturesque international line in all Europe, is becoming a greater favorite than ever among tourists and travellers.

From radiantly lovely Lucerne, with its much-sung lake and encircling mountain heights, the St. Gothard railway proceeds past smiling lakes and verdant pastures, past hills and mountains to the romantic realms of the St. Gothard, where rushing wind and falling waters resound in the awe-inspiring solitude of the mountains. While the line does not rise perceptibly between Lucerne, 1,437 feet above sea level, and Erstfeld, 1,558 feet, it provides mountaineering thrills of an altogether unique order between this point and Goeschenen, 3,640 feet, where in a distance of only 18 miles there is a steep rise of over 2,000 feet.

Three Times Around Mountain.

The route up the valley of the torrential Reuss is magnificent; viaducts are boldly thrown across gorges and depths in which foaming streams rush downward; gradually the rails become a spiral staircase and in the vicinity of the village of Wassen, whose tiny church has become a landmark, it seems as if the train would linger indefinitely; for three times it winds around this little church, showing it first above, next on the level and finally below, giving amazing views of the winding line with its three sections between the tunnels, one above the other.

Each emergence into daylight presents a new aspect of this romantic region and the travellers are ever darting from one side of the carriage to the other. Many repeat this trip of a thousand thrills.

Beyond the great tunnel what we behold is still Switzerland, but vastly different. This is the canton of Ticino, Italian speaking and with Italian characteristics. It is a sunkissed land where exotic plants and flowers grow in profusion and a happy people tend its great vineyard and fertile fields. Every hamlet and every village looks devoutly upon its own place of worship, oftimes perched high on some rocky height.

Then to Glorious Lugano.

Giornico, another section where engineering skill triumphed over nature; Bellinzona, the ancient capital of the canton with three formidable strongholds—then to the right a branch line leading to Locarno, the fair Swiss city at the head of Lake Maggiore, with its unforgettable Madonna del Sasso perched high above, and straight ahead of us a little farther on, Lugano, gloriously situated on its own lake, a paradise of flowers bathing in perennial sunshine.

From Lugano, the distance to Chiasso is about 16 miles and the railway, after skirting the lake for some time, crosses it on an imposing bridge at Melide and proceeds to the Swiss-Italian frontier, its terminus.

At top—The electrified Gothard express at Goeschenen station, Switzerland, which is the northern portal of the great Gothard tunnel, 3640 feet above sea level; center—The new stone viaduct of the Gothard railway near Giornico, in Italian Switzerland. This picture was taken in the region of the spiral tunnels of Travi and Piamotondo, 1300 feet above sea level; at bottom—A general view of Lugano, some 700 feet above sea level, in Italian Switzerland, with the Monte San Salvatore.

SEVERAL HUNDRED ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND RECEPTION

Between 200 and 300 graduates of Xenia Central High School were expected to attend the annual reception to the new graduates, dinner and dance given by the Alumni Association and to be held in the new Central High building Tuesday evening.

Eighty-one members of the graduating class of 1923 will be guests of the graduates of former years and will be received into the Alumni Association at the opening of the annual party Tuesday evening. Officers of the Association will be in the receiving line to welcome the guests.

The dinner will be held in the new dining room in the basement, recently prepared for occupancy, and which will be inaugurated by the former graduates with their annual dinner. There will be a program of after dinner talks, with Clarence K. Horen, president of the Association in charge of the program, and the Association will then elect officers for the coming year.

A one-act playlet, "The Trysting Place," recently given by the Xenia Business and Professional Womens Club, will be presented following the after-dinner program with part of the original cast. The cast has been directed by Miss Jean B. Elwell, former head of the English department at Central High School and will present the playlet in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium in the new building.

An orchestra will furnish music during the dinner and will later provide the accompaniment for dancing.

NEW MEMBERS OF ROTARY ANNOUNCED

Three new members, John G. Baldner, garageman, Robert H. Kingsbury, clothier, and Dr. H. A. Hoffman, bacteriologist, were taken in as new members of the Xenia Rotary Club, at the noon meeting at the Elks Club Tuesday.

Upon the introduction of the new members, Attorney Charles L. Darlington, gave an explanatory talk on the work of the club. Frank L. Smith gave a talk on the local playground project and urged the members to give the Community Recreation Association, their support.

Following the meeting, the members were conducted on an inspection tour through the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, plant and exchange.

KIL KARE PARK OPENED SUNDAY

Kil Kare Park, Xenia's ever popular pleasure resort, was formally opened Sunday under new management.

Although dancing was started at the Park last Wednesday, the official opening was withheld until Sunday when all the Park avenues of pleasure were thrown open for a large, opening-day crowd.

The popular park was idle during early summer weeks for want of a manager. A large crowd spent Sunday at the park, enjoying swimming, boating and dancing in both afternoon and evening.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE IN CANADA

Xenia relatives and friends of Mrs. Robert Fay, formerly of this city, have received announcement of her marriage to Mr. Robert Harper of Prince George, British Columbia, which was solemnized Tuesday, June 12. Mrs. Fay, who had been visting for some time in this locality, left about the first of June and made stops at several places of interest enroute to Prince George. News of her marriage comes as a complete surprise to her many friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Harper will make their home on a farm near Prince George.

WOMAN BANDIT HELD FOR MURDER

Chicago, June 19.—Mrs. Frances Thompson, alias Fred G. Thompson, has been identified as the "smiling, blue-eyed girl bandit" who killed Richard T. Tesmer, at his gold coast home, Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes announced today.

Police said the prisoner posed sometimes as a man and sometimes as a woman.

Mrs. Tesmer, the widow, made the identification at the Tesmer home, Hughes said.

The alleged "girl bandit" also was known as Francis Cadrick, police asserted.

The girl was arrested in a raid on a North Side apartment, early today by a police squad, led by Sergeant William Cusack. A man giving his name as John Doe and a woman who called herself Marie Clark, were also found in the apartment.

MILTON'S COTTAGE SHRINE OF AMERICANS

American tourists in England are flocking by the hundreds to the picturesque cottage, near London, where John Milton, the blind poet, dictated to his faithful daughter his wonderful epics—"Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained."

REINDEER MEAT MAY BECOME NATIONAL DISH

One of the largest reindeer farms in the world and certainly the largest on the Western Hemisphere, is owned and operated by the Loman Brothers, of Nome, Alaska. They believe lack of grazing space is destined to wipe out the cattle industry of America and that the reindeer is to become the principal source of meat. Those who have tasted reindeer meat testify to its good flavor and terderness. The reindeer farm in Alaska comprises 600,000 acres, the deer grazing on vegetation that grows under the ice and snow. Note the sprinkling of white and spotted animals. They are a great help to the herders in spotting the herd.

MORGAN'S SON TO WED BOSTON GIRL

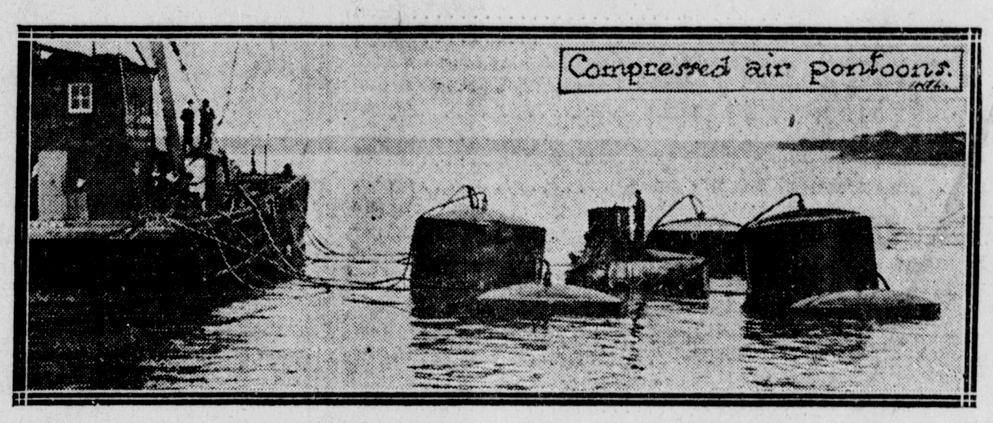

The engagement has been announced in Boston, of Miss Catherine Adams, descendant of two Presidents of the United States, to Henry S. Morgan, Harvard man and son of J. P. Morgan international banker, of New York. Miss Adams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams 2nd. The wedding will take place June 26.

BEAUTY IS GRANTED ANNULMENT

Although beautiful Mrs. Frances Ruth Wilson Levy Whitely was in Rome, Italy, at the time the case came up in the San Francisco courts she was granted an annulment decree against Theodore Levy, San Francisco lawyer, whom she had tried to divorce. Her attorney showed that her divorce from Levy had not become final when she married Frank West Whitely, a wealthy Englishman, at Manila. When a mere girl, she had a narrow escape from blindness as a result of the action of a jealous youth, Van Camp Redfern, in throwing vitriol into her face.

SHIP SALVAGED BY COMPRESSED AIR

A great step forward in submarine salvage was successfully demonstrated off Long Island when the Coast Guard cutter Scally, which had been converted from a 500-ton Eagle boat, was raised from a depth of 60 feet by means of compressed air pontoons. A submarine tractor was lowered alongside the 200-foot vessel, and holes were drilled in the hull. Then tanks, filled with water, were attached. The water was blown out by compressed air and the vessel easily lifted to the surface.

UNDERWOOD AND M'ADOO MAY SEEK NOMINATION

According to reports from Washington, United States Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, will toss his hat into the ring for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency when he returns from his European tour, some time next month. It is declared he has already sounded out the political leaders in New York, New Jersey Massachusetts and Illinois. His chief opponent for the nomination it is reported, will be William Gibbs McAdoo, now of California son in law of Woodrow Wilson.

Rosenblatt is the noted tenor who has consistently rejected large offers to appear on the operatic stage.

NEW MEMBER OF CEDARVILLE FACULTY BEING ANNOUNCED

An unusual combination of abilities and qualifications will be represented on the faculty of Cedarville College next year when John A. Talcott, M. A., N. A. O., recently of Bishop College, Marshall, Texas comes to Cedarville school as professor of music and director of athletes.

In his combined capacity at Cedarville Talcott will have charge of the school's music department, an important part of the curricula, and will also coach varsity football, basketball and baseball, as well as have charge of gymnasium work and other physical culture for both men and women at the institution.

Although he is a native of Ohio, Professor Talcott has been in Texas 15 years as Director of the department of music at Bishop College. He pursued his course in pipe organ in England under Sir George Martin and is also an honor graduate of Georgia Tech. He served overseas 14 months during the war and was decorated for special service as an air pilot.

Recommendations of Talcott's work at Bishop College included the following: "He has organized the musical work in a most satisfactory way to bring about system and large results. There is an esprit de corps which has developed that is one of the elements of efficiency in the management of a department. The actual results in chorus and solo work give to the college a musical standing in the forefront of such work among southern schools. He develops in his students a real taste and love for the best music.

As director of athletics at Bishop College, Coach Talcott has also had success. Bishop won five intercollegiate games with the best teams of Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas last fall, tying the champion team of the Southern Conference 3-3 in the sixth game. This team was the only eleven to score against Bishop, Bishop rolling up 177 points to three for opponents. During his five years at Bishop he has developed three Southwestern State Championship teams and his record in other sports is just as enviable, according to reports at Cedarville. At the Greene County school he will give two hours a week to the men and two hours a week to the women students.

Mr. Talcott will visit Cedarville soon for a few days and will spend the remainder of the summer in Cleveland where he will take the organ of Dr. Clemans while the latter takes charge of the summer session at the University of California.

MANY ARE SEEKING TEACHING POSITIONS

County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Aultman went to Columbus Tuesday to attend the June meeting of the State Board of School Examiners when the board is expected to handle the largest number of applications in its history.

Between 1000 and 2,000 applications are expected to pass through the hands of board members during the three days they will be in session, it is said. The unusual number, according to Superintendent Aultman, arises from the desire of the teachers to have their certificates granted or renewed before the law rquiring additional normal training becomes effective July 1.

The Greene County Board of Education has filed the largest number of applicants ever submitted in the County at the last meeting in May and at the next meeting the first Saturday in July, another large number is expected.

Girl to Win Honors at Harvard

Miss K H Shea

Miss Katherine H. Shea, Charlestown (Massachusetts) girl, Chief Marshal of the Commencement Day exercises at Barnard College, Columbia University, New York, and an honor graduate, will enter Harvard School of Engineering this Fall to continue her courses in electrical engineering. She has been awarded a scholarship. Miss Shea plans to win a Harvard degree and then go to Oxford University, England, for a two-year post graduate course.

ENROLLMENT OVER 400

Superintendent C. A. Waltz of the Xenia public schools, and Miss Ednore McDaniel, are members of the summer school faculty at Wilmington College, the session of which began Monday of this week. The faculty numbers 30 experts, and the enrollment will pass the 400 mark, it is stated. Students from all over southern Ohio are spending the summer in study at Wilmington.

YEGG BLOWS SAFE AT DEWINE MILL: ESCAPES WITH $26 IN LOOT

While Sheriff Morris Sharp and Pennsylvania Detective Cliff Latimer searched the mill of The DeWine Milling Company at Old Town and Colef Deputy Sheriff John Baughn kept watch on the front of the building shortly after 12 o'clock Tuesday morning, an unknown yegg ascaped from a rear basement door, forded the mill race and made away with $26 in bills for his pains in blowing the office safe into bits.

Within a few minutes after the safe blower had touched off a charge of dynamite that completely wrecked the safe and office, and before dust from the explosion had settled, the officers were at the building. Leaving Deputy Baughn to guard the front of the building Sheriff Sharp and Detective Latimer entered the front door and searched the premises. In the meantime the yegg made his way to the basement, broke a lock on the door next the mill race and escaped. Officers say he was forced to ford the stream to get away.

The officers remained at the scene until nearly six o'clock Tuesday morning conducting a search of the neighborhood without results. Home of two suspects were entered and a search made for wet clothes as well as the money, as the officers believed the yegg would have been drenched in escaping from the building. Sheriff Sharp was still working on several clues which authorities hoped would result in an arrest Tuesday or Wednesday.

The yegg was discovered in the act of preparing to blow the safe by Elmer Linkhart, engineer at the municipal water department pumping station in the rear of the mill. Linkhart was relieved by H. P. Howard of this city, at midnight and passed the mill on his way home. Seeing the man in the office preparing the charge he returned to the pumping station and notified Howard, who called the sheriff. The yegg completed his work a few minutes before the arrival of the officers.

The burglar used wool from the mill to pack around the safe and deaden the sound. Because of the unnecessarily heavy charge used, which completely wrecked the safe, officers believe the job was that of an amateur. Authorities recovered a section of the fuse and think dynamite was used instead of nitroglycerine. When seen by Linkhart the yegg is said to have been knocking the knob from the safe preparing to insert the dynamite in the crevice. The blast blew the safe to bits, wrecked the office and tore a huge hole in the floor. Silver money was found imbedded in the wall with bits of iron.

The yegg overlooked a quantity of silver money, taking only the bills, which a check made by B. A. DeWine mill manager, Tuesday, showed to amount to only $26. hecks and other papers kept in the safe were unharmed, it is said. The charge had not yet been set off when officers were notified and Sheriff Sharp and Deputy Baughn picked up Detective Latimer to accompany them at Police Headquarters. Had there been two more officers on the scene, so that the mill could have been surrounded, officers believe the yegg could have been captured. The yegg is believed to have been familiar with the interior of the building, thus evading the officers, who entered the mill while he made his way to the basement door.

Officers were alarmed while in the mill by a noise overhead and in the belief that it was the hiding safeblower, they fired several times to frighten him into submission. An investigation showed the noise was made by a cat.

FIVE CHANGES ARE TO BE MADE IN ANTIOCH FACULTY

Five changes are to be made in the Antioch faculty for next year's session, according to an announcement made from the office of Dean Philip C. Nash, Tuesday.

Dr. Henry Harap of New York City will assume the directorship of the Antioch Academy, filling the position left vacant by Prof. Ralph Boothby, who leaves to become principal of the Park School in Cleveland.

Miss Georgia Lingafelt, recently associate editor of the Continent, a Chicago religious publication, will arrive the first of July to assume charge of the newly organized department of journalism. She will also be engaged in publicity work for the college. Miss Lingafelt is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Austin Edison, a member of this year's graduating class has been appointed instructor in the department of chemistry.

Dr. Rosslyn Earp, an Englishman, has been engaged to fill the position of director of hygience, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. George Paul. Dr. Paul has not announced his plans for the future.

Another position has been created as the instructor in domestic science. No one has yet been appointed to fill this place.

RED CROSS CLASSES ARE NOW COMPLETED

Two classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, have been completed in Greene County, this month, under the auspices of the Greene County Chapter of the American Rer Cross. One class was in Antioch College, instructed by Miss Field, college nurse, and enrolled with the National Red Cross, and one in the East End of Xenia, instructed by Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass. The latter class was organized by the Red Cross, upon the request of several women who wanted the class. Part of the expense of the latter course was met by the Red Cross in order not to bar anyone interested. The courses are along the line of work of the Red Cross—teaching people to help themselves.

That the work has been appreciated is shown in notes received by the Red Cross office from some of the fifteen women enrolled.

A mother of several little children wrote: "I have certainly received a great benefit from this class. It has been the best $2 invested in my life. I have gotten more out of this $2 than any other money I have invested."

The following helpful letters have come in from Reader Friends:

Mrs. G. H. P.—"One of your readers recently requested a recipe for the following: Crumb Cookies Two eggs, one cup of brown sugar, three-fourths of a cup of shortening, one-half cup of molasses, two cups of crumbs, one teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, cloves, allspice and soda mixed together, one-half cup sour milk. Mix soft and drop onto a buttered cookie pan. Sprinkle sugar on each cookie and also add to each one a small piece of jelly(on top) before baking."

I. M. E.—"If your reader, I. M. H will try ironing her silk petticoat with a rather hot iron, the rustle which bothers her will be less. Or he can wash it in water as warm as the hands can stand, and then use the iron when the petticoat is almost dry. I have had quite good success this way."

Nina—"I saw in my paper a reader's request for Cornbread made without Eggs. Here is mine: Two cups cornmeal, one cup flour, one cup sour milk, one cup sweet milk, one teaspoon of soda (disolved in the sour milk) one teaspoon of salt and one-half tablespoon of butter (or butter and lard mixed.) Have batter quite stiff. I add the melted shortening last. Bake as any cornbread. I was interested in your article, 'How to Make a Three-piece Dresser Set,' but would like to have you state again the size of the middle piece."

Answer—The middle piece of the Dresser Set should be 14 inches square.

Mrs. F. N.—"You made a mistake in the recipe for cleaning wallpaper. The correct formula is: One large cup of flour, one-half cup of water, one tablespoon each of salt and kerosene two tablespoons each of vinegar and ammonia, all cooked together (till flour is cooked and it is as thick as dough.)"

Answer—Thank you, Reader Friend. It was good of you to take the trouble to write again.

Business Girl—"I have ten hand-carved ivory beads—quite large. What other kind of beads could I combine with them to make a pretty chain."

Answer—I would not combine any other beads with them. I would string them on fine silk cording (black) dividing the beads evenly around the long loop of cord and holding each bead in place with knots. At the bottom have a dangle of short knotted cordends and three of the white beads.

Styles BY LENORE

An old favorite with a new wrinkle is dotted Swiss muslin in snowy white ground with a shower of violet, gold and deep rose dots. And a clever way to gain the maximum effect from such a pretty material is the way illustrated in the sketch. It is copied from a design in a Fifth Avenue shop.

The model is cut on straight chemise lines, and in the tiny frills which form the straight-across neckline—by the way, which may be depended on as smart throughout the summer—are repeated alternately the three colors, violet, gold and rose, of the dots. These colors are accentuated also in the small flats roses which help to make the belt so effective, and in the scallopped bound edges of the ticred skirt.

THE MISFIT

By Jane Phleps

HORACE MAKES NATALIE A "STRANGER"

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

Natalie Horton, secretary to a prominent lawyer, marries Horace Crandell an aristocratic bachelor and client of her employer. Crandell, who has promised to live on with his widowed mother, takes his wife to their home.

Natalie is young, lovely, a clever business girl, but with absolutely no idea of life as lived in her husband's estabishment. Mrs. Crandell, who resents her son's marriage, makes Natalie feel she is a "misfit;" the latter also learns that her mother-in-law would have welcomed Beverly Rainsford, a society girl, as Horace's wife.

Craig Harper, a friend of Crandell's takes an interest in Natalie and the two are seen out together.

A burglary brings about a situation occasioning Horace's demand that Natalie apologize to his mother. Natalie refuses to do so.

Chaptter XXV

Natalie sat quietly for a few moments thinking. She was right. She had been flouted, ignored. There was no reason why she should apologize to that proud woman. She prepared for bed. Before she was quite ready, Horace came in, went to his closet, his chiffonier and without speaking went out, his arms laden with clothing. Then in the guest room over her head, Natalie heard him moving about for a time, then silence.

"He thinks he can frighten me," she said to herself, her lip quivering, "but I won't give in— won't!"

At breakfast Mrs. Crandell did not appear. As far as actions went, seating her, and so forth, Horace treated his wife with the same scrupulous politeness he always had, but not once did he address her, and when she spoke he made no response. He left without his usual kiss.

For two days Mrs. Crandell did not appear. Natalie knew the doctor had visited her, that Mrs. Baxter and Beverly Rainsford had called, but neither had asked for her. Nothing had been heard of the burglar, she learned from her maid, although the search was still on. Horace had had his clothes taken to the guest room and had not entered their rooms since the night she refused to apologize to his mother. He had kept an unbroken silence and Natalie thought bitterly that she was, indeed, being treated as a "stranger."

When Mrs. Crandell resumed her place at the table she was evidently unaware of Natalie's presence, although her stiff good morning was but little colder than usual, and the only pretense of notice she gave her.

Natalie's cheeks crimsoned but she held her head high. She was Horace's wife. She had as much right in his home as his mother. They shouldn't compel her to show her distress—for she was distressed. But all the foolish pride in her whole make-up rebelled at the treatment she was accorded.

Beverly Rainsford lunched with them, and was polite, speaking to Natalie occasionally. But she made no mention of the street air said nothing to Natalie about assisting.

As Natalie thought of this in her room, her face hardened. She had wanted to do something at this fair, have some part in it. Of course either Mrs. Crandell or Horace must have intimated to Beverly that they didn't wish her to, or perhaps had told of her refusal to apologize. Natalie hardly believed that, however, as both Horace and his mother were intolerant of discussing family affairs with outsiders.

If Natalie had been lonely before, her position now was almost unbearable. No one but servants to talk to, and they too well trained to answer save in monosyllables. Natalie drove her car, was arrested for speeding, paid her fine, and was exploited in the papers. She knew it would anger Horace, that he hated newspaper notoriety of any sort, yet he did not mention it. The paper had spoken of her as "the beautiful wife of Horace Crandell" and it was hardly likely it had escaped his notice. Natalie wished he would speak of it, quarrel with her—anything but this stony silence, this determined ignoring of her.

Desperately lonely, the girl thought of Craig Harper. She had'nt seen him for some time. It would be good to chat with someone, someone who understood her, liked her. He did not disapprove of everything she did. She had been to see Etta, but the sight of her happiness, her contentment even in poverty made Natalie even more disgruntled with her own position.

She called Craig at his club, found him in and only too glad to hear from her.

"I'm going to drive out into the country for luncheon," she told him, when he asked what she was doing. He smiled at her naive reply. She might as well have asked him bluntly to go with her.

"Don't you want a passenger?" he asked. 'I haven't a thing to do and we will make a day of it."

'I intended to! So if you really want to go 'll stop at the club for you in half an hour."

Harper started to tell her it would be better if he met her somewhere, then changed his mind and said:

"I'll be on the lookout so you won't be kept waiting."

UNO CABINET FACING CRISIS OF EXISTENCE

erlin Feels Government Is About to Tumble Into Oblivion

Berlin, June 19.—Between the in-eased terrorism of the French in ie Ruhr on the one hand and the ompiete collapse of the mark, the uno government is approaching the isis of its life.

While a reichstag committee was onsidering the drop of the mark to 0,000 to the dollar last April the ourse was quoting the mark at about 50,000 to the dollar.

Should Great Britain, as it is feared, emain passive towards France, or ven back up the latter in the slight-st degree in her demand for the ropping of passive resistance by ermany the Cuno cabinet is almost ertain to tumble. In this case the overnment would be confronted with apitulation, or a radical government.

Germany's hope, that was pinned n Great Britain, has sunk almost to ero. Premier Baldwin's Oxford ap-eal to the United States is inter-reted here as something like the back against the wall" statement of 918, and is taken as an indication hat England alone is helpless against rance. It is also taken to indicate hat unless the United States joins ngland, the latter will be unable to revent chaos in Europe.

It is reported that the British gov-rnment, through the German ambas-ador at London, has notified Berlin hat it believes that if Germany or-lers a cessation of passive resistance rance will evacuate the Ruhr.

It is understood that France has in-licated its willingness, if Germany will drop its passive resistance, to onsent to an "invisible occupation" hrough a commission of control, un-der protection of a skeleton military rganization.

The British cabinet meeting tomor-ow is expected to consider the reply of Premier Poincare to the British uestionnaire in connection with rep-rations. The British foreign office xpresses hope of an eleventh-hour greement.

PREUS IS NOMINATED FOR SENATE SEAT

St. Paul, Minn., June 19.—Governor J. A. Preus early today was conceded to have won the Republican nomination for the seat in the U. S. Senate made vacant by the death of Senator Knute Nelson. Oscar Hallum, former justice of the State Supreme Court, was his chief opponent.

Magnus Johnson, was believed to have captured the Farmer-Labor party nomination over Dr. L. A. Fritsche.

State Senator James A. Carley was practically unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

FIRST ZINNIA BLOOM REPORTED IN CITY

Mrs. Guerney McCoy, of Hill Street, is the owner of the first flowering zinnias of the season. Two blossoms were found in her yard, Saturday and are the earliest reported.

O. C. Custer, 854 North King Street, reports a zinnia in bloom this season, the plant flowering Sunday, June 17. The flower is of the Zebra variety.

Mr. Custer is inviting anyone interested in the flowers to visit his garden.

Mrs. Lulu Eavey, of South Detroit Street, reported to the Garden Club that she has a zinnia that is almost in full bloom and will be entirely open by Wednesday. The bloom which is a light pink, is the forerunner of a quantity of blossoms which Mrs. Eavey will have in her back yard in a short time as other zinnia plants are almost in bloom. The seeds were planted early in the spring and have been thriving splendidly.

REACH PORT WITH LIQUOR SEALED

New York, June 19.—Two more liners, the Lafayette from Havre and the Cameronia from Glasgow, came into port with their liquors sealed. They are believed to have been the last of the liners that sailed early enough to have the privilege of sealing their rum; all following vessels will have to park their liquors somewhere beyond the three mile limit. All boats that sailed before midnight June 9, had the sealing right.

LOCAL DOCTORS WILL BE GUESTS

The members will meet at 12 o'clock, and motor to the Cliffs, where they will spend the afternoon.

JUDGE RENDERS JUDGMENT OF SOLOMON

Mrs Julia Warzna — Veona Felicia Warzna

Judge Joseph David, in Municipal Court, in Chicago, was forced to render the judgment of Solomon when he awarded to Mrs. Julia Warzna the custody of 5-ye... Veona Felicia Warzna and pronounced her the real mother of the child. Mrs. Nicholas Lenz, who also claimed the child, collapsed. Mrs. Pribylski claimed the child was born to her in Poland in 1918. Mrs. Lenz asserted the child was born to her in Chicago as the result of a Caesarian operation the same year. Judge David asserted there had been much perjury in the case.

FAMOUS STEAMSHIP LEVIATHAN. BEGINS TRIAL TRIP TUESDAY

Reconditioned After Notable War Experience, Giant Vessel Starts Momentous Excursion Carrying 600 Passengers Into Southern Waters

Boston, June 19—Straining at her anchor in Boston harbor, the famous steamship Leviathan, described as the "most stupendous and beautiful thing afloat," awaited the command of Captain Hartley today to begin her momentous trial trip. The sailing hour was set for two o'clock this afternoon. The cruise will be in southern waters and will last for five or six days, returning to New York on June 24.

Reconditioned after her notable war experience at a cost of $8,000,000 the former German liner Vaterland, is carrying 600 government officials, members of Congress, marine engineers and newspapermen on a trial trip that is expected to prove this floating palace is in shape to begin her career in the trans-Atlantic trade as the queen of the American merchant marine.

While critics of the trial trip have described it as a "million dollar joy ride." Albert D. Lasker, retiring chairman of the United States Shipping Board, declared that only $13,000 would be expended on the trip in addition to $109,000 stipulated in the reconditioning contract for making such a trip to demonstrate the fitness of the ship, for regular passenger service. The trial trip has been a storm center of attack by the Democratic national committee which described it a "wasteful expenditure of the taxpayers' money." On the other hand the so-called "watchdog of the treasury" Rep. Martin B. Madden of Illinois, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, warmly approved the trip.

"A trial trip is necessary to determine the ship's fitness to carry passengers in regular transatlantic service," declared Madden, who was among the first of the notables to board the vessel.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Democrat of Florida, said he was making the trip to gather information to present to Congress next December.

Built in Hamburg, the Vaterland was commissioned in 1914 as the largest passenger vessel afloat. She had made only three voyages across the Atlantic under the German flag when she was interned in August, 1914 in New York. When the United States entered the war in 1917 the government seized the vessel and used her as a troop ship. The vessel was rechristened Leviathan and during her service as a transport she carried 110,591 soldiers to France, breaking the world's troop transportation record.

With the end of the war Congress decided the Leviathan should be reconditioned and put into the American passenger service. The work was done at Newport News, Va. and thousands of workmen were employed in refitting the boat.

The Leviathan will begin her regular passenger service between New York, Cherbourg and Southampton on July 14.

ODD FELLOWS OPEN SESSION TUESDAY IN MIDDLETOWN, O.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle Welcomes the Visitors

Middletown, O., June 19.—The ninety first session of the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., of Ohio, opened here Monday with a reception followed by a minstrel entertainment at the Gordon Theatre, delegates of the lodge and ladies of the Rebekah assembly having previously registered at headquarters at the Hotel Manchester.

City Manager Kenyon Riddle welcomed the visitors, presenting them with a large gold key to the city, at the same time expressing confidence in turning the city over to an organization founded upon the ideals of Odd Fellowism, friendship, truth and love.

In behalf of the 79th district, Hope Lodge and adjacent territory, Municipal Judge W. H. Todhunter, himself one of the oldest Odd Fellows in the city, spoke, during his welcome urging the delegates to hasten the hour when there would be no such organization as the Rebekahs, but men and women united under the one standard of Odd Fellowship.

For the delegates, Loren E. Sauers, grand master of Ohio, gave the response, while Mrs. Virginia Peele president of the Ohio Rebekah assembly, accepted most gracefully the welcome extended through Mrs. Alvin Wehr of the Middletown assembly.

Following the reception the convention enjoyed a minstrel performance staged by local talent, most of the performers members of the I. O. O. F. Lodge.

The program will continue inclusive of Friday, business sessions to occupy the morning hours, while numerous entertainment features have been announced for the afternoon and evening.

KOPF QUITS BASEBALL

Cincinnati, June 19.—Larry Kopf, Boston National shortstop, arrived in Cincinnati and announced that he had quit the Braves and would retire from baseball. He said he notified the Boston management two weeks ago that he intended to retire from baseball permanently to devote his time to his oil and gasoline station here.

BILLION DOLLAR SAVING MADE BY GOVERNMENT

Harding Announces Example Set By United States for the World

Washington, June 19.—A billion dollar saving of government revenues during the current fiscal year ending June 30, was announced by President Harding and Director of the Budget Lord, at a meeting of the business organization of the government.

An anticipated deficit of $837,000,000 faced a year ago in ordinary governmental expenditures has been turned into a $200,000,000 surplus of receipts over expenditures. There has been an actual reduction of approximately $256,000,000 in the expenditures of the departments and independent establishments.

Appropriations for the year 1924, are $734,000,000 which is $234,000,000 less than appropriated for 1923 and $7,825,000 less than asked for in the budget submitted to congress last December.

A revised estimate of ordinary receipts for 1924 is $3,638,000,000. Expenditures, including $507,000,000 for public debt reduction, are estimated at $3,668,000,000, indicating a deficit of $30,000,000. President Harding today declared that this deficit not only must be wiped out, but the coming year must close with a substantial balance on the other side of the ledger.

For the fiscal year 1925, on which budget estimates soon will be compiled, the president calls for a reduction of estimates of $126,000,000 under the 1924 appropriations. He set $1,700,000,000 as the maximum of expenditures exclusive of reduction of an interest on the public debt and requirements of the postoffice department. The postoffice department had a deficit of $64,000,000 in 1922, which has been reduced this year to approximately $31,000,000 and for 1924 it is estimated will not exceed $1,000,000.

In the practice of this economy in governmental administration the United States is setting an example for the world, the president declared, saying: "In the sober reflections of the people whom we serve, the honest and zealous endeavor to reduce the cost of government, which has an intimate relationship with the cost of living, is sure to win abiding favor. We are doing more than serving ourselves, more than helping our own people. We are proving to the world that the way to recover from war excesses is to halt the outflow and build anew with exacting watchfulness in all public outlay."

PLAN ELIMINATION OF UNDESIRABLES

Washington, June 19.—A proposal for the elimination of undesirables from the tide of new American citizenship, through the compulsory "enrollment" of all aliens, will be carried to the American people for approval this fall by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, he told International News Service today.

The secretary proposes a system of registration by which every alien in the country would be added to the roll until they become citizens. Davis will explain his plan on a nationwide tour either late this summer or early in the fall. On the trip he will visit every state and speak in every large city from coast to coast.

FORMER OFFICER WILL GET TERM

Tiffin, June 19.—Police officials today said they would commit to the Toledo workhouse, Charles Bare, former Seneca County, sheriff and at present constable in a justice's court here, who pleaded guilty before Mayor Unger to a bootlegging charge.

Bare was fined $500 which he said he could not pay.

The affidavit aaginst Bare was filed by George Schmidutz, who resigned from the Tiffin police force under charges of drunkenness while on duty. Bare sold the liquor to Schmidutz while the latter was in uniform, he said.

COUPLE CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

Cincinnati, June 19.—Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson, Route 2, of Batavia, O., son-in-law and daughter of Lines Pangburn, Civil war veteran, held at Dayton, O., on charges of having conspired to loot the National Soldiers' Home there are under charges before Thomas M. Gregory, U. S. Commissioner.

They are alleged by federal officials to have received and concealed blankets, sheets, pillow cases, clothing and medicine, which Pangburn is charged with having stolen and sent by parcel post from the Home, where he is a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson pleaded not guilty when arraigned last night. They were held under $1,000 bond each for hearing June 22.

STRUCK BY TRUCK

Columbus, June 19.—Daniel McNeill, 43, formerly of Cincinnati, was killed when struck by a truck while he was at work on the new storage dam here.

BROKERS ARE SENT TO JAIL BY COURT

New York, June 19.—Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee, partners in the brokerage firm of E. M. Fuller and Company, who pleaded guilty of conducting a "bucket shop" after failing for $5,000,000 were today sentenced by Judge Nott in general sessions court to serve not less than one year and three months nor more than four years in Sing Sing prison.

Executive Defends His Tribute to Dog

Governor Baxter.

Governor Percival P. Baxter, of Maine, "started something" when he ordered the American flag over the Capitol, at Portland, lowered to half-mast when his Irish setter, "Garry," died. State and local patriotic organiaztions have attacked the Executive for his action.

TO APPRAISE REAL ESTATE OF COUNTY PRIOR TO SALE

Auditors of Greene, Clark, Madison and Champaign Counties will meet Friday to appraise the real estate and personal property of the district tuberculosis hospital at Springfield.

The meeting and appraisal will be the first step in the dissolution of the institution as a four-county proposition and the calling of the meeting is assurance that all counties outside of Clark countty have agreed to sell their share in the institution to Clark County. Greene County Commissioners voted to sell this county's share several weeks ago.

The proposed sale is the outgrowth of an investigation of the hospital property which indicated it was in need of many improvements and repairs. Commissioners of the outside counties expressed themselves as unwilling to spend further money on the institution in the belief they are not getting sufficient value for the money already spent for upkeep.

Eagles Lodges in the four counties attempted to create sentiment in favor of separate bond issues in each county to finance the institution and make the improvements possible. Instead Greene and Champaign Counties considered the occasion timely to withdraw from the four-county proposition. Madison County Commissioners withheld a decision until they learned the sentiment of the people and a resolution recently enacted expressed their willingness to come into the sale agreement.

The property will be appraised Friday and on the basis of this appraisal Clark County will purchase the interests of the three other counties in the institution. These counties will then have to care for their tubercular patients in some other manner or by paying for their upkeep at the district institution.

GIRL LEAPS INTO RIVER, IS RESCUED

Cincinnati, June 19—Physicians and nurses at Speers Hospital, Dayton, Ky., today tried to draw from Miss Alberta Berry the motive that impelled her to leap into the Ohio river last evening, but the girl who is 22 years old merely moans: "I don't know! I don't know!"

Miss Berry mounted the rail of the Central bridge, besitated for a moment then stepped off plunging feet first toward the Ohio. Before she had reached the water a cannoe was headed toward her manned by Thomas Hoskins, Sr. deputy game warden, who rescued her.

FIRM FILES SCHEDULE

Cincinnati, June 19—Liabilities of $1,705,259.61 and assets of $704,949.53 were listed late yesterday in a schedule filed by Beazell and Chatfield, bankrupt brokerage house. Of the assets listed almost $530,000 took the form of promissory notes. William H. Chatfield, then a state senator, was the Republican nominee for the lieutenant governorship in 1922.

SHOCK CAUSES DEATH

Cleveland, June 19—Kenneth Bailey, 45, of Akron, is dead today his death resulting last night from shock when a Cleveland-Akron limited on which he was a passenger collided with a truck in Broadway. Bailey was a former employee of Brookside Zoo, being the keeper of "Minnie" the elephant purchased with the pennies of Cleveland school children.

The driver of the truck, Gus Wodke, was cut and bruised.

FIFTY THOUSAND ARE HOMELESS AS VOLCANO ERUPTION CONTINUES

Italian City Appears Doomed—Deep Trenches Dug About Linguaglossa To Divert River of Flowing Lava.

Catania, Italy, June 19—Flow of lava from Mount Etna has begun to diminish slightly, it was reported from Linguaglossa at noon.

London, June 19—Activity of Mount Etna again increased this afternoon, said a news agency dispatch received from Rome at 2 o'clock. The lava has reached railroads a few hundred yards from Linguaglossa.

Rome, June 19—With 50,000 persons homeless from the violent eruption of Mount Etna, and the flow of molten lava continuing the ancient volcano Mount Vesuvius, which destroyed Pompeii on the bay of Naples began showing increased activity today.

The town of Giarre at the base of Mount Etna, with a population of 17,000 now appears to be doomed unless saved by a miracle.

Deep trenches have been dug around the town of Linguaglossa to divert the river of flowing lava. This town was reported destroyed yesterday but the report proved untrue.

The outpouring lava from the flaming throat of Mount Etna is advancing at the rate of 25 yards an hour, annihilating vineyards and hamlets in its path.

King Victor Emanuel and the minister of public works in the Mussolini cabinet have left for Sicily to assist in relief work. Troops are on the scene assisting the people to evacuate the danger zone.

Earth rumblings and loud explosions accompany the eruption of Etna. Owing to the slow movement of the lava there have been no fatalities (according to information from Messina at noon) but the chief fears now arise from the possibility of earthquake.

Etna is a raging furnace. As the red hot lava streams slowly from the vast creator huge volumes of black smoke and cinders belch skyward obscuring the sun. The noise is like a bombardment of artillery.

Tragic scenes mark the countryside about the burning mountain. After the lava flow, which threatened to overwhelm Linguaglossa, had been diverted to a nearby valley, the people gathered in the public square offering up prayers to the town's patron saint—St. Egisio.

Despite the apparent safety of Linguaglossa the authorities warned the people to depart and most of them did so. The few that remained reinforced by hundreds of refugees from the nearby countryside, held religious services in the public square amidst clouds of dust and cinders from the volcano.

While the homless were put at 50,000 early in the day, some reportts this afternoon said the number might rise to 100,000 before night.

Constant appeals for help are coming out of the stricken zone. Fascisti military police were rushed into the threatened area to help the people escape and to aid them in driving out their livestock.

All the Sicilian roads, deep with dust beneath the hot summer sun, are choked with caravans. Families have become separated. Little children were lost from their mothers. Flocks of horses, cows and goats were led along by stragglers. The old and infirm were carried in carts.

Near the base of the volcano semi-darkness prevailed owing to the clouds of smoke which clouded the sun. Crowds of fleeing men and women wandered from the roads and lost themselves in the fields.

It is impossible to estimate the financial loss, but it will run into millions of dollars.

Messina, which was destroyed by earthquake 14 years ago, is filling upwith fugitives. The local organization of fascisti is cooperating the government in providing food and shelter.

FLEET OF SEAPLANES TO FIGHT RUM SMUGGLERS OFF THE COAST

Government's Step In War On Liquor Announced Officially Tuesday—Plan to be Put Into Operation Soon After July 1.

Washington, June 19.—Mobilization of a big fleet of seaplanes to battle rum smugglers off the Atlantic coast will be the government's step in the war on rum, it was learned officially today.

The President and his cabinet, it is known, favor such an expedient as less expensive and perhaps more effective than other means which have been suggested in recent parleys over the smuggling problem.

The plan may be put into practical operation soon after the new fiscal year begins July 1. At that time commissioner Roy A. Haynes, head of the government's rum fighting forces, will have a large lump sum appropriation upon which to draw for "emergency purposes." If this is not sufficient officials are in favor of dong everything needed to equip a powerful air fleet and let congress later make up any deficiency incurred.

Balked at use of the United States navy and disappointed over the inability of the coast guard to cope with the smugglers, Prohibition officials said the air fleet scheme was the "best bet." It was at first considered as a means of dealing only with the situation in New York and New Jersey waters. But as the merits of the scheme were further weighed, it was considered most feasible of any suggestions yet made to drive liquor smugglers off their bases all along the entire Atlantic coast line.

ATTEND REVIVAL

Members of the Eleazer Church and Sunday School, attended the all-day meeting at the "Gypsy Smith" tent at Kingman, Sunday. The party included Mr. and Mrs. S. S. PROBING DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Akron, O., June 19.—Police are investigating theories of murder and suicide following the deaths of Mrs. Julia Hammond, colored, and Arthur Hammond, colored, here. Mrs. Hammond had been shot six times with a revolver. Hammond was found, the top of his head blown off, from a shotgun discharge. John Abercrombie, 41, a brother of the dead woman, is being held for investigation.

AMUNDSEN ABANDONS FLIGHT

Christiania, June 19.—The proposed flight of 2,000 miles across the North Pole from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, has been abandoned by Captain Raold Amundsen, it was announced by the Norwegian minister of defense. In a dispatch to his brother, Amundsen said his trial flights had proved unsatisfactory and that he would not attempt the non-stop trip across the polar basin as he had planned.

SUBDUED BY TEAR BOMB

Cleveland, June 19.—Use of a tear bomb brought about the capture of a man giving his name as Steve Borsuk, who fortified himself in his home on the west side with a double-barreled shotgun and stood off a squad of police and three firemen after he had terrorized the neighborhood by threatening to make use of the gun. Borsuk was taken to probate court for mental examination.

CLOTHIERS ROBBED

Toledo, June 19.—Cracksmen blew two safes and looted a third in the R. R. Baker company clothing store here and escaped with $15,000 in cash and $10,000 in liberty bonds. Hundreds of men's suits were piled about the safes to deaden the sound of the blasts.

BOXING PROMOTER GOES TO JAIL

Cleveland, June 19.—Charles Marotta, proprietor of the Marotta Athletic club and promoter of boxing matches here, was sentenced to nine months in the workhouse and fined $1,000 when he pleaded guilty to an indictment charging conspiracy to violate national prohibition laws.

TWO BOYS DROWN

Cleveland, June 19.—Carson Emery French, 16, of East Cleveland and Joseph Zaller, 18, lost their lives by drowning while swimming in Fisher's pond, South Euclid. Robert Bowman, aged 10, was rescued and revived by artificial respiration.

BUSINESS NOTICE

Xenia Chapter No. 36, R. A. M. Stated Convocation Thursday, June 21, 1923, 7.30 o'clock p. m. Visitors welcome. By order of L. H. Whiteman, H P. 6-19

OVER $1,400 FOR RECREATIONAL WORK RAISED IN XENIA

E. M. Woodward, chairman of the temporary organization of the Xenia Community Recreation Association was made permanent president when officers and board members were named and a financial report showing that nearly $1,500 had been subscribed for playground work here was made at the meeting in the McKinley School Auditorium Monday night.

Many of the temporary officers and board members of the original organization, who had been carrying the work on so far, were re-named on the premanent organization. Serving with Mr. Woodward as president, will be Mrs. P. H. Flynn, vice president T. H. Zell, secretary and C. E. Arbogust, treasurer.

These officers with Miss Rose Berry, Mrs. Lois Olcott and the Rev. W. H. Tilford compose the executive board of the permanent organization. The 25 people who will compose the board of directors are: Mrs. Louis Allison, C. E Arbogust, Mrs A. G. Harrison Baker, J. R. Beacham, Miss Rose Berry, E. S. Davidson, Mrs. P. H. Flynn, S. O. Hale, Miss Carrie Hypes, C. K. Horen, Harry Jay, Dr. A. B. Kester, Miss Harriet McCarty, S. M. McKay, V. G. Martin, L. M. Nisbet, Mrs. Lois Olcott, J. W. Santmyer, Miss Margaret E. Steele, Mrs. J. J. Stout, E. S. Taliaferro, the Rev. W. H. Tilford, Mrs. M L. Wolf, E. M. Woodward and T. H. Zell.

Permanent committee chairmen were named, and these chairmen will confer with President Woodward in selecting the members of their committees. The chairmen named are as follows: Drama, Mrs. Lois Olcott; Finance, C E. Arbogust; Music, Dr. A B. Kester and Program, the Rev. W. H. Tilford.

In connection with turning over the temporary organization into a permanent recreation association, with the purpose of providing playgrouns, supervised play and adult entertainment and parks for Xenia, Mr. Woodward presented the following report of the activities of the temporary organization:

"With the main object:—playgrounds for children in all sections of the city always before us, we have been planning along lines of opportunities for a happy use of the spare time of grown-us.

"Our hardest job so far has been the necessity to overcome indifference and build up a working organization. This has put the work behind on the program fully two weeks.

"It has been necessary to secure play sites, build diamonds, ianos, orchestras, leaders, conveyances, train playground leaders, secure finances and carry on a program of activities as follows: the formation of an organization with a temporary board and committees; the holding of a mass meeting and community sing; the giving of community sing on the Court House square the last two Saturday nights with an estimated attendance of over a thousand. Two sings have also been held on the Willow Tree Playground.

"We have started an industrial base ball league. Plans have been formed for a junior and senior tennis league. We have already opened the Willow Tree playground, the Orient Hill playground and secured the use of the old Work House property, plans for the development of which are being rapidly perfected. Mr. Santmyer has courteously donated the use of his property for another playground and it is hoped within the next few weeks that all the children of Xenia may have playground opportunities on which playgrounds are trained sympathetic supervisors.

"The work in the East End is well worth your careful consideration. Their plans and program paralleling that of the white people. Organizing and working independent of any help of the white people financially and with no personal assistance except that of Mrs. James Wilson and Mr. Young.

The report of the Rev. W. H. Tilford chairman of the program committee, was similar to that of Mr. Woodward, telling of the programs carried out so far. H. E. Kiernan of the drama committee gave a brief report of the work of that committee in the absence of Mrs. Lois Olcott, chairman.

C. E. Arbogust, chairman of the finance committee and treasurer of the Association, presented the financial report, showing that so far $1,421 has been collected to carry on the program for playgrounds. The donors were announced as follows:

Mrs. A. G. Harrison Baker, $600; The R. A. Kelly Company$ 200; Miss Emma C. King, $100; The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, $50; Miss Sarah B. Hagar, $50; George E. Hudson, $25; J. J. Xenia Chapter No. 36, R. A. M. Stated Convocation Thursday, June 21, 1923, 7.30 o'clock p. m. Visitors welcome. By order of L. H. Whiteman, H P. 6-19

E. M. Woodward, chairman of the temporary organization of the Xenia Community Recreation Association was made permanent president when officers and board members were named and a financial report showing that nearly $1,500 had been subscribed for playground work here was made at the meeting in the McKinley School Auditorium Monday night.

Many of the temporary officers and board members of the original organization, who had been carrying the work on so far, were re-named on the premanent organization. Serving with Mr. Woodward as president, will be Mrs. P. H. Flynn, vice president T. H. Zell, secretary and C. E. Arbogust, treasurer.

These officers with Miss Rose Berry, Mrs. Lois Olcott and the Rev. W. H. Tilford compose the executive board of the permanent organization. The 25 people who will compose the board of directors are: Mrs. Louis Allison, C. E Arbogust, Mrs A. G. Harrison Baker, J. R. Beacham, Miss Rose Berry, E. S. Davidson, Mrs. P. H. Flynn, S. O. Hale, Miss Carrie Hypes, C. K. Horen, Harry Jay, Dr. A. B. Kester, Miss Harriet McCarty, S. M. McKay, V. G. Martin, L. M. Nisbet, Mrs. Lois Olcott, J. W. Santmyer, Miss Margaret E. Steele, Mrs. J. J. Stout, E. S. Taliaferro, the Rev. W. H. Tilford, Mrs. M L. Wolf, E. M. Woodward and T. H. Zell.

Permanent committee chairmen were named, and these chairmen will confer with President Woodward in selecting the members of their committees. The chairmen named are as follows: Drama. Mrs. Lois Olcott; Finance, C E. Arbogust; Music, Dr. A B. Kester and Program, the Rev. W. H. Tilford.

In connection with turning over the temporary organization into a permanent recreation association, with the purpose of providing playgrouns, supervised play and adult entertainment and parks for Xenia, Mr. Woodward presented the following report of the activities of the temporary organization:

"With the main object:—playgrounds for children in all sections of the city always before us, we have been planning along lines of opportunities for a happy use of the spare time of grown-us.

"Our hardest job so far has been the necessity to overcome indifference and build up a working organization. This has put the work behind on the program fully two weeks.

"It has been necessary to secure play sites, build diamonds, ianos, orchestras, leaders, conveyances, train playground leaders, secure finances and carry on a program of activities as follows: the formation of an organization with a temporary board and committees; the holding of a mass meeting and community sing: the giving of community sing on the Court House square the last two Saturday nights with an estimated attendance of over a thousand. Two sings have also been held on the Willow Tree Playground.

"We have started an industrial base ball league. Plans have been formed for a junior and senior tennis league. We have already opened the Willow Tree playground, the Orient Hill playground and secured the use of the old Work House property, plans for the development of which are being rapidly perfected. Mr. Santmyer has courteously donated the use of his property for another playground and it is hoped within the next few weeks that all the children of Xenia may have playground opportunities on which playgrounds are trained sympathetic supervisors.

"The work in the East End is well worth your careful consideration. Their plans and program paralleling that of the white people. Organizing and working independent of any help of the white people financially and with no personal assistance except that of Mrs. James Wilson and Mr. Young.

The report of the Rev. W. H. Tilford chairman of the program committee, was similar to that of Mr. Woodward, telling of the programs carried out so far. H. E. Kiernan of the drama committee gave a brief report of the work of that committee in the absence of Mrs. Lois Olcott, chairman.

C. E. Arbogust, chairman of the finance committee and treasurer of the Association, presented the financial report, showing that so far $1,421 has been collected to carry on the program for playgrounds. The donors were announced as follows:

Mrs. A. G. Harrison Baker, $600; The R. A. Kelly Company$ 200; Miss Emma C. King, $100; The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, $50; Miss Sarah B. Hagar, $50; George E. Hudson, $25; J. J. LEARN U. S. ANTHEM, IS HARDING'S PLEA.

Failure of the vast majority of Americans to know the words of the "Star Spangled Banner," and the spectacle of a crowd resorting to mumbling when the national anthem is being sung, were deplored by President Harding. The President's opinion of those who have not the time or inclination to memorize Key's famous lines was expressed in a Flag Day speech opening a conference of the Americanization Commission of the American Legion, called to draft a code of regulations for the proper use of the American ensign in decorations.

The President said:

"While you are adopting a code whereby the citizenship of America may show due reverence to the flag. I would like you to go a step farther and insist upon Americans being able to sing the "Star Spangled Banner."

"I have noted audiences singing—I should say trying to sing—the American national air, but, outside of about 2 per cent, they are only mumbling or pretending to sing. I would like to have the spirit of America show itself in song. I hope you will insist upon some suitable provision to that end in your code."

"I can understand how the flag means considerably more to the service men of the republic than it does to the ordinary citizen," the President said, "but I cannot understand why the soldier or the sailor or the service man in national defense owes any more to the flag than anybody else in the United States of America, and so everything we do to bring the flag into proper consideration by the citizens of the republic is entirely commendable and deserves to be cordially indorsed.

"I do not suppose there is any law to punish the President should he not stand at salute when the colors pass, but I would not be happy in my official capacity if I did not do it. I know I am going to feel the same when I salute the colors in an unofficial capacity, and I would like to say that every salutation makes my consecration to the country and the flag a little more secure.

"I have seen the flag raised abroad and I have wondered where I like it best. It is a beautiful picture in patriotic procession and pageant. It is an inspiration when it is unfurled over the American school house as a guarantee of the liberties and opportunities of the youth of America. It is a wonderful picture over American official quarters abroad to the American who is hungering to see something of home and to feel his attachment somewhat emphasized. It has been a beautiful picture as the emblem of brotherhood and sympathy when it has been unfurled from the flagstaff of relief ships which have carried American bounty as an expression of our generosity to the suffering peoples of the world.

"But somehow I have concluded recently that about the dearest picture of the flag—we shall not see it long—is when it is presented or carried by the veterans of the Civil War. You know had it not been for them there would not be forty-eight stars glittering in the field of blue. I like to say, therefore, that somehow the flag appeals to me more strongly when it is presented by those who made this now invincible union a possibility."

EMPLOYMENT GAIN ALL OVER COUNTRY.

Continued gains in employment over the United States is shown in statistics compiled by the Department of Labor, which reported that in many of the major industries the demand for both common and skilled labor is far greater than the supply. A survey of conditions in May disclosed that fewer men were out of employment than at any previous time in the last twelve months. Employment gained in the cities and industries reported by 0.39 per cent over April.

Pronounced shortage of farm labor exists in every section of the country, with resulting curtailment of activities, it being impossible for farmers to obtain sufficient labor to harvest seasonal crops. Unprecedented migration of Negro labor from the South has added to the hardship of the Southern farmer.

A tremendous demand is reported for labor in the steel industry. Steel companies, the report said, are increasing the number of their employes rapidly, and activities in the metal and mining regions continue to expand, partitcularly in sections of Colorado, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho and Montana.

In Oregon, Washington and Idaho employment is increasing in logging operations, with the demand outstripping the supply. Coal mining, however, showed a slight falling off owing to seasonal curtailments.

Building construction is progressing all over the country on an exceptionally large scale, with a consequent labor shortage in many of the larger cities.

A BID FOR WEALTH.

The act of the Florida Legislature in submitting a constitutional amendment prohibiting the assessment of an inheritance or income tax is creating a great deal of comment, and the press of the country is generally agreed that it will concentrate the wealth of the country in Florida.

The Wall Street Journal was one of the first papers to comment at length on the subject, and predicts that all the millionaires will establish their residence in Florida, and warns us, "Unless Florida is careful of its constitutional amendments it will soon find itself crowded and overwhelmed."

Capital has been driven out of many localities by excessive taxation, law-makers forgetting that if not too highly taxed itself capital goes to the creation of taxable property, thus adding to the wealth of the state. The Press-Herald of Portland, Maine, sees the matter from the proper viewpoint and expresses regret that Main has practically driven capital from the state. This paper says:

The way Florida's legislature sees it the more rich people it can induce to come to that state as citizens or residents the faster the taxable property will increase. It is anticipated that all of the rich people who are attracted to Florida by its promise not to place a tax on incomes will erect costly homes there; will invest their money in Florida enterprises and make the state absolutely independent of outside capital.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Charles G.—M. F.—To prevent the skin from tanning, cover it with a light coating of cream, dusted over with powder, and wear a hat during the time of exposure to direct rays of the sun. Witch hazel or plain cold water will relieve the burning sensation after exposure to the sun.

Tanning is Nature's protection, so too much bleaching of the skin is not advisable during the summer season.

A simple bleach, such as an application of buttermilk or lemon juice serves to good purpose.

Belle Meade—Miss A.—Ice Rubs close the pores and tone the skin, so they should be used after you have cleansed the skin either through creams or hot water. A spring tonic is will clear your complexion of its sallowness, or you may accomplish the same result by eating a salad once each day made from dandelion leaves.

May T.—Your account of the way you made the cream shows that you did not follow the directions in the formula. All liquids are mixed together, which includes the benzoin. The rose water is needed in forming the cream.

Patient—If you use a bath brush on your neck and upper arms, it will clear the skin of the deposits which you call "goose flesh." Turkish baths will relieve such a condition very soon.

Anxious Mother—As hair grows from the roots, frequent cutting could not "stunt its growth," in fact it aids as the scalp has less work to do in order to keep the hair in condition. Your little girls will be benefitted in every way if you continue to keep their hair bobbed, while they are growing up.

Mrs. B. L. D.—The "green soap" mentioned in the formula for treating enlarged pores is one that the druggists make from potash. It is used only in chronic cases of acne and then only when the skin is not very sensitive as it is irritating. Some of this irritation may be averted however, if the skin is bathed with toilet water following the use of the soap. Witch hazel will help close the pores if used regularly. Since your skin is so sensitive use only fine soaps as castile and close the pores with a simple lotion or an ice rub or the witch hazel as suggested.

A. M.—Helene—Dotty G. S.—A. M.—To reduce portions of the body where a general reduction is not desired, exercise the parts that have become abnormal. It is for the hips and thighs, take the rotary movements, describing a circle as nearly as possible with the upper part of the body from the waistline swing to the right as far as possible and repeat by swinging toward the left.

For the calves of the leg, stand in your bare feet and then rise on the toes, hold an instant and lower again to rest. Repeat ten times.

For the arms and shoulders, roll arms around in circles, or do any of the other dumb bell mvements. For the very stout neck, roll head around the shoulders just in circles as described above for the waistline movements.

MISSIS—The word "dago," invariably applied to Italians, was originally applied to people of Spanish parentage born in Louisiana. Sailors use "dago" indiscriminately when speaking of Italians, Spaniards, Portuguesem and, quite often, Frenchmen. The word is supposed to be derived from "hidalgo" a title bestowed upon a Spaniard of minor nobility.

DEXGER—Yes, rabbits are claimed to have exceptional eyesight. This, coupled with extraordinary hearing, enables them almost to be able to see behind them as well as in front.

WHEN THINGS ARE DARKEST

Few of us ever approach superlative bravery.

To give an example of one who did: After the betrayers of Jesus had led Him out into the outskirts of the city where they were to crucify Him, their cruelty knew no bounds. They spat upon Him because he wouldn't answer their impudent questions. They laughed at Him as He fell white and bleeding, from the exertion of carrying His own cross. They even took His clothes from Him, and gambled among themselves to find out who should have them.

Then they lifted Him up roughly and nailed Him to the cross that He had carried so uncomplainingly.

And this was the only thing that He had to say in answer: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

That was superlative bravery.

It doesn't take any courage to say unkind things—to hurt people's feelings. Anyone can do that. But it takes rare courage to answer such unthinking with love and understanding.

It takes a great deal of very fine courage and bravery to live this life. I have little patience with those who look upon their existence here as something trivial and without consequence.

It is impossible to take out of life what you fail to put into it.

Certainly there can be no delightful reaction to beauty unless there is feeling for it in your heart in the first place. Life is very rough, very strange, at times. There are days when we look out from our window and cannot see the sun—nothing but darkness. And there are nights when we look up into the blue sky, wanting our favorite star—and every star is covered up with a black blanket.

When things look darkest, determine to be the bravest!

RURAL MAIL BOXES ARE BEING PAINTED

Answering the appeal of Postmaster General New made two months ago through Ohio Postmasters, the majority of Greene County farmers are painting their mail boxes, rural mail carriers out of the Xenia office declare.

"Rural mail boxes grace or disgrace the country roads, depending upon their state of preservation," the Postmaster General said in his appeal. "Paint covers a multitude of sins and although a rusty mail box or a rheumatic post is not necessarily a sin, it is certainly not a thing of beauty.

Since the order, many farmers have complied and it is expected that the painting program will be further encouraged by the department. White is the color particularly recommended because it is becoming in any natural surroundings and the painting is in line with the present policy of eliminating unsightly things along the roads. Farmers are urged to wield the brush on the post or supports as well as on the box.

According to the instructions of Postmaster General New the name of the head of each family should be printed or stenciled on each box in letters at least one inch high. Painting of the mail boxes and the Department's order requiring that mail boxes be located on the right side of the roads has been a great factor in the climination of traffic accidents on the highways and in facilitating the carrier's duties according to local officials.

FOR ITCHING TORTURE

Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation, and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rashes, Blackheads, in most cases give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 35c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins.

CLIFTON

Miss Olive Coe left Saturday for Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, where she will take a six week's course of study.

Mrs. William Bond and daughter are visiting near Piketon, Ohio.

Mr. George Edler was the guest of Mrs. Boolman on Sunday. His wife and daughter spent the past week as her guest.

Mrs. Arthur Swaby will entertain the 2nd Auxiliary at her home on the Springfield road, Wednesday afternoon, June 20th. Subject of study "The Mormons."

Mrs. Walter B. Corry and son Gene arrived home Sunday from a trip to Akron and Wooster, Ohio.

A large balloon was seen over this place Friday flying at a great height, east then south.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Clark, Mrs. Amanda Yeazell and Louise Clark were in Canada last week on the Dahl Campbell excursion.

Rev. Dwight McCune of Springfield, 2nd U. P. Church, preached the preparatory sermon here Saturday. Six new members were received by the U. P. Church at their communion Sabbath.

Charles Marphant, Wilmer McCarty and guest from Indiana, motored to the Reservoir for a few days fishing last Saturday.

The Greene County Ministerial Association held a picnic Monday afternoon at the Cliffs. Supper was enjoyed by the members.

Miss Mary Webster and Mr. Ralph Rife are delegates to the Y. P. C. U. convention held in 1st U. P. Church of Springfield Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

An ice cream and strawberry social will be given on the lawn of the U. P. Church, Tuesday evening.

The funeral of Mrs. Harry Wilson was conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. N. Colman Monday morning, at her late home. Mrs. Wilson was much beloved, a true and sincere friend, a faithful and interested worker in the Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church.

STOP BACKACHE, KIDNEY TROUBLE

Backache, Rheumuatic Pains, dull headache tired feeling, too frequent urination, discolored or strong odor are symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. "I was always having a backache which caused me great suffering," writes Mrs. Feber, Medford, Mass. "Could not sleep and at times I could not stand straight. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and found relief." Stop backache, kidney and bladder troubles with Foley Kidney Pills. Sayre & Hemphill. adv

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, which I haven't done for several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. G. W. HALL, 539 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

Soft Corns

and Corns between toes soon disappear. Red Top Callous Plaster gives instant relief, is gentle in action, soothing, sure, safe. Gently absorbs hard corns, Callouses and Bunions. The Kinox medication does it. Contains no acids to make bad matters worse.

RED TOP KINOX CALLOUS PLASTER

ESSENTIAL - as the wick to a candle

Everyone knows that the wick of a candle must go clear through to the bottom, or else part of the candle will remain unburned. A complete chain of boiling points is the wick in good gasoline that burns up all the fuel and allows it to give maximum power.

To perform efficiently and economically, gasoline must have a low initial boiling point. This makes it vaporize readily — start the motor quickly. It must also have a connecting series of gradually rising boiling points to provide smooth, fast acceleration. And it must have the proper body of higher boiling points to give the heat that means full power and big mileage.

Red Crown Gasoline has just such a complete chain of boiling points and you can always get it anywhere in Ohio, at any one of the 450 Standard Service Stations or from any Red Crown dealer.

5 Grades Polarine Motor Oils

Polarine Motor Oils are supplied in five grades to insure correct lubrication of every type of motor. Polarine Transmission Lubricants and Greases provide perfect lubrication of all transmission units. And the Polarine Chart of Recommendations is a quick, sure guide to the proper grade for every part of your car.

See the Polarine chart at any Standard Service Stations—or at any store or garage where you find the Polarine sign.

SPECIAL-SIX TOURING $1275

Wherever motor cars are discussed, and that's nearly everywhere, somebody is sure to remark—"That Studebaker Special-Six is a regular automobile."

The Studebaker Special-Six has been on the market for four years. Each year has seen added to it such refinements and improvements as time has made possible. Today there are more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand in every-day service and we don't believe there's a dissatisfied owner.

The name was selected because comparative tests against all kinds of cars made this car stand out as something special and apart from the ordinary run of automobiles. It requires special merit to warrant calling any car a special—and if the value isn't special the car quickly fades away.

Count the "Special-Sixes" that have appeared since the arrival of the Studebaker Special-Six. That's the proof of the value of the original Special-Six.

FORD'S STATEMENT BEING DISCUSSED

Washington, June 19.—Henry Ford's announcement that he is not a candidate for the presidency was not taken seriously here by either Republicans or Democrats.

The open season for such statements is on and will continue until the pre-convention campaigns get under way next spring, the politicians say. Mr. Ford is quoted as having said:

"I have no desire to be president of the United States. I am too much occupied with my own affairs to become the next president, and I do not intend to run. All this talk you hear about my name being associated with the presidency is newspaper talk. There is nothing in it."

Trained politicians discount the Ford statement as having but little bearing on the situation. They say the Ford boom has been erected around an issue—not a personality.

Ford also paid his respects to the Ku Klux Klan. "I have never had any collusion with the klan," he said. "I have never belonged to any secret organization and never intend to. I think the Ku Klux Klan is very un-American. If I joined any organization it would be one that would not require me to wear a mask."

Ford declared the railroads are being managed poorly and that business conditions in America at the present time were never better.

GERMANY ACCUSES FRANCE IN NOTE

Washington, June 19.—Acts of the French in the Ruhr valley "render illusory all efforts of the German government to tranquilize the population," it is charged in a note of protest presented to the state department by German Ambassador Wiedfeldt. "The responsibility for any consequences rests alone with the French government," the note concludes.

The note parallels similar protests presented to European governments other than those of France and Belgium, the two nations participating in the seizure of the Ruhr area. It recites the "steps taken by the German government in the spirit of sincere desire to come to the negotiations on the offer of May 2 and of June 1," and points out that these offers "have not prevented the French government from continuing the reign of terror against the population in the most stringent forms."

FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Columbus, June 19.—Ohio Teachers' Reading circle, which recommends and distributes books to Ohio teachers and pupils, has just completed 40 years of service. The circle purchases books in quantities and sells them to teachers at lower prices and annually selects a number of books to be read by teachers of the state.

TENDLER WINS

Philadelphia, June 19.—Lew Tendler, 137, of this city, leading lightweight contender, gave Pal Moran of New Orleans, 133, one of the worst trimmings of his career here. Tendler was the leader in every one of the eight rounds. Moran's ability to take punishment alone let him stay the full limit.

LOCAL STUDENT IS GIVEN SCHOLARSHIP

Horace Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Smith, 519 North Galloway Street, received distinctive honors, when he was one of five selected from all over the United States to receive a four year scholarship to Swarthmore University, Swarthmore, Pa.

The scholarship amounts to $500 a year for four years and is one of the largest undergraduate scholarships given in the country. Young Smith is a graduate of Central High School with the 1923 class and was interested in the scholarship offer through Principal Harper C. Pendry, who attended Swarthmore.

The awards were made on a basis of general qualifications and the Xenia boy won on the strength of his academic record in school, his participation in general school activities, his ability as an athlete and his general reputation in the community. He has not only mantained a high scholastic standard in high school but was considered one of the best physically developed boys in the school. He was a member of the championship winning football teams in 1921 and 1922 and was a first team basketball player in his senior year and participated in class athletis. He also interested himself in other school activities and was considered one of the most popular students at Central High. He will enter Swartmore next fall.

PIMPLES COVERED CHILD'S HEAD

Small, Red and Inflamed. Hair Fell Out. Cuticura Healed.

"When my boy was three months old his head was covered with small, red pimples that were inflamed. Finally the pimples formed sore eruptions that scaled over, and his hair all fell out around the affected parts. Different remedies were tried but without success. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in two months he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. E. Houy, North Gate Rd., Riverside, Illinois.

EDUCATION BOARDS MUST SUBMIT TO STATE INDEBTEDNESS

Blanks on which all boards of education in the county must submit to the Auditor of State a statement of all outstanding indebtedness in the district as of July 1, 1923, will be mailed out to boards by County Auditor R. O. Wead, as soon as they are received frm Columbus, according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools.

The forms showing outstanding indebtedness will have to be filled out in compliance with House Bill No. 599, passed by the last General Assembly to become effective July 26 and requires compliance on or before July 15. As the law does not become effective until after the time it specifies for compliance, there is a question as to whether compliance can be enforced.

From the reports received the Auditor of State is required to certify to each board the amount of its net floating indebtedness, whereupon each board having a net indebtedness of more than $400 is required to issue bonds or notes in the total sum of said indebtedness.

Purpose of House Bill No. 599 and House Bill No. 20 is to provide sufficient revenues from current taxes for the operation of the schools and require that expenditures be held within the money provided by taxation.

The bills provide that every school district must issue bonds for its net floating indebtedness. School boards must issue bonds or notes to take care of this floating indebtedness this year and after this year no money can be borrowed against the August settlement to pay expenses of the schools in June and prior thereto. The provision means that each district will start off new without current debts and is required in the future to operate upon the tax money received in August and February without any additional borrowing

House Bill No. 20 repeals the Smith Law limitations and imposes a new system of limitations. By it all interior limitations are removed and a new limitation of 17 mills within municipal limits imposed; sinking fund and interest levies which are now outside the 15 mill limit by vote or otherwise remain outside the new limits; sinking fund and interest levies on bonds issued after January 1, 1923 are entirely outside the limitations; sinking fund and interest levies which are not outside the ten mill limit but inside the 15 mill limit are inside the new 14 to 17 mill limit but not included in five mill minimum and may be voted outside by vote of the people at any November election; extra levies outside all limitations may be voted at any November election in any amount for not more than four years. Extra levies already voted remain in effect outside the new limitations. Extra levies of taxes must be approved by 50 per cent of those voting at a November election. The issue of bonds with the extra tax levy necessary to pay the interest and principal of the same must be approved, by 60 per cent of those voting on the proposition at a November election; a special tax charter may be submitted increasing for ten years the outside limitations in any taxing district; the levy for the Boards'share of the Teachers' Retirement allowance has not been modified.

The bill abolishes the distinction between tuition and contingent funds and simply requires that a complete budget be submitted to the Budget Commission. Every school district is entitled, both inside and outside of muncipal limits to five mills for current expenses and this amount cannot be cut down by the Budget Commission. The law applies to the year 1923 and budgets should be sumitted as soon as the forms are received.

WOMEN GOLFERS START MEET

Columbus June 19—Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, present holder of the Ohio women's golf championship title, is to compete in the state championship tournament for women today. She made the lowest score in the qualifying rounds yesterday, an 85.

Medal scores by qualifiers include Miss Clara Krauter, Youngstown, 100; Mrs. J. E. Rodgers, Dayton, 101; Mrs C. H. Simms, Dayton, 113; Mrs R. H. Grant, Dayton, 117; Mrs. Ralph Davis, Newark, 121; Mrs. H. E Carley, Dayton, 116; Mrs. H W. Brown, Zanesville, 115; Mrs. W. D. Schultz, Zanesville, 112; Miss Eleanor Hill, East Liverpool, 122; Miss Mollie Hamill, Newark, 105; Miss Sybil Burton, Zanesville, 118; Mrs. R. D. Bunn, Dayton, 119; Mrs. D. J. Knoderar, Dayton, 143; Mrs. Walter B. Hill, East Liverpool, 131; Mrs. A. H. Nevious, Dayton, 133; Mrs. W. B. Runyan, Dayton, 115 and Mrs. Edward Grimm, Dayton, 144.

The first rounds of match play are on today, with the contestants divided into four flights, according to their qualifying scores. The tournament is being held at the Columbus Country Club, four miles east of here.

VETERAN FLY LOSES TITLE

New York, June 19.—Jimmy Wilde, dethroned flyweight champion of the world, was preparing today to sail for his home in England while Pancho Villa, his brown-skinned conqueror from the Philippines, was receiving congratulations on his decisive victory last night at the Polo Grounds.

"It was the first time any man in my own class ever knocked me out," Wilde said today with a rueful smile. "Maybe that means I'm getting old. I don't know. He beat me fairly. I could not hurt him and every time he hit me I felt it. Villa is a great little fighter and will make a worthy champion."

Mrs. Wilde, who watched her husband's game battle for six rounds but who left just before the knockout, was philosophical.

"He had to lose some time," she said.

Wilde was knocked out in the seventh round.

As a contest it was one sided. At no time did Wilde have a chance. The vaunted cleverness, the mighty hitting ability upon which the reputation of Wilde has been based, was missng. All the veteran had was superlative gameness which made him carry on despite seven rounds of the most merciless trouncing ever given a champion.

His downfall was tragic. He had absolutely no chance of winning after the second round, his seconds refusing to throw in the towel.

The end came with a startling suddenness Wilde had been beaten to a pulp when the seventh round started. A deep cut in his right cheek from a left hander by Villa smeared his face with blood. His both eyes were closed and he was pawing away by instinct attempting to find his opponent when suddenly pitched forward on his face unconscious. His seconds carried him to his corner where they worked desperately to bring him to. Villa, carried away by his wonderful victory, rushed over to the Welshman's corner and kissed him.

Medway Collegians Are Next

The Xenia Bayliffs after having been, swamped by the Cincinnati Movers Sunday will attempt to make a comeback this week end at Washington Park, when their opponents will be the Medway Collegians.

The Collegians are a speedy bunch and just recently handed the Chero-Colas of Dayton a setback. It will be remembered by local fans that it was the popmakers that defeated the Bayliffs in one of the best games that has yet been staged here. The Medway bunch has not dropped a game so far this season and news from their camp is that they intend adding the locals to their long list of victims.

Manager Roy Bayliff requests that every player be at Washington Park Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock as there will be an important meeting and practice. Bayliff has not decided what lineup he will use this game.

KELLYS LEADING LEAGUE

Standings computed for the second week of the Industrial League schedule shows that the Kelly Cords representing The R. A. Kelly Company are still leading the race with two games won and none lost. The Penn. R. R. Team also has a perfect percentage with one game won and none lost, the second game not having been finished.

The Hooven and Allison Bluehearts dropped back in the percentage after losing to the Kellys and are now tied with the Xenia Shoes with one game won and one lost each. The H. and A. Commercials and the H. and A. Binders are in the cellar neither having won a game. The standing:

CHURCHES TO RAISE MEMORIAL FUND FOR LATE PASTOR

The work of raising funds for a memorial to the late Dr. William A. Wiant, at Peking University, Peking, China, will be started by the Methodist Churches of the Springfield district whoch are behind the project, this week.

Dr. Wiant, who was superintendent of the Methodist churches in the Springfield district, for a number of years, died recently at his home in Springfield.

Dr. G. W. Osmun, pastor of the High Street Methodist Church, Springfield, will serve as chairman of the committee in charge of raising funds for the memorial.

Other members of the committee in charge of the project are Dr. Hough Houston, who succeeded Dr. Wiant, and K. A. Wee, of New York City, who was a fellow student o the Rev. Mr. Wiant at Ohio Wesleyan University.

The plan to erect a suitable memorial to Dr. Wiant, is a part of the building program at the Peking University, and was suggested when Dr. William Hung of the history department of the university, spoke at the Central Methodist church in Springfield recently.

The university is now situated on inadequate temporary buildings in Peking, and is compelled to refuse scores of students annually through lack of space to accomodate them. The Wiant Memorial will be erected on the new site of the university.

The Rev. Bliss Wiant, son of the Rev. Mr. Wiant will go to Peking next fall to accept a position at the Peking university as instructor in music. The university is now seeking $1,000,000 of which more than $400,000 has been rasied. to carry out its building program on the new site outside the city of Peking.

Women In Welfare Service

SERVICE WITH FIGHTING MEN—Article Four.

American women at home and abroad contributed incalculably to welfare work. Beginning with activities at home very soon they were in Europe and then at the front. Mr. Vincent Astor was in charge of the first canteen for soldiers, in Brest, as early as July, 1917. Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris that month. At left is one of the home activities—"Y" workers aiding the departing soldiers; Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Above is Mrs. Vincent Astor, standing in center, with back to canteen wall. At right, a woman motion-picture operator.

LEGEND and history furnish endless stories of the active assistance of women to fighting men in time of war. But history turns her face away and hesitates to record the acts of women camp followers of other days. Let us pass them by with the comment that they were as grave a danger to any fighting force as were the soldiers under the enemy's banner.

It was not until the Crimean war that Florence Nightingale, in spite of the officers, instituted in the British army a relief and welfare work for soldiers which resulted in a permanent organization. The medical service had broken down. The death rate in certain barracks in England was twice that in the surrounding civil population. The "Angel of the Crimea" landed in Scutari in November, 1854, with a corps of 38 nurses and in spite of opposition cleaned house. We think of her as a nurse but she did other things. She opened reading and writing rooms, arranged for soldiers remittances home, overcame the influence of camp followers. The title of her report, "Notes Affecting the Health, Efficiency and Hospital Administration of the British Army," shows her to have been not only the forerunner of the Red Cross nurse but of the woman welfare worker as well.

WOMEN NEEDED IN WELFARE WORK

Long before the United States entered the war, her leaders had been impressed by the reports coming from France and England of the work done by women to assist the soldier, directly and indirectly. They not only acted as volunteer nurses and ambulance drivers but women of high and low degree went into ordnance factories, thus freeing men for the combatant forces and for back of the lines; they baked bread, worked in quartermaster's stores, acted as couriers, electrical operators and clerical workers, and took part in all forms of activities except the actual fighting.

When in the United States the men began to move toward the cantonments it at once became evident that American women, who could serve otherwise would not be content with war time activities at home, with handing out good cheer to men on troop trains or with nursing, important as these were. They were not going to permit their men to go from home to camp and thence to a foreign land without taking with them every possible home environment.

Any attempt to extend home influences and home comforts to soldiers in camp and field not only must be supported by the woman at home but necessitated her co-operation in the planning and directing of the undertaking and her presence and participation in its actual execution. When individual women began to seek admission into these undertakings the new problems of welfare work with the American army, there was some hesitance but the ultimate result was proof that a complete welfare program required women, not as substitutes for men, but as active participants.

Mrs. Vincent Astor offered her services to the Y. M. C. A. and, arriving in France in July, 1917, was put in charge of the first canteen for sailors at Brest. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris in July.

Conferences between British and American leaders who knew of the work of women in the huts in England resulted in a cable to New York: "Unanimous opinion that qualified women for canteen work are necessary." These women had to be strong, sensible, with a knowledge of life, good "mixers," loyal to military and Association rule, thorough sympathy with the Association's social and religious aims and having an interest in spiritual things. The general plan was that the women should work at the ports, with the Service of Supply, and in the training areas.

What did the women do in France? The first recruits were intended as canteen workers, but can[illegible]n service came to cover the multitude of activities, which any woman of mature judgment would undertake for any group of young men away from home. First of all they brought to homesick men in foreign land, doing a grinding arduous work, a touch of real home atmosphere. They sang, sewed on buttons, danced with the men, read aloud, played the piano, led religious services, but in all things they represented to the soldiers the women at home.

But it must be recognized that the work of the women was often most laborious and exhausting. With many a division, the serving of hot drinks and sandwiches to troops entraining or detraining, was largely performed by them. Forty-eight hours without intermission, on a railroad station platform, in heavy rain, preparing and passing out hot chocolate, was an experience many women knew.

Hospitals and dressing stations, when the wounded were pouring in, found women working at top speed for hours at a stretch, assisting surgeons, bathing and cleasing patients, preparing food and drinks, ministering to every need within their power. Even the chauffeur's job was theirs at times.

In the advance zone the women workers experienced the hardships of the troops, serving in towns where nightly bombing or shelling made it necessary for all hands to go out into the fields to sleep. They were billeted in unheated rooms, and at times had to forage for their food.

The women from America were ably supported in England, France and Italy by the women of the American colonies in all these countries. A most significant development of the war was the proof that the right kind of woman may live in military camps not only without harm to herself but with measureless benefit to the men. The soldiers gave the uttermost respect and perfect loyalty and comradeship. It was a new thing in welfare work and the result was good. Now and then, the old time hard-boiled professional soldier may attempt a sneer at coddling recruits, but if war must be the women of America will see to it that their soldiers are given every incentive toward decent living.

This experience has been gained for future service with soldiers and sailors. Its application to civil and industrial life is obvious. The right kind of women can render a service of measureless good wherever groups of men are gathered away from home influence.

The unsightly dump on Dayton Avenue, that for so long has disfigured that busy approach to the city, is to be entirely wiped off the map Friday and an attractive, folwer decorated playground is to take its place, according to plans just perfected by the Xenia Garden Club and the Community Recreation Association. If plans go through as announced the old dump is to pass out to the strains of lively music and with Xenia's leading citizens serving as pall bearers for the rubbish that has made the place for so long an eyesore to the twon.

According to the plans of the committee members of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and all other men in the city who will donate their services, will don overalls and wide-brimmed straw hats and march in a body to the dump where they will spend the afternoon removing and covering the rubbish and transforming the place into a beauty spot. The men will meet at the Kelly Cordage Company at one o'clock and will march to the dump with a band at the head of the column of volunteer workers. A band and an orchestra will furnish music throughout the afternoon.

The women of the Garden Club will be on hands with sandwiches and cold lemonade which will be served to the workers by courtes of the Garden Club.

Construction companies, and persons having teams, are asked to donate the use of them for the afternoon. Two car loads of dirt have been donated and teams and drags will be needed to get the ground cleared and levelled off. The committee also asks the use of tractors for the afternoon. The city sanitary force was busy Tuesday burning all loose rubbish and getting the spot in readiness for the work Friday.

After the work is completed the Garden Club will plant a hedge of shrubbry entirely around the plot which will be used as a playground. The program is meeting with enthusiastic response and it is believed there will be a large number of interested citizens on hand Friday afternoon to help in this project for making Xenia more sanitary and beautiful.

A picture will be taken of the volunteer squad before it leaves the Kelly Cordage Company. Every man in the city who can give some time to the work Friday afternoon is urged to do so and to help rid Xenia of its unsanitary and unsightly places.

FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Columbus, June 19.—Ohio Teachers' Reading circle, which recommends and distributes books to Ohio teachers and pupils, has just completed 40 years of service. The circle purchases books in quantities and sells them to teachers at lower prices and annually selects a number of books to be read by teachers of the state.

EDUCATION BOARDS MUST SUBMIT TO STATE INDEBTEDNESS

Blanks on which all boards of education in the county must submit to the Auditor of State a statement of all outstanding indebtedness in the district as of July 1, 1923, will be mailed out to boards by County Auditor R. O. Wead, as soon as they are received frm Columbus, according to H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools.

The forms showing outstanding indebtedness will have to be filled out in compliance with House Bill No. 599, passed by the last General Assembly to become effective July 26 and requires compliance on or before July 15. As the law does not become effective until after the time it specifies for compliance, there is a question as to whether compliance can be enforced.

From the reports received the Auditor of State is required to certify to each board the amount of its net floating indebtedness, whereupon each board having a net indebtedness of more than $400 is required to issue bonds or notes in the total sum of said indebtedness.

Purpose of House Bill No. 599 and House Bill No. 20 is to provide sufficient revenues from current taxes for the operation of the schools and require that expenditures be held within the money provided by taxation.

The bills provide that every school district must issue bonds for its net floating indebtedness. School boards must issue bonds or notes to take care of this floating indebtedness this year and after this year no money can be borrowed against the August settlement to pay expenses of the schools in June and prior thereto. The provision means that each district will start off new without current debts and is required in the future to operate upon the tax money received in August and February without any additional borrowing.

House Bill No. 20 repeals the Smith Law limitations and imposes a new system of limitations. By it all interior limitations are removed and a new limitation of 17 mills within municipal limits imposed; sinking fund and interest levies which are now outside the 15 mill limit by vote or otherwise remain outside the new limits; sinking fund and interest levies on bonds issued after January 1, 1923 are entirely outside the limitations; sinking fund and interest levies which are not outside the ten mill limit but inside the 15 mill limit are inside the new 14 to 17 mill limit but not included in five mill minimum and may be voted outside by vote of the people at any November election; extra levies outside all limitations may be voted at any November election in any amount for not more than four years. Extra levies already voted remain in effect outside the new limitations. Extra levies of taxes must be approved by 50 per cent of those voting at a November election. The issue of bonds with the extra tax levy necessary to pay the interest and principal of the same must be approved, by 60 per cent of those voting on the proposition at a November election; a special tax charter may be submitted increasing for ten years the outside limitations in any taxing district; the levy for the Boards' share of the Teachers' Retirement allowance has not been modified.

The bill abolishes the distinction between tuition and contingent funds and simply requires that a complete budget be submitted to the Budget Commission. Every school district is entitled, both inside and outside of muncipal limits to five mills for current expenses and this amount cannot be cut down by the Budget Commission. The law applies to the year 1923 and budgets should be sumitted as soon as the forms are received.

WOMEN GOLFERS START MEET

Columbus June 19—Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, present holder of the Ohio women's golf championship title, is to compete in the state championship tournament for women today. She made the lowest score in the qualifying rounds yesterday, an 85.

Medal scores by qualifiers include Miss Clara Krauter, Youngstown, 100; Mrs. J. E. Rodgers, Dayton, 101; Mrs C. H. Simms, Dayton, 113; Mrs R. H. Grant, Dayton, 117; Mrs. Ralph Davis, Newark, 121; Mrs. H. E Carley, Dayton, 116; Mrs. H W. Brown, Zanesville, 115; Mrs. W. D. Schultz, Zanesville, 112; Miss Eleanor Hill, East Liverpool, 122; Miss Mollie Hamill, Newark, 105; Miss Sybil Burton, Zanesville, 118; Mrs. R. D. Bunn, Dayton, 119; Mrs. D. J. Knoderar, Dayton, 143; Mrs. Walter B. Hill, East Liverpool, 131; Mrs. A. H. Nevious, Dayton, 133; Mrs. W. B. Runyan, Dayton, 115 and Mrs. Edward Grimm, Dayton, 144.

The first rounds of match play are on today, with the contestants divided into four flights, according to their qualifying scores. The tournament is being held at the Columbus Country Club, four miles east of here.

VETERAN FLY LOSES TITLE

New York, June 19.—Jimmy Wilde, dethroned flyweight champion of the world, was preparing today to sail for his home in England while Pancho Villa, his brown-skinned conqueror from the Philippines, was receiving congratulations on his decisive victory last night at the Polo Grounds.

"It was the first time any man in my own class ever knocked me out," Wilde said today with a rueful smile. "Maybe that means I'm getting old. I don't know. He beat me fairly. I could not hurt him and every time he hit me I felt it. Villa is a great little fighter and will make a worthy champion."

Mrs. Wilde, who watched her husband's game battle for six rounds but who left just before the knockout, was philosophical.

"He had to lose some time," she said.

Wilde was knocked out in the seventh round.

As a contest it was one sided. At no time did Wilde have a chance. The vaunted cleverness, the mighty hitting ability upon which the reputation of Wilde has been based, was missng. All the veteran had was superlative gameness which made him carry on despite seven rounds of the most merciless trouncing ever given a champion.

His downfall was tragic. He had absolutely no chance of winning after the second round, his seconds refusing to throw in the towel.

The end came with a startling suddenness Wilde had been beaten to a pulp when the seventh round started. A deep cut in his right cheek from a left hander by Villa smeared his face with blood. His both eyes were closed and he was pawing away by instinct attempting to find his opponent when suddenly pitched forward on his face unconscious. His seconds carried him to his corner where they worked desperately to bring him to. Villa, carried away by his wonderful victory, rushed over to the Welshman's corner and kissed him.

Medway Collegians Are Next

The Xenia Bayliffs after having been, swamped by the Cincinnati Movers Sunday will attempt to make a comeback this week end at Washington Park, when their opponents will be the Medway Collegians.

The Collegians are a speedy bunch and just recently handed the Chero-Colas of Dayton a setback. It will be remembered by local fans that it was the popmakers that defeated the Bayliffs in one of the best games that has yet been staged here. The Medway bunch has not dropped a game so far this season and news from their camp is that they intend adding the locals to their long list of victims.

Manager Roy Bayliff requests that every player be at Washington Park Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock as there will be an important meeting and practice. Bayliff has not decided what lineup he will use this game.

KELLYS LEADING LEAGUE

Standings computed for the second week of the Industrial League schedule shows that the Kelly Cords representing The R. A. Kelly Company are still leading the race with two games won and none lost. The Penn. R. R. Team also has a perfect percentage with one game won and none lost, the second game not having been finished.

The Hooven and Allison Bluehearts dropped back in the percentage after losing to the Kellys and are now tied with the Xenia Shoes with one game won and one lost each. The H. and A. Commercials and the H. and A. Binders are in the cellar neither having won a game. The standing:

CHURCHES TO RAISE MEMORIAL FUND FOR LATE PASTOR

The work of raising funds for a memorial to the late Dr. William A. Wiant, at Peking University, Peking, China, will be started by the Methodist Churches of the Springfield district whoch are behind the project, this week.

Dr. Wiant, who was superintendent of the Methodist churches in the Springfield district, for a number of years, died recently at his home in Springfield.

Dr. G. W. Osmun, pastor of the High Street Methodist Church, Springfield, will serve as chairman of the committee in charge of raising funds for the memorial.

Other members of the committee in charge of the project are Dr. Hough Houston, who succeeded Dr. Wiant, and K. A. Wee, of New York City, who was a fellow student o the Rev. Mr. Wiant at Ohio Wesleyan University.

The plan to erect a suitable memorial to Dr. Wiant, is a part of the building program at the Peking University, and was suggested when Dr. William Hung of the history department of the university, spoke at the Central Methodist church in Springfield recently.

The university is now situated on inadequate temporary buildings in Peking, and is compelled to refuse scores of students annually through lack of space to accomodate them. The Wiant Memorial will be erected on the new site of the university.

The Rev. Bliss Wiant, son of the Rev. Mr. Wiant will go to Peking next fall to accept a position at the Peking university as instructor in music. The university is now seeking $1,000,000 of which more than $400,000 has been rasied. to carry out its building program on the new site outside the city of Peking.

Women In Welfare Service

SERVICE WITH FIGHTING MEN—Article Four.

American women at home and abroad contributed incalculably to welfare work. Beginning with activities at home very soon they were in Europe and then at the front. Mrs. Vincent Astor was in charge of the first canteen for soldiers, in Brest, as early as July, 1917. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris that month. At left is one of the home activities—"Y" workers aiding the departing soldiers; Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Above is Mrs. Vincent Astor, standing in center, with back to canteen wall. At right, a woman motion picture operator.

LEGEND and history furnish endless stories of the active assistance of women to fighting men in time of war. But history turns her face away and hesitates to record the acts of women camp followers of other days. Let us pass them by with the comment that they were as grave a danger to any fighting force as were the soldiers under the enemy's banner.

It was not until the Crimean war that Florence Nightingale, in spite of the officers, instituted in the British army a relief and welfare work for soldiers which resulted in a permanent organization. The medical service had broken down. The death rate in certain barracks in England was twice that in the surrounding civil population. The "Angel of the Crimea" landed in Scutari in November, 1854, with a corps of 38 nurses and in spite of opposition cleaned house. We think of her as a nurse but she did other things. She opened reading and writing rooms, arranged for soldiers remittances home, overcame the influence of camp followers. The title of her report, "Notes Affecting the Health, Efficiency and Hospital Administration of the British Army," shows her to have been not only the forerunner of the Red Cross nurse but of the woman welfare worker as well.

WOMEN NEEDED IN WELFARE WORK

Long before the United States entered the war, her leaders had been impressed by the reports coming from France and England of the work done by women to assist the soldier, directly and indirectly. They not only acted as volunteer nurses and ambulance drivers but women of high and low degree went into ordnance factories, thus freeing men for the combatant forces and for back of the lines; they baked bread, worked in quartermaster's stores, acted as couriers, electrical operators and clerical workers, and took part in all forms of activities except the actual fighting.

When in the United States the men began to move toward the cantonments it at once became evident that American women, who could serve otherwise would not be content with war time activities at home, with handing out good cheer to men on troop trains or with nursing, important as these were. They were not going to permit their men to go from home to camp and thence to a foreign land without taking with them every possible home environment.

Any attempt to extend home influences and home comforts to soldiers in camp and field not only must be supported by the woman at home but necessitated her co-operation in the planning and directing of the undertaking and her presence and participation in its actual execution. When individual women began to seek admission into these undertakings the new problems of welfare work with the American army, there was some hesitance but the ultimate result was proof that a complete welfare program required women, not as substitutes for men, but as active participants.

Mrs. Vincent Astor offered her services to the Y. M. C. A. and, arriving in France in July, 1917, was put in charge of the first canteen for sailors at Brest. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., opened the first canteen in Paris in July.

Conferences between British and American leaders who knew of the work of women in the huts in England resulted in a cable to New York: "Unanimous opinion that qualified women for canteen work are necessary." These women had to be strong, sensible, with a knowledge of life, good "mixers," loyal to military and Association rule, in thorough sympathy with the Association's social and religious aims and having an interest in spiritual things. The general plan was that the women should work at the ports, with the Service of Supply, and in the training areas.

What did the women do in France? The first recruits were intended as canteen workers, but canteen service came to cover the multitude of activities, which any woman of mature judgment would undertake for any group of young men away from home. First of all they brought to homesick men in a foreign land, doing a grinding, arduous work, a touch of real home atmosphere. They sang, sewed on buttons, danced with the men, read aloud, played the piano, led religious services, but in all things they represented to the soldiers the women at home.

But it must be recognized that the work of the women was often most laborious and exhausting. With many a division, the serving of hot drinks and sandwiches to troops entraining or detraining, was largely performed by them. Forty-eight hours without intermission, on a railroad station platform, in heavy rain, preparing and passing out hot chocolate, was an experience many women knew.

Hospitals and dressing stations, when the wounded were pouring in, found women working at top speed for hours at a stretch, assisting surgeons, bathing and cleasing patients, preparing food and drinks, ministering to every need within their power. Even the chauffeur's job was theirs at times.

In the advance zone the women workers experienced the hardships of the troops, serving in towns where nightly bombing or shelling made it necessary for all hands to go out into the fields to sleep. They were billeted in unheated rooms, and at times had to forage for their food.

The women from America were ably supported in England, France and Italy by the women of the American colonies in all these countries. A most significant development of the war was the proof that the right kind of woman may live in military camps not only without harm to herself but with measureless benefit to the men. The soldiers gave the uttermost respect and perfect loyalty and comradeship. It was a new thing in welfare work and the result was good. Now and then, the old time hard-boiled professional soldier may attempt a sneer at coddling recruits, but if war must be the women of America will see to it that their soldiers are given every incentive toward decent living.

This experience has been gained for future service with soldiers and sailors. Its application to civil and industrial life is obvious. The right kind of women can render a service of measureless good wherever groups of men are gathered away from home influence.

The unsightly dump on Dayton Avenue, that for so long has disfigured that busy approach to the city, is to be entirely wiped off the map Friday and an attractive, folwer decorated playground is to take its place, according to plans just perfected by the Xenia Garden Club and the Community Recreation Association. If plans go through as announced the old dump is to pass out to the strains of lively music and with Xenia's leading citizens serving as pall bearers for the rubbish that has made the place for so long an eyesore to the twon.

According to the plans of the committee members of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and all other men in the city who will donate their services, will don overalls and wide-brimmed straw hats and march in a body to the dump where they will spend the afternoon removing and covering the rubbish and transforming the place into a beauty spot. The men will meet at the Kelly Cordage Company at one o'clock and will march to the dump with a band at the head of the column of volunteer workers. A band and an orchestra will furnish music throughout the afternoon.

The women of the Garden Club will be on hands with sandwiches and cold lemonade which will be served to the workers by courtes of the Garden Club.

Construction companies, and persons having teams, are asked to donate the use of them for the afternoon. Two car loads of dirt have been donated and teams and drags will be needed to get the ground cleared and levelled off. The committee also asks the use of tractors for the afternoon. The city sanitary force was busy Tuesday burning all loose rubbish and getting the spot in readiness for the work Friday.

After the work is completed the Garden Club will plant a hedge of shrubbry entirely around the plot which will be used as a playground. The program is meeting with enthusiastic response and it is believed there will be a large number of interested citizens on hand Friday afternoon to help in this project for making Xenia more sanitary and beautiful.

A picture will be taken of the volunteer squad before it leaves the Kelly Cordage Company. Every man in the city who can give some time to the work Friday afternoon is urged to do so and to help rid Xenia of its unsanitary and unsightly places.

A Trip of a Thousand Thrills

Electrification of St. Gothard Railway Abolishes Smoke Nuisance, Gives Fullest Vision of Scenic Beauties and Makes Longest Tunnels a Delight.

NOTHING new under the sun? The grandeur and majesty of the Alps are as old as the Alps themselves, but the opportunity to see that grandeur and majesty in peace and the fullest of vision is new—for not until the Lucerne-Chiasso section of the world famous St. Gothard line was electrified could the smoke nuisance be abolished and freedom of sight granted. The electrification is for a distance of 137½ miles. This gigantic project has just been completed. It ranks among the engineering marvels of the world.

Two huge power stations, one at Amsteg, near the northern entrance to the St. Gothard tunnel, and the other at Piotta, about five miles beyond the southern entrance, supply energy. Amsteg is used during the summer, when the Reuss supplies the water, Piotta, is available in winter. This latter plant utilizes the accumulated water of Lake Ritom, 6,000 feet above sea level and about 2,950 feet above Piotta. The natural depth of the lake has been increased by a 23 foot dam and the conduit draws off the water 100 feet below the dam crest. The available storage capacity is estimated at about 900,000,000 cubic feet.

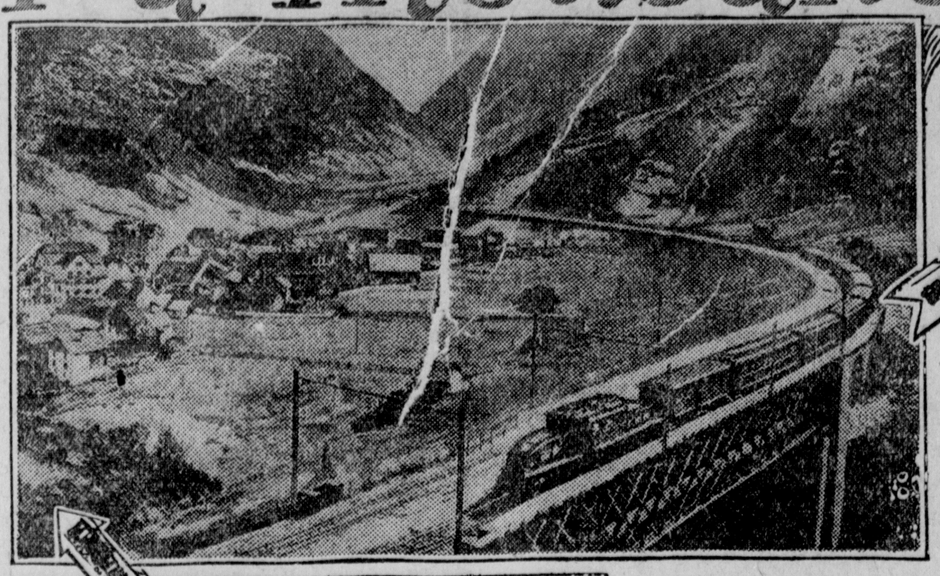

History of St. Gothard Line.

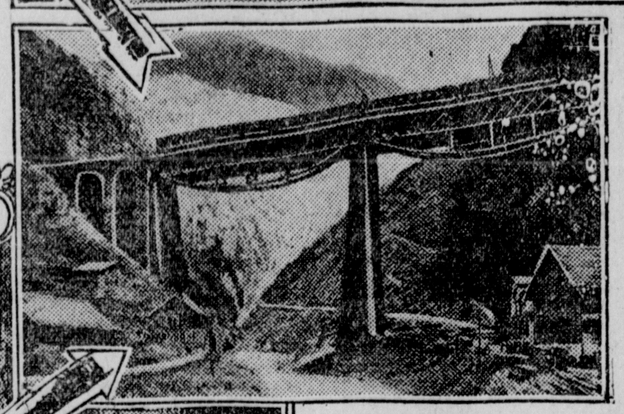

Railroads were introduced in Switzerland in 1844 with the construction of the Basel-St. Ludwig line, connecting with the Alsace. By 1860 there were 621 miles of normal gauge lines in use and in 1869 the Federal authorities decided for a railway through the St. Gothard, which involved the boring of what was then the longest tunnel in the world, slightly more than 9¼ miles.

Work on this gigantic undertaking, which cost $23,800,000 was begun in 1872 and ten years later the line was formally inaugurated. The line was generally recognized as an epoch-making achievement and it immediately took its place as one of the great arteries of European steam traffic.

With the passing of years and the ever increasing demands, the necessity was realized of transforming the system to electric traction.

Final plans for electrification was passed in August, 1913, a year before the outbreak of the great war, which calamity made Switzerland realize her dependence upon the neighboring countries for coal. Calculations showed that the little Alpine Republic could dispose of over 3,000,000 horsepower of water power and records indicated that about 600,000 tons of coal were required per annum by the railways. It was, therefore, evident that this vast outlay for fuel, and the inconvenience and uncertainty of its procurement, could be eliminated by development of only a fraction of the natural hydraulic resources of her mountains.

The historic Weinmarkt Square with fountain at Lucerne, 1437 feet above sea level.

In spite of the war the Swiss resolved to carry out the now more than twice as expensive electrification scheme. As the Swiss franc maintained during all these years of fluctuating money markets the same high level—like the American dollar—Switzerland decided to approach the bankers in the United States for a loan of $25,000,000, which was floated by a consortium.

In the autumn of 1920 the main section of the line, between Erstfeld and Bellinzona, which includes the great tunnel, was operated by electricity; the entire line between Lucerne and Chiasso, on the Swiss-Italian frontier, is now open and complete electrification of Lucerne-Zug-Zurich line is expected shortly.

The chief feature of electrification for passengers and sight-seers is that the smoke nuisance is ended. The task of maintaining and repairing the line in the tunnels has also been lightened for the workmen. As soon as electrification of that section was completed, the 9¼ miles long St. Gothard tunnel underwent a thorough cleaning and scraping; its former black coat of soot is thus no more and travel through this tunnel and the numerous smaller tunnels along this line, where windows had formerly to be hermetically closed, has become a diversion.

A Road of Scenic Wonders.

Today, with its spotless electrical equipment, the St. Gothard railway, which is the most picturesque international line in all Europe, is becoming a greater favorite than ever among tourists and travellers.

From radiantly lovely Lucerne, with its much-sung lake and encircling mountain heights, the St. Gothard railway proceeds past smiling lakes and verdant pastures, past hills and mountains to the romantic realms of the St. Gothard, where rushing wind and falling waters resound in the awe-inspiring solitude of the mountains. While the line does not rise perceptibly between Lucerne, 1,437 feet above sea level, and Erstfeld, 1,558 feet, it provides mountaineering thrills of an altogether unique order between this point and Goeschenen, 3,640 feet, where in a distance of only 18 miles there is a steep rise of over 2,000 feet.

Three Times Around Mountain.

The route up the valley of the torrential Reuss is magnificent; viaducts are boldly thrown across gorges and depths in which foaming streams rush downward; gradually the rails become a spiral staircase and in the vicinity of the village of Wassen, whose tiny church has become a landmark, it seems as if the train would linger indefinitely; for three times it winds around this little church, showing it first above, next on the level and finally below, giving amazing views of the winding line with its three sections between the tunnels, one above the other.

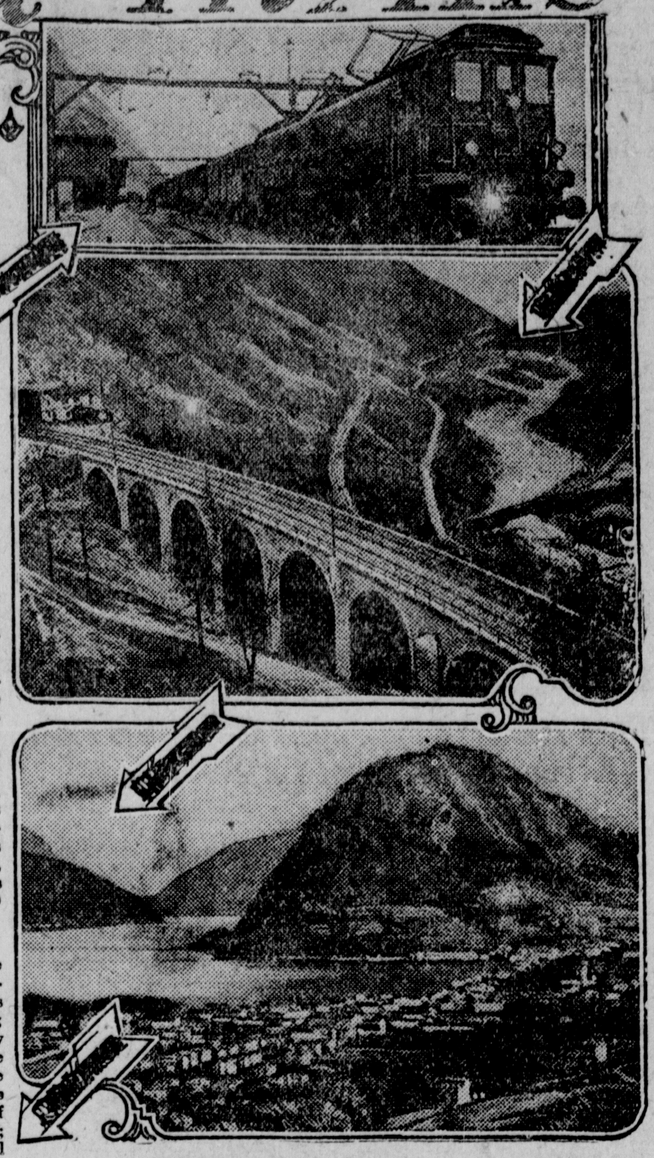

Each emergence into daylight presents a new aspect of this romantic region and the travellers are ever darting from one side of the carriage to the other. Many repeat this trip of a thousand thrills.

Beyond the great tunnel what we behold is still Switzerland, but vastly different. This is the canton of Ticino, Italian speaking and with Italian characteristics. It is a sunkissed land where exotic plants and flowers grow in profusion and a happy people tend its great vineyard and fertile fields. Every hamlet and every village looks devoutly upon its own place of worship, oftimes perched high on some rocky height.

Then to Glorious Lugano.

Giornico, another section where engineering skill triumphed over nature; Bellinzona, the ancient capital of the canton with three formidable strongholds—then to the right a branch line leading to Locarno, the fair Swiss city at the head of Lake Maggiore, with its unforgettable Madonna del Sasso perched high above, and straight ahead of us a little farther on, Lugano, gloriously situated on its own lake, a paradise of flowers bathing in perennial sunshine.

From Lugano, the distance to Chiasso is about 16 miles and the railway, after skirting the lake for some time, crosses it on an imposing bridge at Melide and proceeds to the Swiss-Italian frontier, its terminus.

At Wassen, 2250 feet above sea level, the tracks wind around a mountain three times giving passengers amazing views.

SEVERAL HUNDRED ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND RECEPTION

Between 200 and 300 graduates of Xenia Central High School were expected to attend the annual reception to the new graduates, dinner and dance given by the Alumni Association and to be held in the new Central High building Tuesday evening.

Eighty-one members of the graduating class of 1923 will be guests of the graduates of former years and will be received into the Alumni Association at the opening of the annual party Tuesday evening. Officers of the Association will be in the receiving line to welcome the guests.

The dinner will be held in the new dining room in the basement, recently prepared for occupancy, and which will be inaugurated by the former graduates with their annual dinner. There will be a program of after dinner talks, with Clarence K. Horen, president of the Association in charge of the program, and the Association will then elect officers for the coming year.

A one-act playlet, "The Trysting Place," recently given by the Xenia Business and Professional Womens Club, will be presented following the after-dinner program with part of the original cast. The cast has been directed by Miss Jean B. Elwell, former head of the English department at Central High School and will present the playlet in the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium in the new building.

An orchestra will furnish music during the dinner and will later provide the accompaniment for dancing.

NEW MEMBERS OF ROTARY ANNOUNCED

Three new members, John G. Baldner, garageman, Robert H. Kingsbury, clothier, and Dr. H. A. Hoffman, bacteriologist, were taken in as new members of the Xenia Rotary Club, at the noon meeting at the Elks Club Tuesday.

Upon the introduction of the new members, Attorney Charles L. Darlington, gave an explanatory talk on the work of the club. Frank L. Smith gave a talk on the local playground project and urged the members to give the Community Recreation Association, their support.

Following the meeting, the members were conducted on an inspection tour through the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, plant and exchange.

KIL KARE PARK OPENED SUNDAY

Kil Kare Park, Xenia's ever popular pleasure resort, was formally opened Sunday under new management.

Although dancing was started at the Park last Wednesday, the official opening was withheld until Sunday when all the Park avenues of pleasure were thrown open for a large, opening-day crowd.

The popular park was idle during early summer weeks for want of a manager. A large crowd spent Sunday at the park, enjoying swimming, boating and dancing in both afternoon and evening.

WOMAN BANDIT HELD FOR MURDER

Chicago, June 19.—Mrs. Frances Thompson, alias Fred G. Thompson, has been identified as the "smiling, blue-eyed girl bandit" who killed Richard T. Tesmer, at his gold coast home. Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes announced today.

Police said the prisoner posed some times as a man and sometimes as a woman.

Mrs. Tesmer, the widow, made the identification at the Tesmer home, Hughes said.

The alleged "girl bandit" also was known as Francis Cadrick, police asserted.

The girl was arrested in a raid on a North Side apartment, early today by a police squad, led by Sergeant William Cusack. A man giving his name as John Doe and a woman who called herself Marie Clark, were also found in the apartment.

REINDEER MEAT MAY BECOME NATIONAL DISH

One of the largest reindeer farms in the world and certainly the largest on the Western Hemisphere, is owned and operated by the Loman Brothers, of Nome, Alaska. They believe lack of grazing space is destined to wipe out the cattle industry of America and that the reindeer is to become the principal source of meat. Those who have tasted reindeer meat testify to its good flavor and terderness. The reindeer farm in Alaska comprises 600,000 acres, the deer grazing on vegetation that grows under the ice and snow. Note the sprinkling of white and spotted animals. They are a great help to the herders in spotting the herd.

MORGAN'S SON TO WED BOSTON GIRL

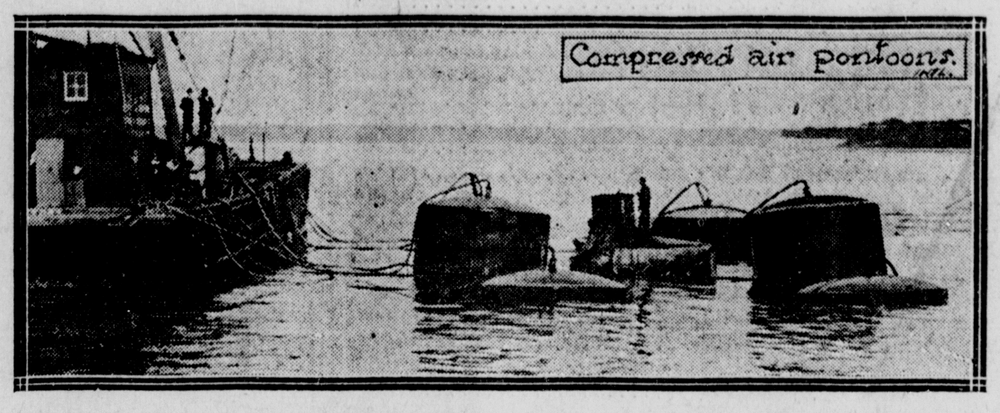

The engagement has been announced in Boston, of Miss Catherine Adams, descendant of two Presidents of the United States, to Henry S. Morgan, Harvard man and son of J. P. BEAUTY IS GRANTED ANNULMENT

Although beautiful Mrs. Frances Ruth Wilson Levy Whitely was in Rome, Italy, at the time the case came up in the San Francisco courts she was granted an annulment decree against Theodore Levy, San Francisco lawyer, whom she had tried to divorce. Her attorney showed that her divorce from Levy had not become final when she married Frank West Whitely, a wealthy Englishman, at Manila. When a mere girl, she had a narrow escape from blindness as a result of the action of a jealous youth, Van Camp Redfern, in throwing vitriol into her face.

SHIP SALVAGED BY COMPRESSED AIR

A great step forward in submarine salvage was successfully demonstrated off Long Island when the Coast Guard cutter Scally, which had been converted from a 500-ton Eagle boat, was raised from a depth of 60 feet by means of compressed air pontoons. A submarine tractor was lowered alongside the 200-foot vessel, and holes were drilled in the hull. Then tanks, filled with water, were attached. The water was blown out by compressed air and the vessel easily lifted to the surface.

UNDERWOOD AND M'ADOO MAY SEEK NOMINATION

NEW MEMBER OF CEDARVILLE FACULTY BEING ANNOUNCED

An unusual combination of abilities and qualifications will be represented on the faculty of Cedarville College next year when John A. Talcott, M. A., N. A. O., recently of Bishop College, Marshall, Texas comes to Cedarville school as professor of music and director of athletes.

In his combined capacity at Cedarville Talcott will have charge of the school's music department, an important part of the curricula, and will also coach varsity football, basketball and baseball, as well as have charge of gymnasium work and other physical culture for both men and women at the institution.

Although he is a native of Ohio, Professor Talcott has been in Texas 15 years as Director of the department of music at Bishop College. He pursued his course in pipe organ in England under Sir George Martin and is also an honor graduate of Georgia Tech. He served overseas 14 months during the war and was decorated for special service as an air pilot.

Recommendations of Talcott's work at Bishop College included the following: "He has organized the musical work in a most satisfactory way to bring about system and large results. There is an esprit de corps which has developed that is one of the elements of efficiency in the management of a department. The actual results in chorus and solo work give to the college a musical standing in the forefront of such work among southern schools. He develops in his students a real taste and love for the best music.

As director of athletics at Bishop College, Coach Talcott has also had success. Bishop won five intercollegiate games with the best teams of Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas last fall, tying the champion team of the Southern Conference 3-3 in the sixth game. This team was the only eleven to score against Bishop, Bishop rolling up 177 points to three for opponents. During his five years at Bishop he has developed three Southwestern State Championship teams and his record in other sports is just as enviable, according to reports at Cedarville. At the Greene County school he will give two hours a week to the men and two hours a week to the women students.

Mr. Talcott will visit Cedarville soon for a few days and will spend the remainder of the summer in Cleveland where he will take the organ of Dr. Clemans while the latter takes charge of the summer session at the University of California.

MANY ARE SEEKING TEACHING POSITIONS

County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Aultman went to Columbus Tuesday to attend the June meeting of the State Board of School Examiners when the board is expected to handle the largest number of applications in its history.

Between 1000 and 2,000 applications are expected to pass through the hands of board members during the three days they will be in session, it is said. The unusual number, according to Superintendent Aultman, arises from the desire of the teachers to have their certificates granted or renewed before the law rquiring additional normal training becomes effective July 1.

The Greene County Board of Education handled the largest number of applicants ever submitted in the County at the last meeting in May and at the next meeting the first Saturday in July, another large number is expected.

YEGG BLOWS SAFE AT DEWINE MILL: ESCAPES WITH $26 IN LOOT

While Sheriff Morris Sharp and Pennsylvania Detective Cliff Latimer searched the mill of The DeWine Milling Company at Old Town and Colef Deputy Sheriff John Baughn kept watch on the front of the building shortly after 12 o'clock Tuesday morning, an unknown yegg ascaped from a rear basement door, forded the mill race and made away with $26 in bills for his pains in blowing the office safe into bits.

Within a few minutes after the safe blower had touched off a charge of dynamite that completely wrecked the safe and office, and before dust from the explosion had settled, the officers were at the building. Leaving Deputy Baughn to guard the front of the building Sheriff Sharp and Detective Latimer entered the front door and searched the premises. In the meantime the yegg made his way to the basement, broke a lock on the door next the mill race and escaped. Officers say he was forced to ford the stream to get away.

The officers remained at the scene until nearly six o'clock Tuesday morning conducting a search of the neighborhood without results. Home of two suspects were entered and a search made for wet clothes as well as the money, as the officers believed the yegg would have been drenched in escaping from the building. Sheriff Sharp was still working on several clues which authorities hoped would result in an arrest Tuesday or Wednesday.

The yegg was discovered in the act of preparing to blow the safe by Elmer Linkhart, engineer at the municipal water department pumping station in the rear of the mill. Linkhart was relieved by H. P. Howard of this city, at midnight and passed the mill on his way home. Seeing the man in the office preparing the charge he returned to the pumping station and notified Howard, who called the sheriff. The yegg completed his work a few minutes before the arrival of the officers.

The burglar used wool from the mill to pack around the safe and deaden the sound. Because of the unnecessarily heavy charge used, which completely wrecked the safe, officers believe the job was that of an amateur. Authorities recovered a section of the fuse and think dynamite was used instead of nitroglycerine. When seen by Linkhart the yegg is said to have been knocking the knob from the safe preparing to insert the dynamite in the crevice. The blast blew the safe to bits, wrecked the office and tore a huge hole in the floor. Silver money was found imbedded in the wall with bits of iron.

The yegg overlooked a quantity of silver money, taking only the bills, which a check made by B. A. DeWine mill manager, Tuesday, showed to amount to only $26. hecks and other papers kept in the safe were unharmed, it is said. The charge had not yet been set off when officers were notified and Sheriff Sharp and Deputy Baughn picked up Detective Latimer to accompany them at Police Headquarters. Had there been two more officers on the scene, so that the mill could have been surrounded, officers believe the yegg could have been captured. The yegg is believed to have been familiar with the interior of the building, thus evading the officers, who entered the mill while he made his way to the basement door.

Officers were alarmed while in the mill by a noise overhead and in the belief that it was the hiding safeblower, they fired several times to frighten him into submission. An investigation showed the noise was made by a cat.

FIVE CHANGES ARE TO BE MADE IN ANTIOCH FACULTY

Five changes are to be made in the Antioch faculty for next year's session, according to an announcement made from the office of Dean Philip C. Nash, Tuesday.

Dr. Henry Harap of New York City will assume the directorship of the Antioch Academy, filling the position left vacant by Prof. Ralph Boothby, who leaves to become principal of the Park School in Cleveland.

Miss Georgia Lingafelt, recently associate editor of the Continent, a Chicago religious publication, will arrive the first of July to assume charge of the newly organized department of journalism. She will also be engaged in publicity work for the college. Miss Lingafelt is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Austin Edison, a member of this year's graduating class has been appointed instructor in the department of chemistry.

Dr. Rosslyn Earp, an Englishman, has been engaged to fill the position of director of hygience, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. George Paul. Dr. Paul has not announced his plans for the future.

Another position has been created as the instructor in domestic science. No one has yet been appointed to fill this place.

RED CROSS CLASSES ARE NOW COMPLETED

Two classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, have been completed in Greene County, this month, under the auspices of the Greene County Chapter of the American Rer Cross. One class was in Antioch College, instructed by Miss Field, college nurse, and enrolled with the National Red Cross, and one in the East End of Xenia, instructed by Mrs. M. R. Snodgrass. The latter class was organized by the Red Cross, upon the request of several women who wanted the class. Part of the expense of the latter course was met by the Red Cross in order not to bar anyone interested. The courses are along the line of work of the Red Cross—teaching people to help themselves.

That the work has been appreciated is shown in notes received by the Red Cross office from some of the fifteen women enrolled.

A mother of several little children wrote: "I have certainly received a great benefit from this class. It has been the best $2 invested in my life. I have gotten more out of this $2 than any other money I have invested."

The following helpful letters have come in from Reader Friends:

Mrs. G. H. P.—"One of your readers recently requested a recipe for the following: Crumb Cookies Two eggs, one cup of brown sugar, three-fourths of a cup of shortening, one-half cup of molasses, two cups of crumbs, one teaspoon each of ground cinnamon, cloves, allspice and soda mixed together, one-half cup sour milk. Mix soft and drop onto a buttered cookie pan. Sprinkle sugar on each cookie and also add to each one a small piece of jelly(on top) before baking."

I. M. E.—"If your reader, I. M. H will try ironing her silk petticoat with a rather hot iron, the rustle which bothers her will be less. Or he can wash it in water as warm as the hands can stand, and then use the iron when the petticoat is almost dry. I have had quite good success this way."

Nina—"I saw in my paper a reader's request for Cornbread made without Eggs. Here is mine: Two cups cornmeal, one cup flour, one cup sour milk, one cup sweet milk, one teaspoon of soda (disolved in the sour milk) one teaspoon of salt and one-half tablespoon of butter (or butter and lard mixed.) Have batter quite stiff. I add the melted shortening last. Bake as any cornbread. I was interested in your article, 'How to Make a Three-piece Dresser Set,' but would like to have you state again the size of the middle piece."

Answer—The middle piece of the Dresser Set should be 14 inches square.

Mrs. F. N.—"You made a mistake in the recipe for cleaning wallpaper. The correct formula is: One large cup of flour, one-half cup of water, one tablespoon each of salt and kerosene two tablespoons each of vinegar and ammonia, all cooked together (till flour is cooked and it is as thick as dough.)"

Answer—Thank you, Reader Friend. It was good of you to take the trouble to write again.

Business Girl—"I have ten hand-carved ivory beads—quite large. What other kind of beads could I combine with them to make a pretty chain."

Answer—I would not combine any other beads with them. I would string them on fine silk cording (black) dividing the beads evenly around the long loop of cord and holding each bead in place with knots. At the bottom have a dangle of short knotted cordends and three of the white beads.

Styles

BY LENORE

An old favorite with a new wrinkle is dotted Swiss muslin in snowy white ground with a shower of violet, gold and deep rose dots. And a clever way to gain the maximum effect from such a pretty material is the way illustrated in the sketch. It is copied from a design in a Fifth Avenue shop.

The model is cut on straight chemise lines, and in the tiny frills which form the straight-across neckline—by the way, which may be depended on as smart throughout the summer—are repeated alternately the three colors, violet, gold and rose, of the dots. These colors are accentuated also in the small flats roses which help to make the belt so effective, and in the scallopped bound edges of the tiered skirt.

THE MISFIT

By Jane Phleps

HORACE MAKES NATALIE A "STRANGER"

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

Natalie Horton, secretary to a prominent lawyer, marries Horace Crandell an aristocratic bachelor and client of her employer. Crandell, who has promised to live on with his widowed mother, takes his wife to their home.

Natalie is young, lovely, a clever business girl, but with absolutely no idea of life as lived in her husband's estabishment. Mrs. Crandell, who resents her son's marriage, makes Natalie feel she is a "misfit;" the latter also learns that her mother-in-law would have welcomed Beverly Rainsford, a society girl, as Horace's wife.

Craig Harper, a friend of Crandell's takes an interest in Natalie and the two are seen out together.

A burglary brings about a situation occasioning Horace's demand that Natalie apologize to his mother. Natalie refuses to do so.

Chaptter XXV

Natalie sat quietly for a few moments thinking. She was right. She had been flouted, ignored. There was no reason why she should apologize to that proud woman. She prepared for bed. Before she was quite ready, Horace came in, went to his closet, his chiffonier and without speaking went out, his arms laden with clothing. Then in the guest room over her head, Natalie heard him moving about for a time, then silence.

"He thinks he can frighten me," she said to herself, her lip quivering, "but I won't give in— won't!"

At breakfast Mrs. Crandell did not appear. As far as actions went, seating her, and so forth, Horace treated his wife with the same scrupulous politeness he always had, but not once did he address her, and when she spoke he made no response. He left without his usual kiss.

For two days Mrs. Crandell did not appear. Natalie knew the doctor had visited her, that Mrs. Baxter and Beverly Rainsford had called, but neither had asked for her. Nothing had been heard of the burglar, she learned from her maid, although the search was still on. Horace had had his clothes taken to the guest room and had not entered their rooms since the night she refused to apologize to his mother. He had kept an unbroken silence and Natalie thought bitterly that she was, indeed, being treated as a "stranger."

When Mrs. Crandell resumed her place at the table she was evidently unaware of Natalie's presence, although her stiff good morning was but little colder than usual, and the only pretense of notice she gave her.

Natalie's cheeks crimsoned but she held her head high. She was Horace's wife. She had as much right in his home as his mother. They shouldn't compel her to show her distress—for she was distressed. But all the foolish pride in her whole make-up rebelled at the treatment she was accorded.

Beverly Rainsford lunched with them, and was polite, speaking to Natalie occasionally. But she made no mention of the street air said nothing to Natalie about assisting.

As Natalie thought of this in her room, her face hardened. She had wanted to do something at this fair, have some part in it. Of course either Mrs. Crandell or Horace must have intimated to Beverly that they didn't wish her to, or perhaps had told of her refusal to apologize. Natalie hardly believed that, however, as both Horace and his mother were intolerant of discussing family affairs with outsiders.

If Natalie had been lonely before, her position now was almost unbearable. No one but servants to talk to, and they too well trained to answer save in monosyllables. Natalie drove her car, was arrested for speeding, paid her fine, and was exploited in the papers. She knew it would anger Horace, that he hated newspaper notoriety of any sort, yet he did not mention it. The paper had spoken of her as "the beautiful wife of Horace Crandell" and it was hardly likely it had escaped his notice. Natalie wished he would speak of it, quarrel with her—anything but this stony silence, this determined ignoring of her.

Desperately lonely, the girl thought of Craig Harper. She had'nt seen him for some time. It would be good to chat with someone, someone who understood her, liked her. He did not disapprove of everything she did. She had been to see Etta, but the sight of her happiness, her contentment even in poverty made Natalie even more disgruntled with her own position.

She called Craig at his club, found him in and only too glad to hear from her.

"I'm going to drive out into the country for luncheon," she told him, when he asked what she was doing. He smiled at her naive reply. She might as well have asked him bluntly to go with her.

"Don't you want a passenger?" he asked. 'I haven't a thing to do and we will make a day of it."

'I intended to! So if you really want to go 'll stop at the club for you in half an hour."

Harper started to tell her it would be better if he met her somewhere, then changed his mind and said:

"I'll be on the lookout so you won't be kept waiting."

The right make, the right grade and the right weight

THE grade of Carey roofing you should have depends on the type and size of building. The kind of building and the length of service you want to get also governs the weight of roofing you should have.

Our long practical experience in this community as roofers is at your service.

If you will tell us the kind and size of your building and how long you want the roof to last we will be glad to recommend the right grade and weight for your purpose.

A roof that is no better or more expensive than it needs to be, but is just as good as you should have and as inexpensive as you can get to fully answer your purpose—that is what we mean by the right roof for your building.
